FARM BOARD TO STOP BUYING OF WHEAT, COTTON

Admits Finally It's No Use.

American millers protest at Brazilian embargo on flour imports which followed wheat-coffee swap by United States and Brazil. Argentina files formal protest against deal, saying it cut off wheat market of Argentina. (Details on page 10.)

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 31.—[Special.]—When Vice Chairman Carl Williams of the federal farm board announced, as he did today, that no further purchases of cotton or wheat would be considered under any circumstances it was equivalent to setting up a new milestone not merely along the farm board's path but along the road of agricultural relief.

"Stabilization," said Mr. Williams, "is valuable in the face of temporary or seasonal surpluses. But the board has discovered, and it hopes that the American people have discovered, that continued purchases in the face of continued production is not a remedy for the agricultural situation."

One observer remarked that the farm board actually discovered this fact some time ago, but, having the bear by the tail at that time, was not in a position to make admissions.

Farm Prepared for December.

The significance of today's announcement, coming, as it does, as an answer to the arguments of southern senators seeking to persuade the board to buy still more cotton, lies in the fact that the board has definitely announced where it will stand when farm relief comes up for congressional discussion at the next session.

The agricultural marketing act and its creature, the federal farm board, represent more than the culmination of the farm relief movement of the last decade.

They furnish today's arena for the battle of many political yesterdays—the perpetual skirmish of the American republic: to what extent shall the central government, presumably for the benefit of all the people, use the funds of all the people to assist one class against another?

Traditionalists still answer with the tariff classic, but the spectacular struggle will take place in the farm board rostrum. The shouts and the spear shakings of the present are but preludes to the joining of the combat when congress convenes next December.

Three Cornered Struggle.

The party favoring a further trial of the present system will bear the brunt of an attack from two sides. On one flank will be the group bent on writing the farm marketing act and the farm board clean off the national books; on the other, the farm pluralist determined to go the whole way toward mechanical resuscitation by voting for the equalization fee or the export debenture plan.

It is a three cornered struggle.

And in it, by today's declaration, the farm board itself has decided that it will hold with the middle party—the party which argues that the general interest is served by using federal funds in the attempt to bring a fair share of prosperity to six million farm families, which asserts that if the aid extended to agriculture is wrong, then the whole American system is wrong, with its subsidies to ships and air lines, its tariff to benefit industry, its immigration law to assist labor, its waterways and barge lines.

Goes Back to Coöperatives.

The board declares that it has abandoned price fixing by stabilization, except in cases of temporary emergency and where stabilization is a part of an orderly program in which the producer agrees to do his share.

It will concentrate on its function as a body to guide and finance the agricultural coöperative movement.

And it is in that movement, rather than in any price fixing scheme, that the hope of government aid is joined.

For behind the headlines that tell of stabilizing wheat and cotton, behind the figures in red ink that tell the taxpayer how much he is going to lose by those attempts at boot is the invitation there is the coöperative movement, which if it succeeds, will work something far reaching

LAKE CO. JURY CALLS AUDITOR AS A WITNESS

Waukegan Failure Is Basis of Charges.

State's Attorney A. V. Smith of Lake county opened war yesterday on State Auditor Oscar Nelson, declaring that the auditor in handling the affairs of the now defunct Waukegan State bank had "betrayed a public trust and become a traitor to his oath."

Col. Smith announced he had telegraphed the auditor a summons to appear before the Lake county grand jury tomorrow to testify concerning the relationship between the Waukegan bank and its Chicago correspondent, the National Bank of the Republic. The Waukegan bank closed on June 17 with deposit liabilities of $1,224,000 and cash on hand of $38,000.

"Before he enters the grand jury room the auditor will be required to sign an immunity waiver," Col. Smith declared.

Auditor Balks at Conditions.

Mr. Nelson met the prosecutor's verbal attack with a shrug. He announced that under ordinary circumstances he would have been pleased to tell the jury all he knows of the Waukegan bank's affairs, but declared he would refuse to testify under the conditions imposed by Col. Smith.

"I received the invitation to appear," said Mr. Nelson. "I informed Col. Smith that I would accept. But I will not permit him to dictate the terms of my appearance. I will not sign an immunity waiver."

Investigation of the Waukegan bank has been in progress for several weeks before a grand jury whose foreman is Frank T. Fowler, former Chicago alderman and now a Waukegan realty dealer. The jury has already voted true bills against three former officers of the bank—Carl Stenger, chairman of the board; Norman O. Geyer, president, and John Murray Connors, vice president.

Reorganization Under Fire.

The inquiry has centered on a reorganization of the bank, effected last November under the auditor's direction, eight months before it closed. Col. Smith declares an audit just completed by his investigators indicates that at the time of reorganization the bank was already insolvent.

"Auditor Nelson called for the reorganization," Col. Smith asserted. "He took this action following an audit by state bank examiners, which revealed the precarious condition of the bank. The meeting was held in a Chicago office."

At that meeting, according to Col. Smith, were the auditor, members of the Waukegan bank's board of directors, and a group of Chicagoans who held stock in both the Waukegan and the Republic banks.

"We have evidence that the auditor told his conferees that the capital structure of the Waukegan bank was impaired and that a stock assessment was necessary," said Col. Smith. "We have further evidence that the Waukegan stockholders were unable to stand the assessment."

Tells of Substitute Plan.

Thereupon, according to Col. Smith, the Chicagoans holding 475 of the 3,000 shares of the bank stock, agreed upon a plan to turn their holdings over to a trust committee, which was to attempt to sell the stock to Waukegan investors and convert the cash into new capital for the bank.

The agreement, Col. Smith averred, was drawn up by Arthur J. Hughes, attorney for the Republic bank, in the presence of the auditor. The subscriber stockholders, he said, were Lucius Teter, C. H. Fox, Edward L. Wagner, and Samuel H. Hastings.

"But the selling scheme failed to work," Col. Smith declared. "They disposed of only 35 shares. If the auditor had forced the stock assessment instead of permitting this selling scheme there would be something substantial for the depositors today.

"As it is now the depositors will suffer heavy losses. The only substantial assets apparent are the $38,000 cash on hand and the bank building, mortgaged for $130,000. Other assets are held in escrow by Chicago banks."

Charges "Grab" of Securities.

In the period from the reorganization to the closing, Col. Smith charged, the Republic bank "grabbed off" securities of the Waukegan bank valued at $341,000.

"These securities were posted ostensibly as security for a $450,000 loan granted by the Republic bank to President Geyer," said Col. Smith. "The Waukegan bank records show no au-

SUMMER OF 1931 SECOND HOTTEST IN CITY'S HISTORY

The summer of 1931 in Chicago was the second warmest in 60 years, according to the weather bureau. Meteorologically speaking, summer covers the months of June, July, and August, and the summer which ended yesterday registered an average daily excess of temperature of 3.3 degrees. The summer of 1921 was the warmest Chicago had experienced since the government started taking records here. In 1921 the daily average excess of temperature was 4.2 degrees.

In respect to the number of days with a temperature of more than 90 degrees, the summer just ended was a record breaker. There were 22 days in which the thermometer went above 90, while in 1921 there were only 18 days with temperatures over 90.

The mean temperature for the whole of the 1931 summer was 73.8, as compared to the 1921 mean of 74.7. The six warmest summers in Chicago, according to the records, were 1921, 1931, 1874, 1901, 1919, and 1880.

Work Started on Postoffice; Roll Out Steel

Actual work at the site of Chicago's new $16,000,000 postoffice began yesterday when officials in Washington approved the contract to John Griffiths & Son and accepted that company's $7,000,000 bond. With the action in Washington and the work of clearing the site here came the announcement from Gary that the American Bridge company plant there would begin at once the tremendous task of rolling 48,000 tons of structural steel for the new postoffice.

The first work at the site of the postoffice was the removal of a platform and the south end of track number 6 of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad. Other tracks and platforms of the Union station lines between Harrison and Van Buren streets will be cleared away immediately to make way for caissons.

Thousands to Get Employment.

About 1,500 men will be employed in the caisson work, and more than 3,500 on the superstructure when it is started. It is estimated that the entire contract will put between 12,000 and 14,000 men at work at one time or another.

The work was started yesterday a week before it had been anticipated, through the action of treasury officials and the department of justice, who cut red tape and approved the bond and contract.

Good News for Steel Workers.

Out at Gary there was jubilation among the steel workers of the American Bridge company, subsidiary of the United States Steel company, and the Gary works of the Illinois Steel company, also a subsidiary of the United States Steel company. The Illinois steel plant at Gary and the company's plant at South Chicago will prepare the steel for rolling at the American Bridge plant.

The order for 48,000 tons of structural steel is said to be the largest order ever received by the Gary bridge plant. It will mean full time work for between four and six months for the 1,000 men employed at the plant. This compares with less than 35 per cent capacity at which steel plants generally are now operating. The contracts also mean full time work for the men at the Gary and South Chicago plants of the Illinois Steel company. The value of the steel order is estimated at $2,500,000.

THIS EXPLAINS WHY CHEF TOOK HEADACHE CURE

Ten days ago Michael Castronovo, 32 years old, a chef at the Drake hotel, met Pete, whom he bumped into accidentally at Walton place and Rush street. The two became pals, and Castronovo invited Pete to share his quarters at 727 South State street.

A few days later Castronovo and Pete were passing the Augustana hospital. Some one bumped into them. "Excuse me," the stranger apologized. "I'm a little unsteady. My father just died in the hospital. He has left $18,000. Half of that goes to poor people, to charity." The stranger, whose name was Tony, was friendly, and in a burst of generosity he promised that he would try to cut in Castronovo and Pete on the $18,000 bequest.

The next day the three met again, by appointment. Tony needed some cash to take his father's body back home to San Francisco. "Take my $3,500," offered Castronovo. Yesterday the three met at the Winona street beach. Castronovo dug out his roll of $3,500.

Pete reminded Castronovo he had better leave his money behind for safe keeping. Castronovo did.

A few minutes later Castronovo returned with the headache medicine. His friends were gone with his $3,500.

Chicago Bound Flyer Lands at Canadian Lake

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 31.—(AP)—Wolfgang von Gronau, German flyer seeking a new route from Europe to the North American continent, landed at Long Lake, Ont., today after a flight from Port Harrison. His plane was being refueled for an early takeoff in the morning for Chicago.

WOLFGANG VON GRONAU

The brief information was received at the Canadian National Telegraph office, where the operator at Hornepayne, Ont., said he had been "wire-talking" with a fellow operator at Long Lake. The story wired by the Long Lake operator follows:

"An airplane landed here this afternoon with two men in it. One of them was slightly deaf and the other man could speak only a few words of English. It was certainly a fine airplane. All fixed up with radio and a lot of instruments. They went to bed in the plane. There isn't any hotel here, but they said they expected to pull out in the morning for Chicago, probably about 6:30. The weather was pretty dirty when they landed. It looks like it's clearing tonight."

Long Lake is an Ontario government forestry base, about 150 miles northeast of Port Arthur, on the Canadian National railways. Von Gronau, who is flying to Chicago by way of Greenland over a route farther north than the one he followed on his trip to New York last year, landed at Povungnituk, a small village on Hudson Bay, Friday night. He flew to Port Harrison, where the Detroit to Copenhagen flyers, Edwin Preston and Robert Collignon, have been landlocked for several days, on Saturday.

EXPECTED HERE TODAY.

ZEP NEARING BRAZIL

BERLIN, Sept. 1.—[Tuesday.]—(AP)—Wolff's News agency received a radio message from the Graf Zeppelin at 3 a. m. G. M. T. (10 p. m. Monday Chicago time) giving her position as latitude six north and longitude 28 west. Her speed was 70 miles an hour and all was well. The stated position is about half way between the Cape Verde islands and Pernambuco, Brazil.

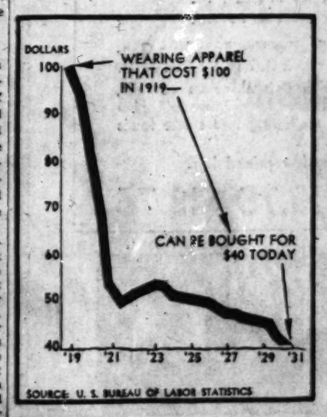
Lindberghs Guests of Premier.

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

TOKIO, Aug. 31.—Premier Wakatsuki tonight entertained Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh at a brilliant dinner, given in his private apartments. About fifty guests were present at the function, which brought the official welcome to a close.

In the morning the famous couple called at the German embassy. Col. Lindbergh afterwards lectured on the latest problems of commercial aviation to 300 army and navy airmen and 700 civilian flyers in the hall of the Imperial Aviation society.

Mrs. Lindbergh, meantime, visited the Imperial museum, joining her husband at a luncheon given by the Japan Air Transport company. The afternoon was spent shopping.



This chart shows the decline in the cost of wearing apparel in Chicago retail stores, since 1919. The same number of suits, dresses, coats, shoes, etc., that cost $100 in 1919 can be bought now for $40. People who know bargains when they see them are buying clothing now.

EVERY FOOT OF SLAYER'S LOT TO BE EXCAVATED

Police Seek His Love Letter Factory.

By GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Clarksburg, W. Va., Aug. 31.—[Special.]—Everybody in this town, from sheriff to farmer's wife, is positive that Harry F. Powers is guilty of more than the five murders he has confessed and they are pretty certain that more bodies will be discovered out near his murder garage. And so tomorrow Sheriff Wilford B. Grimm is to order out a steam shovel to make further excavations at Quiet Dell.

Late this afternoon, when the chain gang shovel squad had finished draining an old well near the garage and had struck bottom at the depth of fourteen feet, they put away their picks and were sent back to jail. But a farm woman over the hill who knew the premises "before that awful man came here" insisted to the authorities that the well was originally 20 feet deep and that Powers had filled it in.

Scene Shifts to Fairmount.

Tomorrow, while prisoners are digging deeper into the well that may reveal a body, and are using the steam shovel on the slimy ooze of the dell, the authorities will investigate Powers' activities in Fairmont, some 25 miles away.

Chief of Police W. B. Moran of Fairmont came over to Clarksburg tonight in an effort to quiz Powers but after a conference with Sheriff Grimm the questioning was postponed until tomorrow evening.

What the authorities are searching for is the headquarters from which Powers operated his love letter plant. It was not in his wife's home. She says it was in the mystery garage, and a tiny table and a small bottle of ink were found in its dark basement. But the police are convinced that he had a base, either here or in Fairmont. He worked in Fairmont in 1929 and he brought one of his victims, Mrs. Dorothy Lemke of Northboro, Mass., to that city.

Powers Took Trunks.

Investigation today revealed that Mrs. Lemke's two trunks arrived in Fairmont on July 30 and were not called for until Aug. 7. At that time Powers called for them himself, giving no address.

Sheriff Grimm continues today to receive inquiries from families in all parts of the country inquiring about missing women relatives.

Washington, D. C., wonders if Powers may not have been the murderer of Mary Baker, killed last spring on a highway near the capital. Miss W. R. Baker, a waitress in Winchester, Va., believes Powers is the man she waited on several weeks ago, and wires that she can give important information regarding him. He was with several women at the time.

But whether or not these new investigations prove fruitful, Prosecuting Attorney Will E. Morris is satisfied he has a hanging case and will not seek to question Powers any further. He has the brief signed confession and a few oral statements made to several officers.

Letter Strengthens Case.

The third piece of evidence upon which Morris relies is the letter which Park Ridge's chief of police, Harold Johnson, left with him this morning before starting home. The prosecutor refused to show this letter, but said it is the one Mrs. Asta Buick Eicher wrote, obviously under duress, to her daughter, Greta, in Park Ridge, telling her that Mr. Pierson [the alias under which she knew Powers] was to have full authority. This letter was postmarked Clarksburg.

Neither Prosecutor Morris, nor Judge John C. Southern, who returned to town tonight, feels inclined to call a special session of the grand jury to indict Powers. They plan to wait until the November term.

"There is no need to call a special jury," Morris said today, "unless we are going to immediate trial; and unfortunately, we haven't the Michigan facilities for a speedy trial. But we have one good thing that Michigan hasn't; we have capital punishment."

Powers' Attorney Angry.

Meanwhile J. Edward Law, Powers' attorney, sought to take a physician into the cell to examine the prisoner, who claims he signed the confession only because he had received such a severe third degree.

Law got angry and walked out of the jail with the doctor, saying he'd get a writ of permission.

"I can't tell whether or not the plea will be insanity," he said. "I haven't been permitted to see my client since last Friday. So of course, I don't know what I am going to do."

But it is generally believed that Law will ask for a change of venue for feeling is so high in this county that he will probably never risk a jury trial here.

"Hey, Missus," calls a little boy, "want to know the way to the murder farm," he falls into step and starts to talk. He is not more than 7.

"Say, Missus, do you know what they had ought to do to that man; they ought to put him in that basement just the way he did those children, that's what they ought to do, and starve him, and keep him there."

That is the street corner judgment today.

Powers Starts Defense.

Meanwhile Powers, reflecting on the statement of Dr. Edwin Mayers, Pittsburgh psychiatrist, that he is "sane with abnormal tendencies," is making the most of "my experiences in the world war" and maintains that he has a funny shaped head and has been subject to delusions ever since the war. But he declines to give specific information about his war record, which local Legionnaires declare is fictitious.

The ladies that were so eager for "Connie Pierson's" love letters are apparently pretty slow about learning the dire identity of their pen and ink suitor. For today's collection of letters in his private post box totaled some seventy communications. The postal authorities will turn the letters over to Chief of Police Clarence O. Duckworth tomorrow.

The Slayer's Horoscope.

Powers, the man who wooed any woman who'd write to him, was characterized as "honest and faithful" in the four page horoscope which was found today packed away with his love letters. This horoscope, which had been read and reread until its violet typewritten words were blurred, congratulated him on his luck on being a "pisces" type, born on Feb. 26, for that made him so "ever ready to help others."

"You believe in cleanliness, mentally, and physically and morally" reads the document of this confessed murderer.

"Half-truths do not satisfy you" continues the character analysis of the man who's life has been a pattern of deception.

Then comes this passage:

"You are sincere and while you do not like to give your caresses freely, you nevertheless have a tremendous capacity for affection. Once you love, you do not change easily, especially if your life partner is in sympathy with your nature."

His Wife Nagged Him.

On this point of a life partner, Powers has been whining out the old, old story to Chief of Detectives Carl Southen, "my wife didn't understand me. She nagged me, nagged me until I got lonesome. That's why I wrote to women; because I was lonesome; I didn't give a damn for any money they might have."

This next line in the horoscope has a particularly chilly significance, in view of the coroner's inquest that was begun today over the bodies of five victims, killed by strangulation:

"When you begin anything you like to finish it?"

And then the document gives this advice to the man who sees the future from behind the bars:

"I want you to look into the future and see yourself free from the strains and worries which now beset you. I want you to clear your mind from the cobweb which now seem to becloud you and which do much to retard your progress. I want you to know that there is happiness in store for you."

And this last line has been writ into the cheap little horoscope by a dramatic hand of irony:

Alleged Labor Terrorist Held in $20,000 Bond

Albert [Al] Westcott, 30, alleged labor terrorist, was held in bonds of $20,000 on two charges of malicious mischief yesterday by Judge Donald M. McKinlay in the Felony court. The case was continued to Sept. 9. Assistant State's Attorney Edward C. Duffey of the racket bureau told the court that Westcott was the man who held a revolver while three companions poured acid on clothing in four of the Checker chain of cleaning and dyeing establishments.

FIND ONLY PENNY IN SAFETY BOX OF MRS. EICHER

Home Mortgaged, $3.84 in Bank Account.

Harry F. Powers, the Bluebeard of Clarksburg, W. Va., was gambling for small stakes when he murdered Mrs. Asta Buick Eicher of Park Ridge and her three children. Mrs. Eicher's safe deposit box in the Park Ridge State bank was opened yesterday and it contained, aside from evidence of debt, one copper cent.

WM. H. MALONE. [Moffett Photo.]

She owned her home, which might be worth $12,000 in a good market, real estate men said, but it had mortgages for $7,000 on it, papers found in the safe deposit box disclosed. She had $3.84 in a checking account in the bank, and her children had $47 in a savings account.

Malone Gives Money for Burial.

William H. Malone, Park Ridge political leader and real estate operator who held a $2,000 mortgage on the Eicher home, yesterday gave Mayor William A. McKee the funds to pay the funeral expenses of the widow and her children. Their bodies will be cremated at Clarksburg and the ashes brought back to Park Ridge to be interred beside the grave of Mrs. Eicher's husband, Henri.

The Rev. Walter D. Spangler of St. Luke's English Lutheran church in the suburb will conduct a memorial service Sunday which will be attended by the Sunday school mates of the three children.

Some of their playmates did not wait for the service. Yesterday a boy and a girl about 12 years old stole into the yard of the Eicher home. There, other children said, Gretha, Anabel and Harry, the Eicher youngsters, had buried a pet bird, erecting over it a headstone lettered "Graveyard for Animals." The two young intruders had altered it to read "Graveyard for Anabel," and were about to add the other names when police guarding the house sent them home.

Order Box Opened.

The safe deposit box was opened on the orders of Halbert O. Crews, public administrator of Cook county, who yesterday was appointed administrator of Mrs. Eicher's estate by Probate Judge Horner.

Mrs. Eicher's silverware and other valuables will be returned to the Cook county authorities.

Texas Couple Found Slain in Living Room of Home

Houston, Tex., Aug. 31.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Jones were found shot to death in the living room of their apartment in a fashionable residential section here today. Jones was an oil producer about 35 years old. Police expressed the opinion they had been slain by a third person.

A radio was going in the room and the lights were still on when the police reached the scene.

POWERS BELIEVED LYING IN CONFESSION TO FEIGN INSANITY

Clarksburg, W. Va., Aug. 31.—[Special.]—The glaring inconsistencies and apparently deliberate misstatements in Harry F. Powers murder confession are believed by authorities here to be an attempt by the Bluebeard slayer to lay the basis for an insanity defense.

Powers' game is to stick to a statement, no matter how refuted, and to refuse to give any details. The authorities are not forcing him to answer any questions, for they are already fearful that even the brief confession elicted thus far will be repudiated by Powers on the grounds that it was signed under duress and in fear of physical violence.

Powers persists in the statement that he killed Mrs. Asta B. Eicher of Park Ridge, Ill., her three children, and Mrs. Dorthy Lemke of Northboro, Mass., on the same night, which he fixes as "sometime in July."

He declines to explain how the Eichers got here except to say, "I met all the Eichers at Fairmount, W. Va., somewhere near the depot. I had just arrived in town with Mrs. Lemke. I put all five in my car, the kids in the back, and drove them to the garage in the afternoon and killed them that night."

He refused to change his story when Chief of Police Harold Johnson of Park Ridge proved to him that it was false.

Evidence shows that Mrs. Eicher left Park Ridge June 25, presumably arriving in West Virginia the 26th. On the 29th letters were mailed, with a Clarksburg postmark, from Mrs. Eicher to her daughter Greta and to the nurse, Miss Elizabeth Abernathy, back at the Park Ridge home. The authorities believe that Mrs. Eicher was murdered shortly after these letters were written.

The first of July Powers was back in Park Ridge, although in the story he told during the questioning he insist he never left Park Ridge that week. July 3 the Eicher children left for Clarksburg and, police here believe, were killed during the first week of July.

Victim Had $1,500.

WOMAN NEXT ON POWERS' LIST IS SINGLE AND SAFE

Olean, N. Y., Aug. 31.—(AP)—Mrs. Bessie Storrs of this city told the Associated Press today that she and Harry F. Powers were to have been married today.

Mrs. Storrs said she was one of the many women with whom authorities say Powers had been corresponding. She said the mail taken from Powers' postoffice box probably included letters she had written to him before she learned of his arrest.

She said Powers' last letter to her said he would arrive today to marry her and take her to his home in Iowa.

WOMAN DENIES 'CONFESSION' IN DEATH OF DOZEN

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 31.—(AP)—While her attorney challenged a confession claimed by the prosecutor's office, Mrs. Rose Veras, rooming house proprietor, was held in the county jail tonight charged with the slaying of one of a dozen men who died mysteriously in her home during the past eight years.

Mrs. Veras and her son, William, were arraigned in Recorder's court today on a charge of slaying Steve Mak, one of the 12 men. Mother and son stood mute and were held without bond pending examination Sept. 4.

Prior to the arraignment, Duncan C. McCrea, assistant prosecutor, announced that Mrs. Veras had confessed to an unnamed person "not connected with the police department" that she had pushed Mak to his death from an attic window of her house after two attempts to poison him had failed.

Refuses to Sign Paper.

After the arraignment Frank M. Kenney, Jr., attorney for Mrs. Veras, said she had denied confessing to the police or to any one else, that she had refused to sign a paper offered her by officers because she could not read it and because her attorney was not present. Kenney said Mrs. Veras charged that the police told her that her attorney was in jail.

McCrea said Mrs. Veras' alleged confession had not been reduced to writing but asserted she had told the unnamed person that she had induced Mak to climb a ladder to an attic window and enter the attic after which she pushed him to the ground. McCrea said Mrs. Veras also confessed that she killed Mak to obtain insurance of which she was the beneficiary.

Investigation Continues.

The assistant prosecutor said Mrs. Veras did not confess any other slayings. Investigators today continued their efforts to determine the circumstances under which the eleven other men died. Mrs. Veras is said to have paid premiums on 75 life insurance policies taken out by roomers in her home.

REVEAL EX-ROOMER'S PART IN SOLUTION OF EICHER DEATHS

The suspicion of William O'Boyle, former roomer of Mrs. Asta Eicher and friend of the family for years, was the direct cause of Harry Powers' arrest in Clarksburg, W. Va., it was revealed last night.

O'Boyle, a mechanical engineer living at 3153 Walnut street, who formerly roomed at the Eicher home, went there to get some tools he stored in the basement after Powers had taken Mrs. Eicher and her children to West Virginia.

O'Boyle heard some one in the house but the occupant refused to open the door. O'Boyle then walked across the alley to talk to a neighbor and Powers was seen to run from the home to a garage in the rear.

Powers locked the garage door from the inside and O'Boyle waited in the yard for three hours for him to come out. Finally O'Boyle locked an outside latch of the garage and went for the police. When he returned with Chief Harold Johnson, Powers had escaped through a window of the garage.

FLASHES STAR ON POLICEMAN AND IS ARRESTED

Albert M. Forbes Jr., 29 years old, of 336 Abbottsford road, Kenilworth, flashed a star at the wrong man yesterday, according to Policeman Otto Brey of the Evanston force. Forbes is to appear before Police Magistrate Harry H. Porter today.

Policeman Brey was driving in Chicago avenue, near Dempster street, attired in civilian clothes. There was congestion at the intersection and Forbes backed his car into Brey's, denting a fender. Forbes, the policeman said, used abusive language and then flashed a star, with the remark:

"Just look at this—now you know who I am."

He took Forbes to the Evanston station where he was released on bond pending his appearance today.

Forbes is alleged to have admitted that the star was given to him by Fred Heller, 3028 Fletcher street, Chicago, a former school board clerk.

POLICEMAN SHOT BY A POLICEMAN IN LOVERS' LANE

A city policeman shot a forest preserve policeman in the right shoulder last night in a dark nook at 95th street and Wolf road, known as "lovers' lane." The policemen tell entirely different stories explaining the shooting.

Policeman William Cleary, 8128 Elizabeth street, attached to the Stanton avenue station, said he was taking his girl friend out riding on his day off and parked his car near 95th street and Wolf road. He said a man emerged from the bushes and he ordered him to halt, telling him that he was an officer. The man continued running, Cleary said, whereupon he fired.

The wounded man was taken to the Little Company of Mary hospital, where he identified himself as Jack Heath, a forest preserve policeman. Heath said he came upon Cleary's car and found that the lights of the machine were out. He said he ordered the lights turned on. An argument followed, Heath said, during which the man in the car got out and shot him.

Only six persons were in the edifice. None was injured. Catholics here blame anti-Catholics from the state of Vera Cruz, where there have been numerous bombings of churches recently.

SLAYER HEADS "SELECTED LIST OF GENTLEMEN"

Circular Tells of Rich Men Seeking Wives.

The advertisement of Harry F. Powers, West Virginia Bluebeard, through a Detroit matrimonial agency was revealed yesterday in an anonymous letter from a Chicago woman. In her letter she told of paying $2 to enroll as a member of the bureau in answer to a dodger listing "highly desirable" prospective husbands, which was left in her mail box. The woman enrolled "in fun," she wrote, and during the spring months was mailed numerous lists, each list being headed by a description of Bluebeard Powers as the most desirable.

"Personally Selected Gentlemen."

The first list mailed to the woman advised her that the bureau had "personally selected and studied a few gentlemen" that I thought would especially interest you."

Description No. 10,267, at the top of the list, was a sketching summary of Powers, "a wealthy widower worth $150,000 with an income of $400 to $1,000 a month. The woman he married would have "everything that would make a good woman happy and would have nothing to do but to enjoy herself."

Some of the more glowing descriptions in the circular sent in by the anonymous informant follow:

10018. "Motion picture actor. Very handsome Hollywood gentleman of the blond type. Large blue eyes and light brown curly hair. Truly masculine. Electrifying personality. Owns a dashing Packard roadster. Has traveled around the world many times and is accustomed to the better things of life. Was educated at Oxford in London, England. Plays the piano. Has a jolly sense of humor. Is 26 years of age. If Hollywood appeals to you, write him."

Some More "Prospects."

9991. "I wish to give some sincere lady a good home. Am a stockman with means and am looking for a lady who is fond of home and ranch life. I am very industrious, trustworthy, and honest. Of good character and reputation, clean habits and morals, and the right woman will be very happy here with me, as I am kind hearted, gentle, and affectionate."

10048. "Chicago executive. A gentleman who possesses plenty of self confidence and is the type of man a woman loves to admire and look up to for his excellent business qualities. Is an engineer with income of $3,500 a year. Is worth $40,000 in real property. Is buying himself a La Salle car. Is of the brunette type and unusually good looking. All interested ladies cordially invited to write him at once."

SEIZE AGENCY FILES

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 31.—[Special.]—The home of the American Friendship society, the matrimonal agency through which Harry F. Powers, West Virginia wholesale killer of women and children, became acquainted with his victims, was invaded late this afternoon by Duncan C. McCrea, assistant prosecutor, and Leonard Smith, an investigator from the prosecutor's office. Records and other correspondence were seized as the basis for a hunt for possible other victims of Powers.

The $80,000 property in fashionable Grosse Point, is operated by Albert B. Plater and his wife, Olga, who promised to cooperate in listing the numerous women with whom Powers corresponded.

The Platers organized the Friendship society four years ago. Plater also is engaged in the manufacture of cosmetics and face lotions.

Today Mrs. Plater, as president of the society, passed out this formal statement:

"To the public and the 50,000 members who have placed their confidence in the society, I wish to state I am deeply pained and shocked to find that a member has so perverted the society's uses.

"Every precaution has been taken and always has been taken to prevent any but the highest type of members from taking advantage of this service. Mr. Cornelius O. Pierson (Powers' pseudonym) was accepted as a member in good faith. He signed a pledge that his intentions were honorable and sincere and that he was a member of two fraternal orders.

"The society is ever on the lookout for fraud and exercises great care and scrutiny in its membership. The society devotes its entire interests to bringing together lonely people through social correspondence. The fees are barely enough to cover the operating expenses."

GAS MASK OFFERS NEW THEORY AS TO SLAYER'S METHODS

Clarksburg, W. Va., Aug. 31.—(AP)—Discovery of a gas mask caused authorities to believe today that the basement of Powers' garage may have been designed for asphyxiation of persons by means of natural gas.

The gas mask was found under a corner of a house owned by Powers' wife and sister-in-law here. The house was occupied by J. H. Stone, a tenant who moved late last week, police said. Stone could not be found today.

There were gas jets in the basement of Powers' Quiet Dell garage near where the bodies of two women and three children were found. There were none in the garage above.

GOVERNOR PLANS BOARD TO PROBE GAS TAX EVASION

Gov. Emmerson announced in Chicago yesterday that he would appoint a fact finding commission to investigate the gasoline bootlegging situation and determine, if possible, how widely the 3 cent state tax is evaded.

The governor did not announce the membership of the proposed commission. His action was based on a request submitted with a report by Garrett De F. Kinney, director of the state department of finance.

Mr. Kinney also suggested that the state auditor coöperate with the commission in tabulating the books and records of motor fuel distributors. The proposed commission would include one representative of the gas tax evasion committee formed by the petroleum industry and headed by Frank V. Martinek of the Standard Oil company.

CASUALS CHOOSE HOTEL HOOVER AS NAME OF SHELTER

The old county jail and criminal courts building at Austin avenue and Dearborn street, now being used as a shelter for the unemployed by the Tower Town Food and Shelter organization, has been unofficially named. A visit to the building yesterday disclosed the new name—Hotel Hoover—written in chalk on the walls and etched in the accumulated dust of years on the windows.

There were other inscriptions and cabalistic signs marked on the broad blocks and windows on the Austin avenue side of the shelter, signs which have been used by hoboes for years to inform their fellows of the conditions. "Welcome" written under a crude crayon sketch of a portly individual notified blanket stiffs that this was the place they had been told of by weary companions of many a cinder journey.

A drawing of an empty pocket with an arrow pointing to the broad door indicated that money was not needed for food and lodging.

SUSPEND LOWER GAS RATES TO HOLD INQUIRY

The Illinois commerce commission has suspended for four months the reduced rate schedule proposed by the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company to permit a full investigation, it was announced yesterday by A. J. Ackerman, assistant secretary of the commission.

The suspension applies only to the rate reduction, which the company states would give its Chicago patrons a cut of 3½ per cent on their domestic bills, and not to the blending of natural gas with manufactured gas, the initiation of which process was the company's reason for lowering rates.

The commission has already had a hearing on the company's petition to use natural gas piped to Chicago from Texas. It has that matter under advisement. Under its rules, the commission may suspend the proposed rate schedule for an additional six months after the four month period if more time is needed for investigation. Hearings on the new rates are to begin Sept. 15.

ROB STORE OF DRUGS.

Three masked gunmen robbed the Vance and Friholdt drug store, 1428 East 55th street, yesterday of a quantity of drugs and a few dollars in the cash register, after forcing the manager, Hubert Chesser, 5400 Greenwood avenue, to lie on the floor.

ARGUMENT STARTED AT CHURCH; 1 DEAD, THREE OTHERS SHOT

Halbert, Tex., Aug. 31.—(AP)—Following an argument started at a church near here Sunday, the menfolks of the Tatum and Adams families, rural neighbors, shot it out.

Jodie Adams, 16, was killed and his father, John Adams, 55, was shot through the body.

Ralph Tatum, 22, and his father, Buford Tatum, 50, were so dangerously wounded they are not expected to recover.

About 50 shot were exchanged. Other members of the families who witnessed the affray escaped injury.

Jodie Adams had accused Ralph Tatum of cutting an automobile tire.

SEIZE 7 AS AUTO THIEVES AFTER TWO ACCIDENTS

Two groups of young automobile thieves were captured yesterday by the police in Oak Park and in Evanston when the stolen cars crashed. Seven were arrested.

In Evanston a squad chased an auto from Sheridan road and University place to Sheridan place and Sheridan road where the car crashed into a barricade.

Taken to the Evanston hospital for first aid treatment for their cuts and bruises, the youths were identified as Frank Obrocht, 15 years old, of 1474 West Huron street; John Waldo, 15, of 1508 West Huron street, and Stanley Szczurek, 16, of 1471 West Huron street. Obrocht said he had stolen the car at Chicago avenue and Oakley boulevard in Chicago.

Police in Oak Park pursued an automobile until it ran into a traffic signal. The occupants were identified as Elmer Orsay, 21 years old, 4114 West Washington boulevard; Edward Domek, 17, of 1242 Holt street; John Dzedzei, 18, of 1449 Cleaver street, and Stanley Jacer, 20, of 1325 West Huron street. They confessed stealing three automobiles, police said.

JONES DEFEATS WILLIAMS FOR SUPREME COURT

Veteran Democrat Wins in Southern Illinois.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Judge Norman L. Jones of Carrollton was elected to the Illinois Supreme court yesterday by a majority of approximately 20,000. He will succeed the late William M. Farmer of Vandalia, who resigned last spring because of ill health and died recently.

In the special election to fill the vacancy in the Second district, which includes twenty-one counties in the southern part of the state, Judge Jones, the Democratic nominee, defeated his young Republican opponent, Harold S. Williams, in nineteen and possibly twenty counties.

In this way the victor almost equaled the record of James Hamilton Lewis in his race for the United States senate last November.

The political phase of the contest occupied widespread attention as a possible straw indicating the trend of sentiment downstate in the national and state election next year, but all the reports from the district itself were that the outcome was more of a personal victory for Judge Jones than a partisan triumph.

Victor Veteran Jurist.

The victor is a veteran jurist. He has served seventeen years on the Circuit and Appellate benches and in his last three Circuit court elections he was indorsed by both the Republican and Democratic organizations. In addition to this record he established himself throughout the second district in 1924 when, as the Democratic nominee for governor, he swept through county after county there far ahead of his ticket. His opponent was a much younger and much less experienced man.

The campaign was conducted entirely along nonpartisan lines so far as the candidates were concerned, but despite that fact workers for both parties reported that national issues such as unemployment and business depression crept in and for those reasons party chieftains scanned the returns closely.

See Hint of G. O. P. Sentiment.

Their laboratory method consisted of comparing yesterday's results in the counties with the vote in the last presidential election, that of 1928, and with the vote cast last fall for Senator Lewis. Yesterday's vote was much smaller.

In 1924 Coolidge carried sixteen of the twenty-one counties. In 1928 Hoover carried nineteen. Then Lewis carried every one of them. Apparently Judge Jones did as well except for Attorney Williams' own county.

The Last Three Elections.

A tabulation showing how the counties of the 2d district went in the last three elections by listing the majorities of the victors by "R" for Republican and "D" for Democrat follows:

*Indicates incomplete.

The outcome of the election does not alter the political complexion of the Supreme court. The late Justice Farmer, like Judge Jones, was a Democrat. Therefore, the high tribunal will continue five Republicans—Justices De Young, Dunn, Stone, Heard, and Duncan—and two Democrats—Justice Orr and Judge Jones.

VETOES $174,800 APPROPRIATIONS FOR ASSESSMENT

County Board President Attacks Legality.

President Emmett Whealan of the county board yesterday vetoed emergency appropriations totaling $174,800 which the board voted last week to the board of assessors and board of review on the representations of those officials that the money was necessary to complete assessment work work during the current year.

EMMETT WHEALAN.

The appropriations were held illegal by President Whealan under present budgetary laws, which forbid any interim appropriations after the budget for the year has once been set up. A four-fifths vote of the commissioners is necessary to override his veto, and since three others of the fourteen active commissioners joined the president in opposing the measures last week, there is little hope of repassing the measure over the veto. Commissioner Maurice Kavanagh, chairman of the board's finance committee, said.

County Attorney's Opinion.

County Attorney Hayden N. Bell told the board last week that if there were an absolute necessity for the appropriations to prevent a lapse of one of the county's governmental functions, the expenditures might be approved. The board would have to judge whether the necessity was absolute, he said.

In his veto message President Whealan said:

"In my judgment, formed after an exhaustive review of the whole situation, the necessity is not absolute. I feel, however, especially in the case of the board of review, that some legal method must be found to supplement their appropriation to enable them to complete their work, although in my judgment the amount voted them is far in excess of their immediate need.

"The same may in some small measure apply to the board of assessors, although through their chief appraiser they inform the board that a legal assessment could be made with their present appropriation."

Assessors Discuss Veto.

The board of assessors, which had asked for $115,000 on the plea that it was unable to finish the 1931 quadrennial reassessment with what it has left of the original appropriation, held a meeting to discuss the veto.

At its conclusion Charles E. Fox, director of appraisals, said: "We will go ahead on the $85,000 we have left, but that means that we will have only 7 cents for appraisal of each parcel of real estate in the county, and the quality of the job will approximate the price."

Andrew W. Gatenbey, chief clerk of the board of review, had asked the county board for $89,800, which he said was necessary to hire extra clerical help if the reviewers were to continue their "speed up" policy of hearing 1,200 complaints daily against the 1930 assessments. The hearings will continue at that rate until Friday, at least, when the county board will meet for formal consideration of the veto, he said.

FARMER SHOOTS AT MARAUDERS; YOUTH WOUNDED

Peter Singo, a farmer at 174th street and Laflin avenue, East Hazelcrest, heard some one in his melon patch last night. He ordered the marauders out, but they refused to go, so he got his gun and shot at them.

Later, Anthony Panazzo, 17 years old, staggered into his home at East Hazelcrest suffering from a bullet wound in his abdomen. The youth's father, Joseph, took him to the office of Dr. H. Johnson in Homewood and then to the Ingalls Memorial hospital at Harvey.

Young Panazzo said he had been out walking with his chum, Delfis Theiois, also of East Hazelcrest, when he was struck by a stray bullet.

WORKERS TO DECIDE COURSE IN GARBAGE STRIKE TOMORROW

A meeting to discuss the question of calling off or continuing their strike will be held tomorrow night at 627 South Ashland boulevard by members of the city garbage workers' union.

Reports yesterday indicated that the men would probably vote to end the walkout and return to work. Henry Sonnenschein, secretary to Mayor Cermak, expressed belief that the difficulty would be ended this week. Meantime, John Sutherland, president, and Fred Sass, secretary, of the Sanitary Chauffeurs and Teamsters union, conferred on the strike with Commissioner of Public Works A. A. Sprague.

Col. Sprague, it is understood, did not give in to the union's demand for a five day week, but insisted on a four day week. Last week the commissioner recommended the indictment of Sutherland and Sass on the ground they were engaged in a conspiracy against public health. He declined to discuss that recommendation yesterday. Thus far, the refuse dumps which have collected in alleys have not proved detrimental to public health. That they have not is largely due to the cool weather of last week, according to Health Commissioner Bundesen.

EAST TEXAS OIL FIELD ORDERED REOPENED TODAY

Austin, Tex., Aug. 31.—(AP)—The giant east Texas oil field, closed down by a martial law proclamation of Gov. Ross S. Sterling Aug. 17, will be reopened tomorrow under a new order of the Texas railroad commission.

At the time of the shutdown the tremendous production of the field was credited with being the major demoralizing influence on the midcontinent petroleum market. Oil was selling for as little as 10 cents a barrel.

Gov. W. H. Murray of Oklahoma, before the Texas action, declared martial law in his state and closed down all flush wells. He said he would keep the lid down until the market rose to a dollar a barrel. The shutdown still is in force.

Prices recently have been improving and last week the Kansas public service commission allowed the partial reopening of the Ritz-Canton pool upon a promise of a dollar market.

Threaten to Kidnap Vallee and His Bride for Ransom

New York, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Police tonight assigned a detective to investigate a letter relating that kidnapers planned to hold Rudy Vallee and his bride, the former Fay Webb, for ransom. Rudy dismissed the matter with a laugh.

BERWYN POLICE LOSE ROUND IN BRUTALITY CASE

Defendant Freed on All Their Charges.

Police Magistrate John H. Ehardt of Berwyn yesterday dismissed charges of driving without lights, disorderly conduct, and resisting arrest against Michael M. Brooks, former president of the Cicero board of education and district manager of the Universal Car Loading and Distributing company. The arrest on Aug. 15 resulted in Brooks filing charges of brutality against Chief of Police Thomas C. Bartunek of Berwyn, and two policemen, Joseph Pilat and Theodore Michalsky.

JOSEPH BRAUN.

The dismissal of the charges was viewed by Joseph Braun, chief attorney for the Chicago Motor club, who represented Brooks, as a step toward the suspension of the policemen. All three will face the Berwyn civil service commission Sept. 11.

Policemen Discredit Selves.

Judge Ehardt found the charges of brutality to be beyond his jurisdiction and confined himself to the charges against Mr. Brooks. He held the two policemen who made the arrest had given contradictory testimony and discredited their evidence.

"The court finds it difficult to believe that the defendant could have driven over unlighted roads for a distance of more than ten miles without his automobile lights burning," Judge Ehardt said. "Particularly would this be true if the defendant were intoxicated, as charged by the officers.

"The court finds no preponderance of testimony to support a charge of disorderly conduct and is convinced that had conduct of such a nature occurred tenants in the apartment nearby would have been disturbed and awakened and there would have been witnesses to the conduct other than the policemen.

Freed on All Counts.

"As to the charge of resisting the officers the court cannot help but feel that this complaint should have been made earlier in the proceedings instead of on the morning of the hearing. The defendant is discharged on all three counts."

A thronged court room applauded the decision. The charges of Brooks have become an issue in the city. Since he filed his information before the civil service commission a second charge of brutality has been placed against the police chief.

Chief Bartunek was represented in court by Attorney Harry Kerins, who demanded a delay. He declared he would produce saloon keepers and women who would testify Brooks had been frequenting their resorts the evening of his arrest. Brooks, who was not charged with driving while intoxicated, lives at 3227 Clarence avenue, Berwyn. Kerin's motion was denied. In his argument Kerins characterized Mr. Brooks as a man who had been arrested five or six times and was a known criminal, raising a smoke screen of brutality. He did not offer to produce a police record.

Attorney Braun charged the allegations made by Kerins to be beyond decency. He argued for more than an hour on the points later stressed by the judge. City Prosecutor John O. Hruby dismissed the charges of disorderly conduct and resisting arrest in his argument, but asked that the defendant be found guilty of driving without lights.

FARMER DIES IN HOG PEN.

Petersburg, Ind., Aug. 31.—Oscar Gray, 55 of Iva, was found dead in his hog lot last night after he had been missing for more than eight hours. A coroner's inquest returned a verdict that death resulted from apoplexy.

START HEARING ON INJUNCTION IN MOVIE LOCKOUT

Arguments over the validity of the injunction issued a week ago by Judge Ross C. Hall, allowing 104 neighborhood theaters to be operated with unlicensed motion picture operators, were heard yesterday by Master in Chancery Sidney S. Pollock.

Testimony in the case will be introduced this morning with C. K. Cregier, chief license inspector in the city hall, on the stand. Cregier will be questioned concerning the issuance of licenses to the so-called "permit men" who turned over 10 per cent of their salaries to Thomas Maloy, head of the motion picture operators' union. Maloy was recently indicted for conspiracy.

Acting Corporation Counsel Hornstein told the master in chancery that theaters with unlicensed operators were unsafe. Attorney Howard Ellis, representing the owners, retorted that the theaters were far more safe now that Maloy's inexperienced operators had been driven out.

Maloy was back in Chicago yesterday after a trip to New York. During his absence three theaters were bombed and stench bombs were thrown in other houses.

Johnny Torrio, predecessor of Al Capone as the big boss of booze and vice in Chicago, returned to the city yesterday after an absence of six years. There was nothing voluntary about the visit, and Torrio said: "I am sorry to be back." Torrio returned to Chicago under subpoena of federal authorities. It was said that he might be called as a witness in the forthcoming trial of Capone.

The ex-Chicago gang boss was closeted with Assistant District Attorneys Dwight H. Green, Samuel G. Clawson and Jacob I. Grossman for more than two hours. Frank Wilson, of the intelligence department, also was present at the conference.

On emerging from the prosecutors' room Torrio covered his face with a newspaper to foil photographers. He also wore smoked glasses. Torrio was accompanied on his exit from the federal building by Philip D'Andrea, alleged Capone follower. Before leaving, he told questioners he would leave for New York immediately.

HUNT CANDIDATE TO RUN AGAINST LADY ASTOR, M.P.

LONDON, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Nancy Lady Astor, the first woman to take a seat in the British parliament, may be threatened with a Conservative challenge from her constituency at the next general election.

An advertisement in a London newspaper today announces a "gentleman of Plymouth, conscientiously believing that the present parliamentary representative from the Sutton division should be opposed at the next election," would like to communicate "with a gentleman who would be willing to oppose the present member as an independent Conservative candidate."

Lady Astor was elected in 1919 and has run away with the race at each subsequent election, except in 1929, when she won by only 112 votes.

U. S. ACTS TO TRY JUVENILE CASES IN STATE COURTS

Efforts will be made hereafter to place juvenile offenders against the federal laws in the hands of state authorities for prosecution, it was announced yesterday by United States District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson. The plans follow a recommendation of Attorney General William D. Mitchell.

Government prosecutors, marshals, commissioners, and prohibition officers will cooperate to make this policy effective, according to Mr. Johnson and Chief Probation Officer William A. McGrath.

Mr. McGrath explained that great injustice and injury were done to federal offenders 17 years old and under who were placed in prison alongside hardened inmates of the government's penal institutions.

Most of the young criminals were found guilty of violation of the Dyer motor vehicle act, Mr. McGrath declared, although there were many engaged in breaking the prohibition laws. Handling of juveniles by state courts was recommended in the Wickersham report.

SIR HALL CAINE, NOTED BRITISH NOVELIST, DIES

Writings Were Centers of Many Controversies.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 31.—Sir Hall Caine, noted British novelist, died at 10:50 o'clock tonight. He had been ill of a heart ailment at his home at Douglas, Isle of Man, since last week. He was 78 years old.

Sir Hall was born on May 14, 1853, in Runcorn, Cheshire, the son of a blacksmith. He was educated for architecture, but his writings on that subject led him into the field of journalism, and from there into the writing of novels. He profited extensively from his literary efforts. In 1907 he was reputed to be the wealthiest novelist in the world.

Novels Were Storm Centers.

His novels caused him to be the storm center of many controversies. A religious discussion which got wide attention resulted from his novels "The Eternal City" and "The Christian." His first writings to attract attention were "Sonnets of Three Centuries" and "Recollections of Rossetti" both published in 1882. He visited Rossetti for several years in London before the poet-painter's death.

During the early days of the world war he wrote British propaganda in which he condemned America for its failure to enter the conflict. He was knighted in 1918 for his efforts to present the British side of the war to American readers.

Among Sir Hall's works are "The Woman Thou Gavest Me," "The Deemster," "The White Prophet," and "The Master of Man." Many of his novels were also portrayed on the screen.

Survived by Family.

Sir Hall was married and had two sons, one of whom, Derwent Hall Caine, appeared in leading rôles in his father's dramatic works. All members of his family were summoned to his bedside last Thursday.

The novelist spent the greater part of his life at Greeba Castle, on the Isle of Man, where the environment suited his habits of reflection and meditation. He sat for some years in the House of Keys, the Manx parliament. He was an inveterate traveler and had visited the United States several times.

Natives of the Isle of Man were perhaps the least appreciative of the Caine novels, for they took exception to the way in which he advertised the island in his writings, his principal Manx heroine being a fallen woman, and another prominent character a confirmed humbug.

ARREST COUNTY LIFE GUARD IN ROBBERS' AUTO

CRIMINAL COURT.

Adam Pawlak, Edward Kiewicz, and Phillip Plociennlak, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years each in Pontiac reformatory; Mathew Ford, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; Willie Woods, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life in Pontiac reformatory, by Judge Charles A. Williams.

A comely and stylishly dressed young woman, a youth who says he is a son of a former state senator, and two confessed robbers were seized by police early this morning after a fifth member of the party escaped amid a volley of police bullets. The woman is Vivian Viani, 24 years old, 518 North Green street, and the men identified themselves as Martin Balaban, 24, also of 518 North Green street; Homer O'Gara, 22, 1820 North Lockwood avenue, and Walter Piotrowski of Wheeling, Ill. Piotrowski says he is a son of the late state senator John A. Piotrowski, and life guard at dam No. 1 in the Des Plaines river in the forest preserve.

Balaban and O'Gara confessed that they and the man who escaped committed six robberies within the last few days. The girl denied knowing anything about the robberies, although she admitted she lives with Balaban, who recently came here from Rochester, N. Y. Piotrowski said he met the men yesterday at dam No. 1 and accompanied them on the promise of having a "swell party." He declared he had no knowledge of their criminal activities. Three pistols were found in the party's automobile.

HURLEY REACHES MANILA; THRONG HAILS WAR CHIEF

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MANILA, P. I., Sept. 1 [Tuesday].—Patrick J. Hurley, secretary of war, today received the biggest welcome since the visit of the late President Taft in 1907, when he was secretary for war. Fourteen army planes met Mr. Hurley's ship off Cleveland bay and escorted it into Manila harbor.

A huge crowd, led by the reception committee, was at the pier to greet Secretary Hurley and his party. On the reception committee were Miss Cynthia Helen B. Davis, daughter of Gov. Gen. Dwight F. Davis, and Miss Osmena Roxas, daughter of Manuel Roxas, speaker of the Philippine house of representatives.

The war secretary received a salute of 19 guns after which he reviewed the 31st infantry regiment doing duty as the guard of honor.

REVEAL PLANS OF TWO WHOSE BOAT SANK IN STORM

Ralph and Matthew Pellar, former partners in the Pellar Pie company, who with a crew of three men were saved when their motorship, the Fannie P. Ritchie of Chicago, was wrecked on Chantry reef near Southampton, Ont., Saturday, were on their way to Florida to establish a string of gasoline stations. Sidney Pellar, a brother, who lives at the Copeland hotel, told of their plans yesterday.

In conjunction with their baking company activities the two brothers had opened a gasoline service company in Chicago, Sidney said. Abandoning the baking company venture the two loaded their gasoline equipment on the motorship with the intention of starting the business in Florida. The ship was equipped with tanks to haul gasoline from the Texas fields to their retail stations.

The boat left Chicago a week ago and made good progress until it encountered a heavy storm in Lake Huron following trouble with the engines.

BRITISH CABINET PLANS TO RULE AS SEMI-DICTATOR

Wants Power to Enforce Economy Program.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 31.—Something like a modified dictatorship for Great Britain is being planned by the new national government, according to information from highest quarters today.

J. H. THOMAS.

A member of the emergency government has declared that the plan calls for parliament to meet only one week upon reconvening, either next week of a fortnight hence. It hopes to pass only one bill, which will empower Prime Minister MacDonald's "Big Ten" to take any steps which, in their judgment, is necessary for the nation's economic stabilization.

Will Censure Old Cabinet.

Arthur Henderson, new Labor party leader and former foreign secretary, proposes to introduce as an amendment in the address to the king a resolution censuring the former Labor government for not taking steps to introduce protective tariffs. The object of this motion is to put the Conservatives, who are committed by their party platform to customs duty, in a hole and place them on record as voting against tariffs indirectly, at any rate, for use as propaganda in future elections.

The cabinet got down to actual work today on its economy program as the last fissure between the former Labor leaders and their supporters over the formers' "desertion" into the ranks of the national government occurred.

J. H. Thomas, secretary for dominions and colonies in the new cabinet, resigned as head of the National Union of Railwaymen when he was forced to choose between a place alongside Prime Minister MacDonald or a seat among his fellow workmen.

Elects to Stand by Chief.

Mr. Thomas chose to stand by his chief on the government's plan to reduce payments of the dole for unemployed by 10 per cent. The executive committee unanimously asked him to quit his post in the cabinet, but he resigned from the union instead. He was almost in tears as he announced his resignation.

"If I comply with that request to quit the government it will brand me both as a coward and a cad," Mr. Thomas said. "I cannot and will not do it. Therefore, in refusing to comply with your request I have no alternative but to tender my resignation. I state this in order that you will understand how I feel by taking this step, but I love the railwaymen and my union too much to attempt to make your task more difficult. Rather than allow a split to develop in the union I do not intend to appeal against your decision."

Mr. MacDonald took off in an open plane from a field near Lossiemouth, Scotland, his home, this morning, wearing a sprig of white heather, the Scottish emblem of luck, in his button hole. His flight to London lasted three hours.

Premier in High Spirits.

He drove immediately to 10 Downing street. A stack of documents and reports, from the cabinet committees, departmental officials, and treasury experts, had piled up over the week-end. Mr. MacDonald, appearing greatly refreshed, arrived at his office in high spirits.

Stunt Flyer Crashes Into Sea; Find Body in Plane

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Aug. 31.—(AP)—The body of Cyril Nelmes, owner of a plane which crashed in Grassy bay near here today, was found in the upturned fuselage of the plane. John Runger of New York, who was also in the plane, was fished out of the water and was reported tonight to be suffering from severe shock. Nelmes was stunting above a tender on the way to take passengers off the liner Franconia when the plane suddenly shot into the water and was wrecked. W. O. Murthie, of Stockbridge, Mass., the second passenger, was picked up unconscious and taken to a hospital.

NORMAN, BANK OF ENGLAND HEAD, MAY LOSE POST

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 31.—Montagu Norman is probably serving his last term as governor of the bank of England. It is learned that "the city," the British equivalent to "Wall street," blames him for the humiliation of British finance and proposes to make him the scapegoat. It is also reported that he is on the verge of a physical and nervous breakdown from overwork and worry.

MONTAGU NORMAN

Norman, who is on vacation in Canada, is especially blamed for alleged tactlessness in handling French financiers. He is said to have spoken publicly about the "utter selfishness" of the French. This was reported to the French and it is said to have been responsible to some extent for "the hard boiled" attitude they adopted at first.

It is even stated that he tried to induce J. P. Morgan to persuade America to undertake the rescue of the pound sterling alone, thus freezing the French out of the fat profits of this operation. But Mr. Morgan, whose business interest in France is almost as large as in England, is said to have refused. Then came Mr. Norman's spectacular dash to Canada at the height of the crisis, leaving his associates to face the music in London.

GANGSTERS FIRE AT A POOLROOM, HIT LINGERIE SHOP

New York, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Six men in a dark sedan unleashed a charge of shotgun and revolver slugs at a poolroom in the East New York section of Brooklyn tonight but missed their intended victims, a rival gang, and shot up a women's lingerie shop.

More than a dozen women in the shop on Sutter avenue, ducked into a backroom as the bullets shattered a showcase and imbedded themselves in walls. None was injured.

SPORTS SALON—FIRST FLOOR

Keeping Physically Fit

We're not downhearted just because business isn't up to normal. We decided to make the best of it and are taking advantage of this period of lessened business activity to do many things we didn't have time for when our business was at its peak.

We haven't lost a bit of confidence in our community or in the future welfare of our country. We know that conditions are going to improve and that business will increase—and we, for one, are going to be ready.

Just now we are making extraordinary efforts to keep "physically fit." Three years ago we started on a program of storewide rearrangement, redecoration, and refurnishing. Recently we have taken a new spurt.

We are now completing the redecoration and refurbishing of our entire First Floor, South, State. The appearance of this floor as a whole will be greatly improved and the merchandise presented in a much better manner.

The lace section has been moved to the second floor, making it possible for us to enlarge some of the other first floor sections. Gloves, hosiery, and handbags have been grouped in the South State Street room, making it easier for customers to select accessories in harmonizing or properly contrasting colors.

Perfumes and toilet articles are now in handsome fixtures in an enlarged area covering the entire north end of the North State Street room. Certainly this is one of the finest, most beautiful, and most complete departments in the world.

In many other sections decoration, alteration, repair, and other improvements have been going on. Over $100,000 has been spent for new carpeting.

We ask the indulgence of our customers for inconveniences caused by these operations, but in return we promise better service, greater convenience, and a more pleasing atmosphere in which to do business.

MARSHALL FIELD & COMPANY

RAIL SPOKESMEN UPHOLD PLEAS FOR RATE BOOST

Cross-Examined in I. C. C. Hearing on Emergency.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Executives of the railroads and representatives of the shippers who are being asked to pay a 15 per cent general increase in all rail rates met in the field of testimony in two separate hearings of the interstate commerce commission at the Hotel Sherman yesterday.

It was a simple story, but it had to be told elaborately, in thousands of pages of testimony, in charts, and graphs, and percentages. It comes to this: That the railroads, regarding their cause as a unit, are making out an emergency case for financial relief in the form of increased rates to the public, while the shippers, divided into many groups, have just as sad a tale to tell of their inability to contribute more at this time to railroad income.

Hundreds Attend Hearing.

The main show was held in Exhibition hall, where hundreds of railroad men, shippers, and lawyers listened closely to every word of the testimony given by the railroad spokesmen and to the cross-examination which raised several new points in the controversy. The hall was draped with flags. Commissioners E. J. Lewis and William Lee, with examiners and representatives of coöperating state commissions, sat on a raised platform.

The second session, where individual shippers were heard, was in charge of Commissioners Claude R. Porter and Balthaser H. Meyer.

As indicating the importance of the hearing, which is the final presentation of evidence in the case, the new figure of $502,000,000 was brought into the case during the testimony. This sum, which is comparable to the amount which has caused the recent crisis in the British government, is mentioned by the railroads as the estimated increase which will be collected on the proposed 15 per cent basis. This is estimated on freight revenue for 1931, based on figures for the first six months, and was submitted by Dr. Julius H. Parmalee, director of the bureau of railway economics.

See Diversion of Freight.

As the railroad men expect, however, to encounter the diversion of much freight to other channels to avoid the increase, this might be far from the actual sum that would be collected under the increase. No one knows what that would be. The ingenuity of shippers in finding new ways of shipping, or in changing the location of plants to avoid the necessity of shipping, is an unknown quantity in the situation.

It is this very uncertainty as to what the American public would do in such an emergency that has led the railroad executives to frown upon the suggesion of a pooling of the increase collected so that it might go to the benefit of the poorer roads.

This suggestion was raised by Luther Walter, attorney for the National Industrial league, in the cross-examination of Dr. Parmalee, and, later, in questioning J. J. Pelley, president of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad and spokesman for the eastern group of roads.

Some Roads in Good Shape.

It was brought out that the figures show some of the carriers are in good condition and have good credit, while others need more revenue in order to bring their securities within the terms of the New York law, which requires that net earnings be 1½ times the fixed charges. There were no figures to show the individual condition of roads, and Mr. Walter moved to have these prepared. The commission reserved decision. Dr. Parmalee stated that this would delay the proceedings, which have been characterized by the railroad executives as of an emergency character.

Mr. Walter wanted Mr. Pelley to tell him where the emergency existed. For the eastern territory, Mr. Pelley said that some roads, including his own, were all right now, but that others had to have more money. He did not give particulars. He said he did not know whether the executives of the prosperous roads had taken part in preparing this petition for relief. The emergency, he said, was in impairment of credit.

Argues for Pooling.

Taking the railroad reports, Mr. Walter deduced that two New England roads were in good condition and two were not. Applying this to the national situation he argued that the shippers as a whole could be saved between two and three hundred million dollars if the 15 per cent increase was pooled and given only to the roads that needed it.

"I don't believe the railroads would do anything of that sort," said Mr. Pelley rather testily after further inquiry along this line.

"I don't think any one can make us and there is no use in talking about it," he added. "It is not fair and equitable. It would be impossible to find out what the net of the 15 per cent would be. It would increase operating expenses. There would be the higher rate on materials bought."

"Suppose," said Mr. Walter, "that the commission consented to the increase only on the condition that the increase be pooled and given to the poorer roads."

"We would not assent; it is ridiculous," replied Mr. Pelley.

"You would rather lose all the increase than see it go to those that need it," said Mr. Walter. "It is good for the commission and the public to know this."

Brookhart Enters Controversy.

Senator Smith W. Brookhart of Iowa was an interested spectator for part of the morning but he could not refrain from participating in the proceedings as the attitude of the railroad executives was developed. He first took up the railroad surplus, which had been mentioned by Dr. Parmalee in his testimony bringing the railroad argument down to date. A decline of $350,000,000 in the corporate surplus had been quoted.

"Why not make use of this surplus before asking the public for an increase?" Senator Brookhart asked, reminding the commission and the railroad men that the New York law was not a federal law.

"The United States is not bound by this New York law," he said. "That money has been taken from the people."

Dr Parmalee said this surplus was in property, not cash. He went on to tell of the cumulative decline in railroad income since the peak year of 1929.

Senator Brookhart later referred to so-called subsidiary companies of the railroads, among which he listed the Pullman company and the Baldwin Locomotive Works, and asked if any report on their earnings had been made. He was told that there had been none.

"If the railroad trouble is caused by subsidiary companies taking excess profits from the railroads, that is not shown in this report, is it?"

"No," replied Dr. Parmalee.

"Is there anything on the general earnings of all industries?"

"No, sir."

"If agriculture has had no earning on its capital investment since 1920 and capital has been depleted thirty billion dollars, that industry is not in shape to stand a rate increase, is it?" asked the senator.

Dr. Parmalee did not reply to this.

Suggests Relief Fund.

Later in the proceedings Senator Brookhart threw out another bone of contention when he suggested that the recapture funds which the government is entitled to collect from railroads making more than 6 per cent be collected and applied as a railroad relief fund in this emergency.

"I understand this recapture money amounts to about seven hundred millions now," said the senator. "I suggest that it be collected and used."

No one had anything to say to this.

In recalling Mr. Pelley for a question, Senator Brookhart said that the railroad president had better go to night school if he did not understand that an increase in freight rates meant so much more taken away from the farmer shipper.

Commissioner Lewis put several questions to Mr. Pelley and to H. A. Scandrett, president of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad, who was the next witness, regarding the prospect of a fresh diversion of traffic to rail and water routes, long haul trucking, and coastwise shipping, as well as rivers. Both executives thought that despite this competition the railroads would gain a great deal in revenue through the increased rates.

Scandrett Gives Views.

"We can only prosper as our territory prospers," said Mr. Scandrett. "If these rates are harmful to the shippers we will have to adjust them as soon as possible."

As representative of the western roads Mr. Scandrett said that these were unanimously opposed to a pool being formed, that no such plan was justified and that it would not work.

Inadequate earnings over a long period, together with the present depression, constitute the emergency under which the railroads are asking for an increase, he said, adding that the roads intended to ask for just enough to get by on and that the increase "is something that someone must carry."

Commissioner Lewis wanted to know if the railroads could impose a 15 per cent increase in rates on lumber and dairy products on the northwest, where the truck and water lines are in competition. Mr. Scandrett thought they could in some districts. Each problem would have to be worked out by itself, he said.

Fairman R. Dick of Roosevelt & Sons, New York, representing the railroad security holders, was the last witness of the day and will resume the stand this morning. With him as adviser was Charles Evans Hughes Jr., son of the chief justice of the United States Supreme court, who presented and explained exhibits on the securities market fluctuations. Mr. Dick said that the railroad bonds situation had become worse since the Washington hearing and had declined as much as the German bonds.

CHARGES HOOVER LEADS NATION FROM OLD PATHS

Drops Policy of Isolation, U. S. Official Says.

Mount Holyoke, Mass., Aug. 31.—[Special.]—Stanley K. Hornbeck, chief of the division of foreign affairs of the state department, tonight called attention to the important departures from American traditional policies which have taken place during the Hoover administration. His address was delivered before the tenth annual conference of international student service meeting at Mount Holyoke college.

S. K. HORNBECK.
[(C) Harris & Ewing.]

Mr. Hornbeck stressed the point that the United States, which until recently had made isolation from foreign intanglements a basic policy, had now taken the lead in effecting a moratorium of war debts and reparations payments.

Involved with Others.

"In the field of foreign relations," he said, "this country, which until recently had made diplomatic detachment from European affairs a cardinal feature of its policy, has now, under the initiative of President Hoover, taken the lead in effecting a moratorium of war debts and reparations payments.

"This country is preparing to go next year into the world disarmament conference at Geneva and to do its utmost in conference and by coöperation with other countries toward lightening on the shoulders of humanity the costly burden of military armaments."

Adopting State Specialism.

"The whole world," Mr. Hornbeck said, "is now being subjected to political and economic tests whose forces no one man and no one group of men can control. In the United States an outstanding traditional principle of our national life, that of individual initiative, is being challenged by the principle of collective organization and control. A country which has been not at all receptive to the idea of state socialism has been for some years past engaged in helping its citizens combat the undeniable evils of the organized traffic in alcohol by official prohibition of that traffic.

"A country which has been most positive in asserting the benefits of economic individualism is appropriating half a billion dollars to assist its farmers to organize and coördinate their efforts under the direction and yith the support of the government."

U. S. Naval Officer Pleads Right to Answer Pacifists

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 31.—[Special.]—The current administration policy of muzzling the utterances of naval officers was attacked as harmful of the navy today by Lieutenant Commander F. E. M. Whiting, head of the navy recruiting station at Newark, N. J., in an article appearing in the September number of the United States Naval institute proceedings.

Calling attention to the fact that "pacifist organizations, backed by large funds, were constantly attempting to cruch the navy," Lieutenant Commander Whiting urged that naval officers be permitted to go to the country and frankly and freely tell the people all the facts about the navy's status and its needs. Under present conditions, he stated, only the pacifist argument reaches the public.

Criticizes Silence Policy.

The Whiting article criticized the prevailing navy policy of cautioning officers to be "careful what you say." It also questioned the wisdom of the navy's custom of shrouding all new developments under a cloud of secrecy, thus making it difficult for the public to get the facts.

"It seems," he writes, "that the time has come when we must radically develop our naval publicity policy to educate our officers to go amongst the people and talk. It appears that we should encourage officers young and old to tell the country its needs and to cease to be the 'silent service.'

"Our very system of government requires the fullest publicity on all subjects—the public demands it. To the average American the only purpose of a navy is to permit him to proceed in the even tenor of his way without interference or molestation from an outside source. We may talk about protection of trade routes, communications, containing an enemy's fleet, etc., in military terms and phrases and it will pas off his back as water off a duck. We must express our needs to him in a language he will readily understand.

"Education and indoctrination in the navy has always been along lines of 'not talking' for publication. Even in some assignments to duty there has ever been the idea, 'careful what you say.'"

Wants Muzzle Taken Off.

Lieutenant Commander Whiting takes the navy to task for its policy of secrecy concerning new developments, pointing out that the facts must always come out sooner or later in congress. Discussing the steady pacifist attempt to reduce navy funds, he says:

"The pacifists use every means to prevent the navy from accomplishing its legitimate purpose, so why should we not use every fair means and argument to acquaint the citizens of this country with its needs.

"If the civilian knows what we are endeavoring to accomplish, he will back us by advancing funds. If, however, only the pacifist reaches his ear, it makes our position doubly difficult.

"Future international conferences are not far distant. If the navy has carefully educated the rising generation it need have little to fear about the outcome of any conference or of the country's not maintaining a strong navy afterwards. We have many friends anxious to help, but there are also many enemies with large funds available ready to crush us. Let us go to the country frankly and freely, but as naval officers let us go to the country in the language it understands."

PROPOSES WORLD PLACE ARMIES IN HANDS OF LEAGUE

Paul-Boncour Would Let Geneva Run Wars.

[Copyright: 1931: By the Associated Press.]

PARIS, Aug. 31.—Joseph Paul-Boncour, foreign affairs chairman of the chamber of deputies, today issued a statement in which he proposed that the armed forces of every nation be placed at the disposal of the league of nations to put down wars of aggression.

M. Paul-Boncour, who will be one of France's principal delegates to the league disarmament conference in February, declared France was ready to take that momentous step.

J. PAUL-BONCOUR. [A. P. Photo.]

"Are other nations, like us, ready?" he asked. "Are they willing to put their permanent air, naval and land forces under the control and at the disposal of the league of nations?"

League Would Hold "Mortgages."

Under his plan, the league of nations council would exercise "an international mortgage" on the forces of the nations in the event of a war of aggression. This "mortgage" would be exercised under article XVI. of the league covenant, which provides for the severance of all trade or financial relations by members of the league with a state which has committed the act of aggression.

The article also authorizes the league council to recommend to the governments what effective military, naval or air forces they should contribute to put down an aggression.

M. Paul-Boncour attempted to refute the German and Italian idea that it is impossible to bring about absolute equality of armaments among nations. He asked anybody to prove that mathematical parity is workable or possible and characterized as duplicity any effort to establish it.

He pointed to the fact that the United States and England have proclaimed superiority in naval strength as proof that equality of armaments cannot be realized.

Not a New Idea.

In official French circles tonight it was pointed out that, while the government cannot accept responsibility for M. Paul-Boncour's utterances, the idea of turning armed forces over to the league is not entirely new, since the late Leon Bourgeois proposed the institution of a general military staff at the Versailles peace conference.

U. S. COLD TO PLAN.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 31.—[Special.]—The proposal advanced by Joseph Paul Boncour in Paris that the nations of the world place their armed forces under the control of the league of nations after next year's disarmament conference met with a cold reception in Washington official circles. Neither the White House nor state department made an official comment, it was made clear that such a step would be "impossible."

In official quarters here the Boncour proposal was regarded as a move on the part of France to determine the attitude of the new national British government on the old subject of pooling of armaments.

The prediction by M. Boncour that France would take the leadership in next year's disarmament conference was read with interest by officials.

Austro-German Project Is Killed by Ruling.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, Aug. 31.—The secretary of the league of nations has received from the world court at The Hague a verdict declaring the proposed Austro-German customs agreement illegal. This was learned tonight from usually reliable sources. The verdict will be made public before the league council in the next day or two.

It is understood that the objections of the world court are based not on a possible violation of the treaty of Saint Germain, but of the protocol of 1922, in which Austria specifically undertook to maintain her economic and political independence in return for financial assistance from the big powers.

No Battle Expected.

It is considered certain that Julius Curtius, German foreign minister, and Johann Schober, Austrian foreign minister, will accept the blow with the traditional good grace of prospective borrowers.

In anticipation of a properly meet reaction by Austria, international financiers today renewed loans which have been keeping Austria going the last few months. These are notably 150,000,000 Austrian schillings [$10,714,000] loaned by the World bank, and the same amount loaned by the Bank of England.

The coördinating committee of the Pan-European commission met today to consider a proposal submitted by Maxim Litvinov, Russian commissar of foreign affairs, for a general economic nonaggression pact. Audre Francois-Poncet, French delegate, tried hard to have the plan referred to the league economic committee, where it could have been kept on ice indefinitely.

Germany Backs Scheme.

Litvinov, vigorously seconded by Dr. Curtius and Dino Grandi, Italian foreign minister, insisted upon immediate action. The committee finally agreed to pass the plan over to a subcommittee which will edit it and report back to the coördinating committee tomorrow or Wednesday.

ANNUL MARRIAGE OF LOUISE MILES AND G. W. LEHMANN

Circuit Judge Ralph J. Dady of Waukegan yesterday annuled the marriage of Mrs. Louise Miles Lehmann, 18 years old, of the Webster hotel, to George W. Lehmann, son of Edward J. Lehmann, former president of the Fair store.

The young couple eloped to Waukegan early on the morning of May 1 and were married there. Both gave their ages as 21. Mrs. Lehmann and her mother, Mrs. Catherine K. Miles, testified that she left her bridegroom immediately after the marriage and has never lived with him. Young Lehmann's father testified that the youth is only 20 years old and is dependent upon his parents for support.

The annulment bill was filed yesterday morning by Attorney John D Black of Winston, Strawn & Shaw, representing Mrs. Lehmann. Judge Dady granted an immediate hearing in his chambers on Mrs. Lehmann's plea that she is entering the University of Chicago this fall and would be unable to leave her classes to attend a later court hearing. Attorney James H. Pricer of Waukegan was appointed guardian ad litem for young Lehmann, and he was represented by Butler, Foster, Pope & Ballard.

Takes Honors in Handicap Sweepstakes.

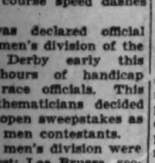
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., Aug. 31.—[Special.]—After flying for a week from Santa Monica, Cal., to the national air races under way here and winning not only first place in the women's division of the transcontinental sweepstakes handicap air Derby, but first place in the open sweepstakes as well over several men pilots, Phoebe Omlie, Memphis, aviatrix, had a good night's sleep and took two first places in closed course speed dashes this afternoon.



MRS. PHOEBE OMLIE. [A. P. Photo.]

Mrs. Omlie was declared official winner of the women's division of the transcontinental Derby early this morning after hours of handicap computation by race officials. This evening the mathematicians decided she had won the open sweepstakes as well over several men contestants.

Winners in the men's division were D. C. Warren, first; Lee Brusse, second; Eldon Cessa, third, and Marcellus King, fourth.

Takes Two Speed Events.

This afternoon Mrs. Omlie entered two speed dashes, for women flying planes with no more than 650 cubic inch piston displacement, on six laps of a five mile course, and for women flying planes with not more than 510 cubic inch piston displacement, over six laps of a five mile course. She took first place with ease in both events, winning $750 in the first and $500 in the second, a total of $1,250 during the afternoon, after ending a race yesterday that will return her more than $6,000 in cash for first place in the women's division and lap prizes, and a $2,500 automobile for first place in the sweepstakes.

Mrs. Omlie is flying a Warner powered monocoupe, which she handles with skill at the pylons. In the two events this afternoon she left her closest competitors behind at the take-off and steadily increased her lead. Mae Haizlip, wife of Racing Pilot Jimmy Haizlip, took second place in both events and prizes totaling $750, and Maude I. Tait took both thirds, and prizes totaling $500. Both Mrs. Haizlip and Mrs. Tait flew "Gee Bee" low wing monoplanes, powered with Menasco and Warner motors, respectively.

Disagreement with the handicapping by race officials, which she blamed for landing her in sixth place in the women's division of the Derby, caused Mrs. Gladys O'Donnell, winner of last year's Derby, to consider filing a protest. Mrs. O'Donnell pointed out she had covered all of the laps in the smallest elapsed time and in spite of this had only made sixth place, because of her handicap, which she claims is far too high. Her protest is, not as yet official.

John H. Livingston of Aurora, Ill., who has won more first places in air race events than any other living pilot, ran true to form this afternoon by capturing the thirty mile speed dash for men flying planes with no more than 510 cubic inch piston displacement, six laps on a five mile closed course. Livingston took a $400 prize, flying his Warner powered monocoupe at 148.791 miles an hour maximum speed.

Speed Dash Starts Today.

Latest word received by race officials as to the start of the Vincent Bendix trophy speed dash from Los Angeles to Cleveland for $15,000 in prizes is that the eight planes entered will take off Wednesday morning at 5 o'clock, Los Angeles time [8 o'clock Cleveland and Chicago time].

Besides previously announced entries James Goodwin Hall, New York flyer and wealthy broker, and Beeler Blevins of Atlanta, Ga., will fly two Lockheed planes in the dash, Hall an Altair, and Blevins an Orion, both Wasp powered. The race was postponed from this morning by the six contestants to allow Hall and Blevins to file their entries and then weather delayed the start another day.

Hall and Blevins will be flying against some of the country's best speed pilots, notably Maj. James H. Doolittle, Harold S. Johnson of Chicago, Capt. Ira C. Eaker, Lou Reichers, Walter J. Hunter of the Chicago endurance flying Hunter brothers, and James Weddel.

C. S. Reitzel, flying a Waco biplane, cracked it up coming in for a dead stick landing contest this afternoon by side slipping it into the ground to the left. He was uninjured but the plane was greatly damaged.

WARTIME ENEMIES MEET AGAIN AT AIR RACES AS FRIENDS

Col. Edward V. Rickenbacker, American ace and commander of the famous wartime 94th pursuit squadron, swapped stories with Maj. Ernst Udet, who took command of Baron von Richthofen's flying circus after the baron was shot out of the sky. Udet was a member of the Richthofen circus when it flew above Chateau Thierry just after the United States entered the war and it was over that sector he and Rickenbacker met in a dog fight. They exchanged friendly reminiscences of the incidents of their first meeting in the air.

Again the two met, over the Argonne, in several other air battles. In all, Udet was credited with 62 planes and Rickenbacker with 26. They met a third time over St. Mihiel as Udet's division fought desperately to cover the German retreat.

SEIZED ON RUM CHARGE AFTER HE BUMPS DRY'S CAR

Contractor Tells Story of His Arrest.

Edward Fasting, president of the Fasting Construction company at 228 North La Salle street, has learned that it is a grave offense to disturb the serenity of a prohibition agent parked in his automobile on a lonely road at 1 o'clock in the morning.

Rand road was slippery on Sunday morning as Fasting was driving out to meet his family at their cottage at Lake Zurich. Just this side of Lake Zurich he saw the parked car of Prohibition Agent Herman P. Kroenke, who was sitting there with his wife and a friend, John Winkler.

Fasting said he put on his brakes, because the road was partly blocked by the other car. His car skidded, and the back end grazed a fender of Agent Kroenke's car.

Ordered Out of Car.

"Then this agent, without saying who he was, got out of his car and ordered me out," said Fasting. "I thought it was a stickup. He gave his gun to his friend and told him to put me in their car. 'Fill him full of lead if he makes a move,' he said. Then this other man, who isn't even connected with the government, searched my car and found two pints of whisky and some White Rock which I was taking out to the cottage.

"He asked me 'What about the fender?' and before I could show him my insurance card he said, 'Insurance, hell; what about settling now?' I started to talk about settling, but he took me over to Lake Zurich and put me in jail.

"I stayed there until 7 o'clock last night. Chief Prehm told me I could go at noon, when the age it was supposed to be there. He never showed up, but I stayed until 7. I came down voluntarily this morning and here I am, charged with possessing and transporting liquor, and they still have my car, after driving around out in the country with it over the weekend."

Arraigned on Booze Charge.

When Fasting was arraigned before United States Commissioner Walker on the complaint filed by the dry agent Kroenke testified that the defendant was intoxicated when the traffic mishap occurred. Fasting did not testify at his hearing, but he said later that all the drinking he had done was to take two drinks with his dinner Saturday evening.

"The accident happened seven hours later and I hadn't had a drop," he said. "The pints hadn't been opened."

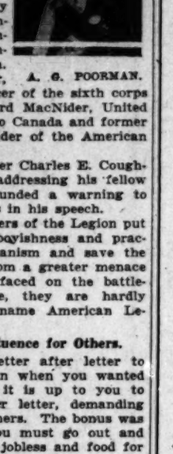
LEGION WARNED TO HELP OTHERS AS IT DID ITSELF

Duty in Unemployment Pointed Out.

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 31.—[Special.]—Upwards of 75,000 persons from all parts of the state gathered to view the huge parade and demonstration which featured the state gathering of the American Legion here today despite rain. Arthur Poorman, state commander called the convention to order.



A. G. POORMAN.

Addresses by several distinguished men, including Gov. Emmerson, Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commanding officer of the sixth corps area, and Hanford MacNider, United States minister to Canada and former national commander of the American Legion.

The Rev. Father Charles E. Coughlin, Detroit, in addressing his fellow Legionnaires, sounded a warning to the war veterans in his speech.

"Unless members of the Legion put aside their playboyishness and practice real Americanism and save the United States from a greater menace than that they faced on the battlefields of France, they are hardly worthy of the name American Legion," he said.

Must Use Influence for Others.

"You wrote letter after letter to your congressman when you wanted the bonus, now it is up to you to write letter after letter, demanding something for others. The bonus was for yourself. You must go out and get jobs for the jobless and food for the hungry," he averred.

Louis E. Kauffman, retiring chef de gare of Peoria county voiture of La Societe des 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux, was chosen grand cheminot of the third district.

Mr. Kauffman was also honored by being named a delegate to the national promenade at Detroit, Sept. 21 and 24.

Harry A. Meador, Quincy, was elected grand chef de gare of the state Forty and Eight on the first ballot, being unanimously chosen.

ASKED TO STOP DEMANDS

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 31.—(AP)—Spokesmen of the Hoover administration urged a letup by former service men in their demands for additional federal appropriations in addresses today at the annual encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, but found the organization's commander-in-chief pressing for action by congress on new legislation.

Frank T. Hines, administrator of veterans' affairs, and Ernest Lee Jahncke, assistant secretary of the navy, presented pleas for a delay in committing the government to further expenditures for war veterans and their dependents.

Paul Wolman of Baltimore, V. F. W. commander-in-chief, told the delegates that existing legislation was not adequate and outlined what he said was the program the organization hoped to have enacted by congress.

Hines urged that veterans' organizations ask for no more until they have determined by a careful study the ultimate cost of laws already on the books.

He said the immediate need was to obtain jobs for able bodied, unemployed veterans, adding the veterans' bureau was working with the labor department to provide employment.

DOCTOR ACCUSED OF FORGERY PLOT TO GET ESTATE

Named with 14 Others in Will Fight.

Dr. Edmund J. Bollo, 89 year old Detroit physician, and fourteen other persons were charged yesterday by two investigators with a conspiracy to get the $65,000 estate of Mrs. Ida Marcoux, aged recluse who died in June, 1931, by means of a forged will. The three involved testified in support of the validity of the will leaving Dr. Bollo the estate.

The charges were made before Oscar Caplan, assistant to Probate Judge Harrison, before whom the will fight has been waged for more than a year. Elmer B. Elder, assistant state's attorney, is seeking to have the will declared invalid and the Marcoux property awarded to the state.

Charge Forged Will Plot.

The witnesses, presented by Elder, were Frank X. Sullivan, an investigator for the public administrator of Cook county, who has been working secretly on the Marcoux case for six months, and William B. Lee, an investigator for the state's attorney. Both asserted that Dr. Bollo approached them with a proposition to obtain the estate by a forged will. Dr. Bollo told him, Sullivan testified, that Mrs. Marcoux had lived with him prior to 1895, and that when she came to Chicago in that year, she executed an agreement under which she offered him all her property if he would leave his wife and children and accompany her. Sullivan quoted the aged physician as saying:

"If we can't find that one we can arrange easily to make a new will. I'm a chemist and I can make the kind of ink used in the seventies, and I have some paper which is more than twenty years old."

Lee also testified that Dr. Bollo broached to him the subject of "getting together" on a forged will. He also charged that the doctor said that it would be better to write the will in pencil, since even if an old formula were used for the ink a chemist might determine its actual age. The will, as finally presented, was written in pencil.

Caplan continued the hearing until Sept. 29. If Dr. Bollo and his witnesses appear on that date perjury proceedings may be started, Elder said.

THIRTEEN YEAR OLD TRAP FINALLY LANDS SUSPECTED MURDER

Fall River, Mass., Aug. 31.—(AP)—A trap set thirteen years ago has snapped about William Brown, 55, and today he was on his way back to Massachusetts from Tennessee to face an indictment for killing his wife.

A pension based on his service in the Spanish-American war led to Brown's arrest at the soldiers' home in Johnson City, Tenn. Word was sent back to Massachusetts today that Brown had waived extradition and was returning to Fall River in the custody of two officers.

Since 1918 Massachusetts authorities had searched United States and Canada for Brown. It was in the pension bureau at Washington, where, sooner or later, the authorities believed, Brown would apply for payments on his pension. Arrangements had been made to trace immediately any communications from him and just such a request, made a week ago, led to his arrest.

In the fall of 1918 men working along the water front uncovered the body of a woman who proved to be Brown's wife.

The medical examiner said the slayer had strangled and beaten the woman and then dissected the body skillfully with sharp knives.

At the Johnson City soldiers' home, Brown told police he had been in the veterans' home at Danville, Ill., until June, when he transferred to the Johnson City institution.

MILLERS STORM AT WHEAT-COFFEE DEAL WITH BRAZIL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 31.—[Special.]—A new wave of protests over the action of the federal farm board in trading 25,000,000 bushels of wheat to Brazil for 1,050,000 bags of coffee came from the milling business to the White House today immediately after it was learned that Brazil had declared an embargo on imports of flour from the United States.

This embargo was laid down on Friday, but not made known either to the state department or the department of commerce until today. Under the terms of a decree by the Brazilian government empowering the minister of finance to apportion the farm board wheat among Brazilian millers, the Brazilian government also shut out flour imports for eighteen months.

Protests to the White House from several organizations of millers were referred to the state department and the farm board for study. One of the protests made public there stated that the Brazilian decree cuts off a market for United States flour which has been worth about $4,000,000 annually in recent years.

Shipping Interests Aroused.

The protests of the millers came on the heels of numerous others protesting the deal on behalf of American shipping interests, because of the fact that all shipping of wheat and coffee was left to Brazil, which was taken as meaning automatically that foreign lines would carry these commodities.

In reply to these protests it was made known that the White House approved the action of the farm board in negotiating the contract which left the shipping up to Brazil.

A third element also entered into the wheat-coffee barter today with the recognition unofficially that relations between the United States and Argentina have not been helped by the deal. Argentina heretofore has been the granary for Brazil, which purchased virtually all of its annual requirements of 10,000,000 bushels from the neighboring South American republic. The farm board deal virtually killed that Argentine market for at least two years.

Text of Brazilian Decree.

A brief report of the Brazilian decree to the commerce department was announced there as follows:

"A Brazilian decree dated Aug. 28, 1931, approving the exchange between Brazil and the United States of 1,275,000 bags of types 3 and 4 of coffee for 25,000,000 bushels of hard winter No. 2 wheat, authorizes the minister of finance to transfer the wheat to Brazilian millers and prohibits the importation of flour for eighteen months, effective immediately, according to a cable to the department of commerce dated Aug. 29 from Commercial Attaché Carlton Jackson, Rio de Janeiro."

Buffalo Mills Hard Hit.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 31.—[Special.]—The Brazilian embargo on wheat and flour will be a hard blow to millers here and in several southern cities, where most of the flour for export to South America is milled.

Frank F. Henry, executive in charge of the Buffalo mills of the Washburn-Crosby Flour Milling company, said tonight that if his firm is unable to export to Brazil it will mean that the total output of the mills will be reduced 12 per cent. As much of the flour exported by the company to Brazil is milled in Buffalo, the embargo may force curtailment of operations here to even a larger extent. Mr. Henry was not prepared to say what action might be taken by his company.

The flour industry throughout the country would suffer as the result of the embargo, he said, inasmuch as the average export trade from American mills runs around 850,000 barrels annually.

FARM BOARD ALL THROUGH BUYING GRAIN OR COTTON

Admits Finally There's No Use Going On.

There is nothing new about the cooperative movement. But there is much that is new in this effort of a government body backed by the public funds to put across a social revolution.

Marketing System in Balance.

If the cooperative movement succeeds it will mean that the man who supplies the nation with food and industry with many of its raw materials will be in control of his own marketing machinery for the first time in history.

It will be one of the largest slaughters of middlemen on record. Commodities exchanges, such as the Chicago Board of Trade, would be wiped out. The farmer would be doing his own marketing. This has begun already. More than one large sale of wheat has detoured around the grain exchanges and has been handled directly between the Farmers' National Grain corporation and the millers.

Many distributors of farm products will be shoved to the wall. Minnesota's Land o' Lakes dairy products, federally financed, have already been retailed as far east as Philadelphia in competition with the private trade.

Ordered by Congress.

The government is doing this. Congress ordered it. The administration approved it. The farm board with its half billion dollar revolving fund is carrying it out.

Ultimately, under the plan, cooperatives are to go ahead alone without help from anybody.

While it's being done, however, private enterprise is going to get hurt. And will it be done?

Whether it will or not depends in large part on the coming congress.

With the continued aid of the farm board, the cooperative movement is expected to succeed. It is growing. During the year 1930-'31 there were 12,000 farm cooperative associations in the United States, with a membership of 3,000,000 producers, or about 2,000,000 producers taking into account duplications of memberships. More than 1,000,000 producers were getting or were entitled to get help from the farm board through their associations.

CUDAHY COMPANY TO BUY COTTON TILL PRICE RISES

Overproduced cotton farmers of the south have found a new buyer, it developed yesterday, with the announcement of E. A. Cudahy Jr., president of the Cudahy Packing company, that 10 per cent of the company's southern sales up to Dec. 1 would be invested in the outright purchase of cotton on the open market.

Mr. Cudahy asserted that the total sales of his company's products in the south would probably mean that about $1,000,000 worth of cotton could be purchased. It will be held by the company for one year, or until the price of cotton returns to ten cents a pound, in an effort to help stabilize southern commodity prices, he said.

Each of the 88 branches of this packing concern, whose headquarters are at 111 West Monroe street, was notified by the president by wire of his determination "to extend whatever assistance is in our power to alleviate the effects of the depression in the south by purchasing a substantial quantity of the south's principal crop."

The Cudahy plan in substance is similar to that by which William Wrigley a few months ago offered to invest all profits from southern sales of his company in cotton. The International Harvester company also recently announced an exchange value for wheat in the purchase of farm machinery in certain trading areas. Both plans are still in operation.

Moscow Ends Food Ration System on Three Items

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Aug. 31.—For the first time in four years members of government cooperatives in Moscow are permitted to purchase macaroni, rice, and tea at stores without presenting ration cards. The Isvestia today published an announcement of the food supply department that there is sufficiency of these supplies. Rationing of other supplies, however, continues.

PURSE SNATCHER SENTENCED.

George Ward, 6039 Woodlawn avenue, was sentenced to ninety days in the Bridewell and fined $25 yesterday by Municipal Judge Francis Borrelli for an attempt to snatch the purse of Miss Charlotte Saunders, 912 Ernst court, at State and Monroe streets on Saturday.

RENT REDUCTION PLAN TRIED BY BROOKLYN APARTMENT HOUSES

New York, Aug. 31.—[Special.]—A 25 per cent rental reduction to jobless persons and three months' free rent if the breadwinner of a family dies will be provided for tenants in a group of apartment houses in Brooklyn, Richard I. N. Weingart, president of the Kings County Housing corporation, announced today.

"Every new lease made from now on," said Mr. Weingart, "will carry a rider providing for the allowances."

STATE REVEALS NEW EVIDENCES OF BOND FRAUD

Collusion Between Police and Bondsmen Seen.

Fresh evidence of illegal acts by bondsmen who operate in the Municipal court was brought to light yesterday by Assistant State's Attorneys Julius Skrydlewsky and Justus Mozart. The prosecutors charged that the evidence indicated collusion between the bondsmen and policemen and Municipal court clerks.

Among the bondsmen whose actions have aroused State's Attorney Swanson and Chief Justice Sonsteby of the Municipal court is Stanley Herold, 4325 South Michigan avenue. During July he signed 19 bonds and 20 during August. He is without a license required by the new bond law.

In the investigation it was discovered that only four of the bonds Herold signed were sent to the bond court, where the title to the property posted as surety and the number of bonds posted against it are investigated.

Prosecutor Charges Laxity.

"This," said Prosecutor Mozart, "is one way to avoid prosecution. It discloses, moreover, the fact that there has been extreme slackness on the part of the policemen and clerks accepting the bonds, and certainly some knavery."

Seven bonds signed during August by Harry B. Hoff, 5004 South Michigan avenue, also an unlicensed bondsman, gave evidence of teamwork between the police and the bail givers, according to the prosecutors. On none of the schedules could the address of the bondsman or the answers to any of the questions be read. The blank spaces were filled in with jagged lines. One bond had been filled out by Hoff, who presumably had forgotten to sign it. The signature had been supplied by another person whose writing was entirely different.

Tell of Bond Practice.

Prosecutor Mozart said he had been informed that it had become the habit of certain bondsmen to fill out a number of bail schedules, leaving blank the defendant's name, the crime, and the dates. A sheaf of such schedules ordinarily was left in the hands of a desk sergeant in a police station. When prisoners were brought in the sergeants used the bonds without bothering to summon the bondsman to the station. Such, Mozart said, were the bonds scheduled by Hoff.

EXPERT SOUNDS RELIEF TO HAY FEVER VICTIMS

Hay fever victims may begin to take heart, according to O. C. Durham, botanist, who said yesterday that the peak of the hay fever season is past. Yesterday's pollen count as recorded by Durham at the federal building was 287, signifying the number of pollen granules per cubic yard of air. It is sensitivity to pollen which causes hay fever symptoms.

The peak was reached last Friday, when the pollen count in the loop was 292, according to Durham, who predicted that it will go gradually downward from now on, the pollen being insufficient to cause much suffering after a period of from 10 to 13 days more.

	1930.	1931.
Aug. 24	144	143
Aug. 25	54	46
Aug. 26	71	27
Aug. 27	90	192
Aug. 28	170	292
Aug. 29	25	180
Aug. 30	392	72
Aug. 31	236	287

This year's average of pollen is slightly higher than last year's, the count in the loop showed. The highest pollen count ever registered at the Chicago airport, where a record also is kept, was that of 1,400 registered Aug. 27.

CAPT. GROSS HERE FOR COURT FIGHT OVER DAUGHTER

Capt. Christian Channing Gross, attaché of the American embassy at Ottawa, arrived in Chicago yesterday to appear this morning before Judge Joseph B. David on a motion to determine the paternity of the third child of his former wife, Virginia Harrison Gross, daughter of Francis Burton Harrison, former governor general of the Philippines. Capt. Gross spent the night in conference with his attorney, Frank Cantwell, at the latter's cottage in Long Beach, Ind.

CAPT. GROSS.

Attorney Cantwell served notice on Attorney T. H. Fisher, representing Mrs. Gross, that a petition will be presented in behalf of Gross this morning. Gross is to seek modification of a divorce decree, obtained by him, to gain custody of a daughter, Anna, born three months after his separation from Mrs. Gross. He avers he did not know of the child's existence until recently.

"Out-of-date" describes this couple now. And it also describes refrigerators that were considered modern a few years ago.

Electrolux—with no moving parts—has simplified automatic refrigeration

ELECTROLUX is one automatic refrigerator that will be as good years from now as it is today. It is built on a simple principle, unaffected by wear and tear. Electrolux has no moving parts at all. Nothing but a tiny gas flame and a tiny flow of water to circulate the refrigerant.

Therefore it never makes a sound, and costs less to use than any other refrigerator. About five cents a day pays for all the gas and water used.

The refrigerant is hermetically sealed in a rigid steel unit. The gas flame is completely protected by an automatic shut-off. Connections for gas and water are through concealed flexible copper tubing.

More than 175,000 homes all over the country now have perfect refrigeration because they have Electrolux.

There are eleven different household models to choose from. Prices no higher, despite the many advantages of this refrigerator. Perfect service by your gas company, should your Electrolux ever need adjustment.

Displayed at all gas company showrooms. For complete information by mail, write us or phone Wabash 6000 today.

THE SENATOR—a roomy, beautiful Electrolux model—extremely popular for families of 4 to 6 persons.

RUSSIAN TROOPS BATTLE MOSLEM REBEL HORDES

Revolt Flares in Turkestan; 6 Million Armed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 31.—Dispatches received here today said heavy fighting is raging [illegible] on the banks of the Oxus [Amu] river between the Soviets and Turkmans, Uzbegs, and the Bokharans. There has been a ferment in Turkestan for the last five years. The more recent infliction of Russian five year industrialization plans has fallen heavily on the population, which is devoutedly Mohammedan. They are further incensed at the closing of their schools and mosques, as well as at interference with their laws on marriage, divorce, and inheritance.

Uprising in Turkestan.

Heretofore they have been cowed by the soviet foreign legion, which is composed of Indians and Pathans. Last month Ibraham Beg of Bohkara, the Robin Hood of central Asia, fled Russian territory and stirred up border tribes, with the result that an uprising has spread to Turkestan.

Outbreaks occurred at Kara Kum at Kizil, Askabad, and Merv, and in Semirechie, Soviet forces, rushing into Turkestan, found that territory's population of 6,000,000 persons armed. The soviets declare that some of the rebels seized were the old Lee Metford rifles, which were replaced by the British army some years ago by the Lee Enfield rifles.

Kashmir, on the Turkestan border, has the best military equipped Indian state. The maharajah recently replaced his troops and gun runners smuggled the old weapons across the border.

Simla Is Alarmed.

It is reported that the Moslems of Chinese Turkestan, Kashgar, and Yarkand are helping their co-religionists. There are about 20,000,000 Chinese Moslems on the Indian frontier and an outbreak is causing alarm in Simla. Moustafa Chekov, a native of Bokara, who is now in London, accuses the soviets of a deliberate policy which completes the extermination of the Moslems, who occupy the rich, fertile watershed of the river Oxus [Amu].

New Zealand Faces Radical Upheaval as Election Nears

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WELLINGTON, N. Z., Aug. 31.—The main rolls have closed for the general election in New Zealand next October and 514,000 persons are already listed as entitled to vote in what is considered the most critical election for many years, with the threat of Labor-Socialist supremacy hanging over the country.

Now the third party in the present house of representatives, in which no party holds a majority, Labor is expected to reap a rich benefit from the strife between the two moderate parties, United [government] and Reform [ex-government]. Thousands of dissatisfied voters, irritated by the policy of restriction and retrenchment pursued by the United party, which was elected on promises of easy money for all and has remained to legislate down wages and raise taxes, are expected to swing to Labor in the coming election.

Taxes Up 30 Per Cent.

Thousands of civil servant employes have been dismissed and taxes have gone up by almost 30 per cent since the new government began its economy drive. In addition to this, many paternalistic services, to which the people had grown accustomed, have been curtailed or discontinued.

A final blow to the government's chances was a budget which decreed that all wage earners receiving $1,200 a year must pay income tax. The previous low level limit was $1,500. The government also has raised the surtax on big incomes from 10 per cent to 30 per cent.

More and more, popular imagination is being captured by the promise held out by the Labor-Socialists that the wages of capital must also be compulsorily decreased. Labor will go to the country with a platform advocating legislating downward all earnings in the shape of interest, profit, or rent.

Moderates Fight Each Other.

This, it is considered certain, means a heavy vote for Labor.

The United and Reform parties intend to fight to the death, and Reform knows that the government is already largely discredited. The trouble is that Reform shares discredit because of legislative extravagance and lack of political purpose shown at the end of its seventeen year period of office that terminated in 1928.

A deficit of $3,195,000 was shown in New Zealand's finances for the financial year just ended and there is a prospective deficit of $34,250,000 to be covered by extra taxation during the next year.

NATIONAL GUARD FIELD KITCHENS WILL FEED IDLE

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 31.—[Special.]—Use of four Indiana National Guard's field kitchens for feeding unemployed at Clinton, Ind., was approved today by Maj. Gen. Dennis E. Nolan, commander of the 5th corps army area, Fort Hayes, Columbus, O. David H. Brown, district representative of the American Red Cross, said the situation at Clinton was serious, especially because of the large number of unemployed miners. He said the Red Cross served 26,000 meals to school pupils at Clinton last year.

Brown approved the idea of using the army field kitchens this fall and winter at Clinton. He said he would return from Clinton in time to confer with Gov. Leslie. A consignment of food will be sent to Clinton along with the rolling kitchens.

The governor's office was asked to aid Clinton last week, Mayor Henry Owen and G. E. Bingham, chairman of the Clinton chapter of the Red Cross, making the appeal. They said 2,000 persons were out of work and their families in immediate need.

MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL FILED BY MOONEY LAWYER

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 31.—(AP)—Carl L. Shinn, Oakland attorney, filed a motion in Superior court here today asking for a new trial for Thomas Mooney, charging his conviction was "fraudulently conceived and procured."

Shinn said he acted with the authorization of Mooney, who is serving a life sentence in San Quentin prison for alleged participation in the bombing of a preparedness parade here in 1916. Ten persons were killed.

The chief basis of the petition is the allegation that Charles Fickert, district attorney when Mooney was tried, and his assistant, Edward Cunha, "willfully" permitted false testimony to be given.

"This is the first time," Shinn said, "that extrinsic fraud has been alleged in the Mooney case. Heretofore intrinsic fraud—perjury of witnesses—has been alleged, but the courts have held they could not interfere."

ASSAILS NELSON IN INQUIRY ON BANK FAILURE

Summoned as Witness by Lake County Jury.

thorization for this loan by the board of directors. It is carried on the books in the category of "bills payable" and with no explanatory notation."

True bills voted against Mr. Geyer and Mr. Stenger are certain to result in their trial on charges of accepting deposits while aware of the bank's insolvency, according to the prosecutor. Mr. Connors is to be indicted in connection with a $9,000 loan he is alleged to have negotiated through a friend acting as "dummy."

Bank "Busted"; Deposits Taken.

On June 17, some hours before the bank closed, witnesses are reported to have told the grand jury, Mr. Geyer informed Mr. Stenger that the bank was "shot," and Mr. Stenger told his private secretary the bank was "busted." The officers continued to accept deposits until 3:15 p. m., fifteen minutes after the regular closing hour, Col. Smith declared.

Following the bank's closing the state auditor appointed Mr. Geyer receiver for the Second Northwestern State bank of Chicago. He had previously named Mr. Connors receiver of the Citizens' State bank at Keithsburg, Ill. The auditor announced that he had no intention of discharging the receivers.

"An indictment, particularly when procured by a prosecutor like Col. Smith, is no evidence of guilt," said Mr. Nelson. "As for his attacks upon me, it should be borne in mind that he is a candidate for congress. Perhaps that explains also why he is making public grand jury evidence which most prosecutors keep secret."

Chicago Bankers Called.

To cast further light on relations between the Waukegan bank and the Republic bank, now merged with the Central Trust under the name of the Central Republic Bank and Trust company, Col. Smith announced he was summoning eleven Chicagoans, including several large stockholders of the Republic bank, to testify today. Mr. Nelson held 66 shares of Republic bank stock.

The list of witnesses includes John W. O'Leary, David R. Forgan, Hugo E. Otte, Harold S. Castle, and Frank R. Curda. Col. Smith said all would be required to sign immunity waivers.

An earlier witness to be recalled is William Miller, former vice president of the Waukegan bank. Col. Smith said Miller would be questioned anew regarding the dispatch by messenger of $24,000 in cash and checks from the Waukegan bank to the Republic bank a few hours before the former institution closed.

Cook County Jury Acts.

The Cook county grand jury was reported to have voted true bills last night against three former officers of the Lake View State bank, 3179 North Clark street, which was closed a year ago with a depositors' loss estimated by the state's attorney's office to be in excess of $800,000.

The three, whose names were withheld, are accused of making false statements to state bank examiners, according to Assistant State's Attorney Henry E. Ayers, bank specialist of the state's attorney's staff.

The Cook county jury also heard evidence yesterday concerning affairs in the Lansing State bank, the South Side Savings Bank and Trust company, and the Montrose Trust and Savings bank. Receivers and their attorneys in all three banks testified.

Depositors Hold Session.

The executive committee of the United Depositors' association held a conference with Auditor Nelson last night and presented him their program for a more speedy liquidation of closed banks. At the request of the Rev. H. Truman Gordon, chairman of the committee, Mr. Nelson's invitation for the press to attend was vetoed, and reporters were excluded.

It was learned, however, that Lewis F. Jacobson, attorney for the association, presented a liquidation plan involving the following factors:

First, organization of a collateral trust of the real estate assets of closed banks against which certificates might be issued.

Second, appointment of assistants of Attorney General Carlstrom to replace private lawyers now counseling receivers.

Third, resignation by receivers of the administration of trust funds of closed banks within thirty days.

The auditor declared all three suggestions impossible because they contravened the state laws. The Supreme court had held, he said, that legal affairs of closed banks could not be administered by assistant attorney generals; that bank receivers must pay depositors in cash only, not in certificates or scrip, and that bank receivers could resign from fund trusteeships only by authority of the courts and with approval of all interested parties.

Bank Closes Its Doors.

The auditor announced the closing last night of the Marquette Park State bank, 6314 South Western avenue, an institution with $300,000 capital, $100,000 surplus and $1,180,000 in deposit liabilities. Depletion of cash and secondary reserve were ascribed as reasons for the closing. The bank had $592,000 in real estate loans. William Brietzke was president and Michael Maizel, original partner of John Bain in the banking business, was a director.

8 MONTHS' AUTO TOLL 797; IS 154 OVER 1930 MARK

Nine Chicagoans Die in Day's Accidents.

The automobile death toll in Cook county for August was 131, according to figures compiled last night by the coroner. In the seven preceding months 666 persons met death in motor accidents making the year's toll to date 797. This is an increase of 154 over the corresponding eight months of 1930.

Eight fatalities were recorded yesterday in the county and in addition two Chicagoans were killed on country highways when automobiles in which they were riding overturned in ditches.

Girl Killed in Crash.

Irene Williams, 18 years old, 2900 Jackson boulevard, was crushed when the car in which she was riding left the road and overturned north of Lake Villa. The car was driven by Harry Smith, 14 years old, son of Fred R. Smith, an insurance broker living at 5136 North Mansfield avenue. The Williams and the Smith families have summer cottages at Cedar Lake, near Lake Villa.

James Evans, 20 years old, 3961 South Artesian avenue, was pinned beneath the steering wheel of his automobile and fatally injured near Ottawa when a bee stung him on the cheek and caused him to lose control of the machine. The car swerved into a ditch and overturned. His grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wright; his aunt, Mrs. Albert Weber, and a cousin, Albert Weber Jr., 12 years old, all of Chicago, sustained minor hurts. They were returning from Starved Rock.

List Victims in County.

The victims in Cook county yesterday were:

Clarence Cramer, 11 years old, 2301 South Albany avenue. Killed when he fell beneath the wheels of a truck after taking a piece of ice from another vehicle which was passing in front of his home.

Milford Ghirke, 10 years old, 5419 Wentworth avenue. Fatally injured when she was struck by an automobile driven by Donald McRaey, 19 years old, 1230 South Talman avenue, in front of her home. McRaey was held.

Edward Lockwood, 17 years old, 6847 Dorchester avenue. Died at the Jackson Park hospital from injuries suffered Sunday when the sedan of his brother, Donald, crashed into a telephone pole at 95th street and Clyde avenue.

Edward Savalo, 45 years old, 2055 North Halsted street. Died at the county hospital from injuries suffered Sunday night when he was run down at Chicago avenue and Franklin street. The driver, Edward Alloza, 1645 Julian street, was not held.

William Franks, colored, 63 years old, 420 East 48th place. Died at the county hospital from injuries sustained Aug. 24 when he was struck at 41st street and Wabash avenue. James McDay, 3320 Calumet avenue, the driver, was held.

Stanley Tpak, 45 years old, 2849 North McVicker avenue, died in the Belmont hospital of injuries he suffered when he was struck by a bus at Central avenue and George street. Henry I. Schwartz, 1813 North Kildare, the driver, was not held.

Unidentified man of middle age. Died in St. Elizabeth's hospital of injuries he suffered Saturday night when he was struck by an automobile at Charleston street and Western avenue. Philip Gasikowski, 34 years old, 2213 North Rockwell street, the driver, sped on without stopping, but was pursued by Sergt. Benjamin Finnell of the Shakespeare police and seized.

Oscar Steinberg, 20 years old, 1636 Ridgeway avenue, a chauffeur, died last night at the Auburn Park hospital of injuries suffered earlier when his automobile collided with a car driven by Wesley Carlson, 20, of Wheaton. The accident occurred at 81st and Wood streets.

Orders Boy Extradited on Charge of $35 Auto Theft

The United States may have to spend approximately $500 to help satisfy an alleged $35 theft. The situation grows out of the case of Wayne Rogers, 17 years old, who is accused of stealing a rented car valued at $35 from Lubbock, Tex. Commissioner Edwin Walker ruled yesterday that Rogers must return to Texas for trial, but deferred entering the formal order to Sept. 8. The removal, it is estimated, will cost nearly $500. Atotrneys David Stansbury and G. Gale Gilbert have interested themselves in the boy's case.

BOYS PLAY GANG, TAKE VICTIM FOR RIDE IN GOCART

New York, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Twenty or thirty children were playing ring-around-a-rosy and "cowboy and injun" in sweltering Harlem one day last month when bullets from a gangsters' car sent five of them to a hospital, one mortally wounded.

Now, while police still are hunting the baby killers, a new game has been inaugurated among the sons and daughters of that "Little Italy" district. "Gangsters-an'-cops" it is called.

In front of a building still marked with bullet holes that form the only plaque to the memory of the slain boy, half a dozen of his former playmates this afternoon were arguing over rules for their new game.

Caps Pulled Over Eyes.

They had carved "machine guns" from packing box boards and wore caps pulled down over their eyes. On one sidewalk a small boy lay on his stomach in a baby carriage with hood up. A toy weapon poked out a broken window. A small express wagon, with sides built on so that it, too, resembled a sedan, stood at the opposite curb.

Down the street youthful owners of a fleet of tricycles and kiddie cars were waiting for the "firing" to begin.

Some one shouted "Let's go!" The baby carriage started careening wildly down one sidewalk. The 7 year old occupant went through furious motions with his stick of wood.

Shouting Lasts 5 Minutes.

The express wagon sped down the other sidewalk. The rit-tat-tat of machine guns was simulated by the child at the "controls" with a pencil he pressed against the spokes of one of the revolving wheels.

Then a whistle blew and the squad of "police" vehicles raced for the scene. Wood-carved weapons were whipped from small overalls pockets. The "shooting" lasted for five minutes, but eventually the "forces of law and order" triumphed.

As the express wagon and baby carriage "gunmen" were being led down an alley to a packing case "jail," protesting they "never done nothin'," Patrolman Micahel Sullivan, whose beat 107th street is, sighed and said:

"I only wish we could get the fellows that shot the kid here last month as easy as those 'cops' on the tricycles got their men."

A DOLLAR FOR DOLE- OR AN HOUR OF WORK?

Which do you prefer to give? Which do you think Labor would prefer to have?

¶ It is more blessed, and better business, to give a man an hour of work than a dollar of dole. The former enriches the one who gives and the one who takes. The latter may impoverish both giver and taker for while one gets nothing for his money, the other may lose his self-respect.

¶ Labor does not want charity. All that it asks is work. And work is ours to give if we will. The very root of our unemployment problem runs down to the unemployed dollar—the dollar that is afraid to venture forth—sometimes through fear of public opinion.

¶ Why not put the unemployed dollar to work? It will, in turn, put men to work. Why fear to buy more than the necessities of life because of what the butcher, the baker, the candlestick maker may think or say?

¶ To buy today is a patriotic duty, not unlike that of the days when we bought Liberty bonds and won a war. We now have another war to win—the war against unemployment and one that touches a great many more directly and more acutely than did the recent years of strife.

¶ No one today can claim a medal for wearing patches when he can afford a new replacement. There are slackers in peace as well as slackers in war. When the slacker dollar goes to work, men will go to work and not before.

¶ The employee should acclaim the employer who buys a new Cadillac, a Lincoln or a Packard. And the employer should just as surely commend the employee who buys a Plymouth, a Chevrolet or a Ford. And so on through the list of motor cars, each offering more for the dollar than ever before.

¶ A dollar spent for a new motor car eases the labor and raw material situation in every State in the Union, for every one of the 48 is called upon for supplies and three out of four furnish finished or semi-finished parts.

¶ Few would hesitate to buy motor cars if all knew how country-wide the immediate effect would be. In 1930 the motor car ranked first in the consumption of steel bars and sheets, nickel and lead and used 51 to 82% of all the malleable iron, rubber, upholstery leather and plate-glass. It also used 18% of our hardwood lumber, 17% of our aluminum, nearly 16% of our steel, 15% of our copper, 14% of our tin, 26% of all leather, 10% of our cotton (and cotton grows in 15 states) and large percentages of scores of other commodities including wool, curled hair, paints and lacquers, all requiring labor in their production.

¶ Hundreds of thousands have run their old cars a year or two longer than usual. Many of these thousands now hesitate to buy new cars for fear of being charged with flaunting their own prosperity or because of what others in business associations may think. In our own clientele we know that in 1930 some 40% of those who should have bought replacement Packards did not do so, keeping their old cars.

¶ I do not counsel you to buy a Packard, or any car, before you buy anything else. Ours is not that selfish attitude. I do believe that the motor car dollar will go more places, more quickly, and affect more people for quick relief than any other dollar and that it can well become the "self starter" for better business and greater prosperity.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

THE MENACE OF TAXATION.

Arthur Henderson, elected to succeed Premier MacDonald as head of the British Labor party, refuses to concede the necessity, much less the advisability, of any modification of British treasury policy. That policy has been a policy of leveling. Its aim is to take from the rich and give to the poor; or, perhaps more accurately, to take from the more affluent and give to the less affluent.

As Henry Wales has shown, present taxation in England takes substantially a fourth of the national income. The government collects a normal tax of 25 per cent of incomes and piles on top of that a supertax on incomes above $10,000. When incomes rise as high as $250,000 a year the tax collector takes half. On top of that, the inheritance taxes are extremely heavy, amounting in the largest estates to as much as 40 per cent of the whole value.

The ethical question of whether it is right and just to take from Jones and give to Brown is one upon which argument can proceed indefinitely. The dispute may be passed over for the moment. The outstanding lesson in the present situation in England is that, whether the purposes of the taxation are sound or unsound in any system of abstract morals, they are unquestionably unsound in practice and in operation. Instead of bringing benefit to the great masses of British subjects the heavy taxtion has brought prostration to the economic life of a nation. If there is no change in the course of fiscal policy the poor as well as the rich will be ruined. Mr. MacDonald saw this, but Mr. Henderson and the majority of the Labor party either did not or would not heed the warning.

Heavy taxation operates to create economic disorganization in a number of ways. It discourages exceptional effort by minimizing its rewards. It breaks up accumulations of capital and therefore makes the financing of new and modernized industrial plants far more difficult. By preventing the accumulation of individual and corporate surpluses it adds enormously to the difficulties always present in times of economic adversity such as these. By forcing the sale of property for the benefit of the tax collector values are depreciated. A buyer's market is converted into a seller's market. The mere fact that the income is certain to be heavily taxed encourages capital to seek investment under more favorable circumstances abroad. No one who has observed the effect of crushing taxation upon real estate values in this country needs any additional evidence of the unsoundness of the policy.

The doctrinaire will refuse to face these consequences either because of his preoccupation with the sufferings of the unfortunate or because of his desire to obtain political support from the masses. Democracy is forever threatened by levelers and equalitarians either sincere or demagogic, and only a disciplined democracy can resist their blandishments. Mr. Morgan and his colleagues are betting that the British voters will not destroy themselves. We hope he is proved correct in the event.

THE QUOTA SYSTEM FOR ASIATICS.

The California joint immigration committee, a communication from which is published in the Voice of the People, opposes the recommendation of the immigration committee of the National Chamber of Commerce that the Japanese and Chinese be put upon the quota basis. The California body holds that exclusion has not affected injuriously our commerce with Japan and insists that it is essential to the welfare of California that the principle of Asiatic exclusion be strictly maintained.

The committee represents the American Legion, Federation of Labor, and the Grange of California and the Native Sons of the Golden West. California, says the committee, containing three-quarters of the entire Asiatic population of continental United States, feels she is in better position than other states to consider the problem involved in the admission of such immigration, and appeals to other states to avoid reaching a conclusion based on misrepresentation or lack of knowledge.

There has been no disposition of the American public generally to make hasty judgment or to deny the coast state's special experience and interest in Asiatic immigration. Quite the contrary. California has on several occasions endangered the nation's relations with Japan, once, at least, to the brink of war, if the judgment of the government was well founded. Nevertheless there has always been and is a willingness on the part of the American public to support any policy which could be rationally considered necessary to protect Americans in the west from the competition of Asiatic labor and western communities from such undesirable effects as they feared from social contacts with Asiatics. But these objections seem to be carried to an excess. Under the quota system the west coast could not be inundated by Asiatics. It would permit the entrance of 185 Japanese and 105 Chinese annually and the advocates of total exclusion have not convinced us that this immigration represents a peril justifying the retention of a rule seriously affronting nations with which it is the American interest and, except perhaps for our west coast citizens, American desire to live in friendly relations.

The people of the United States ought not to be asked to compromise these relations out of respect to fears and objections so slightly supported by the quota plan. Exclusion involves an invidious distinction which ought to be avoided if it can be consistently with vital interests. It should not be kept alive by mere die-hardism.

THE LEGION AND PROHIBITION.

The Illinois department of the American Legion has the opportunity before it to condemn prohibition. Previous attempts both in this state and in the national convention of the Legion to pass resolutions on the question have failed, through one parliamentary dodge or another. At the Peoria convention a determined group of Legionnaires is laying plans to force the issue.

There no doubt are members of the Legion who are dry, but previous attempts to put the Legion on record have not been defeated by overwhelming dry sentiment. Any one who is widely acquainted among Legionnaires knows how far from being dry the prevailing sentiment in the organization is. The Legion has not gone on record for two principal reasons: Some politicians in the organization do not want to have the issue raised, and some of the members of the Legion regard prohibition as a political question which the Legion is debarred by its constitution from considering.

These positions contradict each other. If the Legion by its silence acts as the politicians wish it to, then the silence of the Legion is as much an act of partisan politics as the expression of its opinion could be. The only difference is that in pussyfooting the Legion's view is misrepresented, while if the question were frankly submitted to a vote the sentiment of the organization would be accurately expressed.

As a matter of fact, the issue of prohibition is not a partisan issue within the meaning of the Legion's constitution. It is a matter upon which the members of the Legion, as veterans of the war, stand apart from the rest of the citizenry. The final drive for the 18th amendment took place while the membership of the Legion was in arms and the amendment was written into the constitution while the men who served in the war were preoccupied with the business of finding places for themselves in civil life. They never had a fair voice in the matter, and as veterans they are justified in demanding to speak through their organization now.

The question comes home even more closely than that to the Legion. There are scores and perhaps even hundreds of posts in this country at whose meetings it is not uncommon to broach a barrel of beer. The custom has led to some minor scandals, and, of course, it has led to much mocking at the expense of the Legionnaire and his solemn pledge to uphold the constitution. The good name and good repute of the organization is itself involved in the question of repealing the 18th amendment.

PROTECTING THE DES PLAINES.

More than 300 representatives of towns along the Des Plaines are protesting the new Belmont avenue sewer which will increase the pollution of that stream. They should be heard sympathetically by the county board. The Des Plaines valley people are awakened to the possibilities of their important stream and demanding its conservation and development. It should have the same attention and aid from government as other navigable streams of equal importance are given, and especially it should be protected from pollution. The valley is one of the most attractive in the midwest and is certain to be a growing resort for home makers and for seekers of outdoor recreation. Every intelligent effort of its people to protect the health and beauty of this district should have the prompt coöperation of public authority. The Des Plaines Valley association is a timely organization undoubtedly representing the public welfare and public spirit of the region and is not taking snap judgments upon public projects but giving study before recommendation or protest. It will have the sympathetic support of public opinion not only in its own district but in the whole metropolitan region which recognizes the possibilities of the valley.

Editorial of the Day

[Boston Herald.]

The Quebec result is astonishing. After thirty-four years of continuous control of the provincial government, the Liberals on Monday obtained a new lease of power by one of the largest majorities in their history. A margin of 70 in a house of 90 is almost too much. Prime Minister Taschereau will suffer from embarrassment of riches.

Everything had pointed to a close race. At the recent national elections the Conservatives had succeeded at last in dividing the hitherto solid French-Canadian vote, and in capturing nearly half the federal seats in the province. This alone presaged gains at the approaching provincial election. In addition, they had found in Camillion Houde, mayor of Montreal—the man who ended the rule of the "perpetual" Mederic Martin—an able and aggressive leader. [Houde ran in two divisions, and was beaten in both.] Again, the tide had been running against the Liberal party. The Conservative triumph in the dominion elections had been followed by a remarkable party victory in Prince Edward Island earlier this month, and recent bye elections had resulted favorably for the Conservatives. On top of all was the Beauharnois canal scandal, in which some leading Liberals had cut sorry figures.

The province has grown remarkably. A splendid network of highways has opened up regions attractive to the tourist. Forest wealth and power resources have been developed, and foreign capital has flowed in. Unlike the sister province of Ontario, the policy of the Quebec government has always been to encourage private enterprise, subject to regulations to protect public interests. The people are attached to this system, and a suspicion that the Conservatives are flirting with the idea of public ownership may have had something to do with Monday's result. On the other hand, public control of the traffic in wines and liquors, a policy in which Quebec led the way for the other provinces, has proved abundantly satisfactory.

JUST WANDERING 'ROUND.

Seems funny
That one may
Read all the newspapers
And listen every Day
To all the various Speeches, setting-up
Exercises,
Cooking lessons, jazz
Bands, squealing
Sopranos, correct time,
Bedtime stories, and
How you can procure
This sovereign remedy
For coughs, colds, lumbago,
And ingrowing
Toenails
At your drug store
On the corner
Or at your grocer's;
And also listen
To organ, piano, and banjo
Solos, and "I'm Dreaming Dear of You"
On the radio.
And you can go
To all the shows and Squawking pictures
And likewise you
Can buy all the new books
(Or rent them);
And read every magazine and
The speech of the Hon.
Cicero J. Humdinger in
The senate of
These United States
Sent to you freely
By the Hon. Cicero
J. Humdinger himself,
Postage paid by
The said United States.
And you can talk to
Those who know all about
What is wrong
With these Aforementioned
United States
(Which takes in everybody you talk to),
And hear how the Depression
Can be cured in fifteen Minutes by the clock.
And you can join the Rotary,
Lions, Kiwanis,
Saturday Afternoon Culture club,
And take a correspondence course in
How to talk to Mars.
But still you Cannot get the Real,
Underlying, guiding
Spirit of this Great country,
The central motif,
The keynote,
As it were.
And you won't get it
Until you climb into Your auto
And jog around
Here, there, and Everywhere,
And finally Into Connecticut.
And there,
My dear parishioners,
You will find the motto of
This country.
You think the motto is
E
Pluribus Unum,
Because that is
What you see on your silver Dollar,
If you are Lucky enough to have
A dollar.
But E Pluribus
Unum, while Still supposed
To be our Country's motto,
Is really such no
More.
No, in Connecticut
You will see
The slogan that has Taken its place.
In Connecticut until
You come to some Road construction,
Which happens about every Fifteen minutes
These days, no
Matter which way
But in Connecticut
The sign under the Familiar red flag

THIS ROAD LEGALLY CLOSED.
Travel at Your Own Risk.

As you gaze
On this sign
You will at first
Think that if a road is Legally closed, then
It is closed as tight as
If padlocked and the Key thrown away,
For there is no authority
Higher than our courts.
And then you will think
Of prohibition
And traffic laws and Bandits,
And all sorts of things that are Legally Closed,
But are left perfectly
Open for one and all to travel
At our own risk.

Anyway, we deeply Regretted that
We had not smuggled
In three quarts of Scotch and two of
Gordon gin when we Came down
From Canada.
That Road Is Legally Closed,
But you may Travel
At Your Own Risk.

How to Keep Well. By Dr. W. A. Evans.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual disease.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT.

PROF. E. P. LYON of the University of Minnesota wrote recently that we were unable to prove the correctness of many of our medical opinions. For instance, we accept the truth of the legend—"Cleanliness is next to godliness"—without knowing or caring whether or not it is true. The proposition is so general that it escapes close scrutiny.

What is more practical, we base many health practices on the assumption that bodily cleanliness makes for health. We want to be healthy and in order to do so we keep clean. Keeping clean may occasion considerable expense as well as great inconvenience.

Dr. Lyon says there is no scientific proof that washing the skin with water and soap promotes personal health in any way, or to any degree. This is, of course, a challenge to people, and especially to scientists, to come forward with whatever they have to offer. It will not be enough to prove statistically that dirty people are more sickly. That might be because they were poorer, or live in poor houses, or because of some other coincidence.

There is one newly established group of facts that has some bearing on the subject. Diseases due to molds, yeasts, and fungi are being recognized as of importance. So-called athlete's foot is now regarded as the most widely prevalent malady of which we have knowledge. It is due to a fungus which grows on and in the skin. While the talk just now is pretty well concentrated on this member of the fungus family, and this important disease caused by it, there are many other known disorders caused by this group of plants.

There are reasons for thinking that many if not most of the brown blotches on the skin are caused by parasites of this family. They cause the large patches under the arms and around the thighs, and they may be the cause of so-called liver spots.

Lumpy jaw is another illustration of a fungus disease. The fungus which causes lumpy jaw in cattle causes actinomycosis in man.

There is a group of chronic lung diseases, some of which imitate consumption, the members of which are due to these vegetable parasites. Some of these parasites are capable of causing diseases of the skin which have been confused with cancer. Nursing babies develop a mouth disease that is caused by one of this family.

To make the argument tie in it will be necessary to prove that keeping the skin clean by frequent bathing lessens the prevalence of these parasites; that they grow in accumulations of dead skin and skin cells that are in the process of shedding. If these cells are washed away by frequent bathing the molds, yeasts, and fungi will not find suitable soil in which to grow.

We have considerable evidence to prove that now. However, we do need more in order to prove the point that cleanliness promotes personal health in at least one way.

SOURCE OF HAIRINESS.

Anxious "2" writes: I have been extremely curious to know whether ovarian or endocrine condition produces excess growth of hair. If so, doesn't same make its appearance at age of puberty?

I am a young woman of thirty, and up to the past year I did not have a trace of hair on my limbs, face, or body. Hairiness is becoming more evident.

Will you please enlighten me as to whether a sudden change in my system has brought about this growth? Could it be checked by medication?

REPLY.

Several factors affect hairiness. Among the ductless glands related to it are the gonads, the thyroid, and the pituitary. Some inherit a tendency to hairiness. There is no medicine for it.

EGGS AS A FOOD.

C. E. T. writes: I am very fond of eggs and could eat them every meal, but I am told that too many are not good for one on account of the high per cent of albumen contained therein. Would an average of two each day cause any ill effects? Have never had any form of kidney trouble.

REPLY.

Some children, and a very few adults are poisoned by eggs. For nearly all normal young to middle aged adults eggs are an excellent food. The same is true for the great majority of children and for most babies. Two a day is not too much. If one has nephritis he should have advice about eating eggs. The same applies to elderly people.

PURE APPLE CIDER.

Mrs. H. E. J. writes:

1. What is the difference between neuritis and rheumatism?

2. Is pure apple cider, taken regularly for a month, one pint a day, beneficial? I have heard of wonderful cures for same.

REPLY.

1. Neuritis is inflammation of a nerve. Rheumatism is the name given a group of diseases in which the tendency to attack the joints is outstanding.

2. It may be. Cider is an antiscorbutic and it is rich in minerals. Chase says drinking pulque saves the Mexican peon from scurvy. If pulque, as a health promoter, deserves praise, cider should be given a blue ribbon, a gold medal, and a place in the hall of fame.

JOINT TENANCY.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My parents own a house in joint partnership. I know that if one dies the other becomes the sole owner. 1. I would like to know whether there is any possible way in which one party could sign his or her share over to the children? 2. If both signed the house over to the children, inserting a clause that this was to be effective only in case of the death of both parties, could one break this part again at will if one of the parties dies? 3. If both agreed to deed the property over to the children and actually do so could my father upon the death of my mother, or vice versa, break this agreement and become sole owner again? 4. If my parents do sign the property over could one of the children sign as administrator? F. J. S.

1. Yes, but of course this would destroy the joint tenancy.

2. If you wish to accomplish such a purpose, we advise you to employ an attorney in the drafting of the papers.

3. Not if the papers were properly drawn.

4. "Administrator" would not be the proper word. It might be desirable to appoint a trustee, but such details would be for the parties to work out.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

PERMIT GRANTED.

Chicago, Aug. 29.—[Friend of the People.]—I notice that many people come to you with problems and questions of all kinds, so am asking you what procedure is necessary to have a crooked, ugly tree removed from my parkway. This tree spoils the shape of other nice trees near it and I wish very much to have it taken out, but am told that I have no right to remove it. J. S. W.

Relative to this complaint I beg to advise that an inspection has been made of the tree in question and the complainant has been sent a permit for its removal.

WALTER WRIGHT,
Superintendent of Parks, Recreation, and Aviation.

YOU ARE THE LOSER.

Chicago, Aug. 28.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—If I receive a check the first day of the month and hold same until the end of the month, and the bank on which it is drawn fails the middle of the month, who is the loser, the maker of the check or I? F. J. B.

You are.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

SEPTEMBER 1, 1915.

LONDON.—The Russian forces in Galicia, which were rapidly driven back from Zlota Lipa river, in the Stripa, have gathered new strength and are holding the Austrians by a series of furious counter attacks. North of the Stripa river line, however, the Austro-German advance against Lusz and Dubno seems to be progressing with menacing speed. East of Brest Litovsk there has been no hindrance to the onward rush of the Germans.

LONDON.—The Russian retreat continues, leaving a burned and desolated waste behind it and driving before it millions of homeless and starving refugees. It is part of the Russian strategy to make the country before the invaders as nearly a waste as possible. The problem of caring for the panic-stricken Russian horde is as serious as reorganizing the badly battered corps of Grand Duke Nicholas. Millions are facing famine. Bread lines are seen everywhere throughout the district from Petrograd and Moscow and south to Odessa, on the Black sea.

LIVERPOOL.—The German submarine which sank the Arabic on Aug. 19 was itself sunk by a British patrol boat on the day following, it was reported here. When it was attacking the Houlder liner Nicosian the patrol boat suddenly appeared and sent it to the bottom with all its crew.

CHICAGO.—Dr. Green Vardiman Black, dean of the Northwestern university dental school and writer of many works on dentistry, died at his farm near Virginia, Ill., at the age of 79. He had been dean of the school since 1895.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

BOSTON.—The Traveller prints an alarming story concerning Admiral Sampson's condition in a dispatch from Lake Sunapee, N. H. It says: "Unless all signs fail Admiral William T. Sampson has gone through his last campaign. He is an extremely sick man."

CHICAGO.—The civil service commission found Lieut. Peter J. Joyce and Detectives John J. Tracy and John V. Cramer guilty of collecting $75.80 from the state by the "fake" Larkin expense account, and ordered them dismissed from the service. The decision is held to be a direct blow at Luke P. Colleran, chief of detectives, for Joyce has been his right hand man and Colleran himself, according to evidence on which Joyce, Cramer and Tracy were found guilty, stands accused of having received $10 as his share of the $75.80.

PITTSFIELD, Mass.—Arthur Jerome Eddy, Chicago attorney and expert automobilist, was arrested here and fined $6.80 for operating his automobile at excessive speed on complaint of John F. Noxon, a prominent Berkshire county lawyer. Mr. Eddy said Noxon went into hysterics and almost tumbled over in a faint from fright when the Eddy machine neared him. He added: "He danced in front of my machine like an old woman. I think he is the most timid man in the United States. I believe it would be well for your community to have him clothed in skirts."

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

SEPTEMBER 1, 1881.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—President Garfield's condition was very favorable throughout the day. He slept well and for longer periods than for several days. His temperature and pulse showed decided signs of improvement. The pulse fell as low as 95—lower than at any time since Aug. 8. He took more than the usual quantity of liquid nourishment and swallowed the juice of a piece of beefsteak which he chewed. His fever tonight was less than on any night since he was shot. Dr. Frank H. Hamilton expressed himself well satisfied with the progress of his patient.

CAPE TOWN, South Africa.—The Union mail steamer Teuton with 200 souls on board was wrecked near Quoin point and 173 persons perished. The ship arrived at Cape Town from England on Aug. 29 and proceeded on its voyage to Algoa bay. The vessel struck a rock, but floated off and was in the act of putting back to port when it sank.

CHICAGO.—Maj. George O. Marcy of the firm of George O. Marcy & Co. of Chicago died in Cleveland from inflammation of the bowels after an illness of two weeks at the age of 44.

THE JAPANESE QUOTA.

San Francisco, Aug. 18.—In THE TRIBUNE of Aug. 1 appeared a news item referring to immigration quota for Japan based on action taken by the immigration committee of the United States Chamber of Commerce in regard thereto and a statement emanating at Washington from proponents of that plan claiming that sentiment in California had changed and now favored quota, and that the drop in our commerce with Japan was due to Japan's ill will because of the immigration situation.

The facts do not accord with either of these claims. There may be difference of opinion as to the wisdom in national interest of admitting for permanent settlement the unassimilable colored races of Asia, ineligible to American citizenship, and barred from intermarriage with whites under the laws of California and other states, but there should be no misunderstanding as to the facts.

The present demand for quota headed by a few individuals and organizations on the Pacific coast indicates no change of sentiment on the part of such individuals and organizations. They have opposed consistently for years exclusion of the Asiatic races, and favored quota for them, which would in effect repeal the exclusion measure.

An actual cross section of public sentiment in California on the subject is furnished by the California joint immigration committee, organized for the purpose of securing enactment of the ineligible exclusion measure and maintained since to protect that law from assault. The committee was formed by the state bodies of American Legion, Federation of Labor, Grange and Native Sons of the Golden West, and with the backing of the national organizations of the first three named urged enactment of the necessary legislation before the 1924 congress. None of these organizations, state or national, has modified its policy in this matter since, but each has denounced the plan to grant quota to Asia. The Californian joint immigration committee protested against contemplated action by the immigration committee of the United States Chamber of Commerce, July 31, favoring quota for Japan if such action were based on the claims first above referred to. The American Federation of Labor and the American Legion also appeared before the committee through duly authorized representatives and similarly protested.

Public sentiment on the subject in California is sufficiently indicated by unanimous action of the state legislature; in 1924 demanding exclusion of aliens ineligible to citizenship; in 1929 protesting against grant of quota to Japan and other Asiatic countries; and in 1931 by the failure of a pro-Japanese quota lobby, working before and during the session, to secure sufficient encouragement to justify introduction of a resolution. Exclusion of ineligibles is so firmly fixed as a state policy that the state attorney general is a full member of the California joint immigration committee and appeared before congress in that capacity in 1924 and 1930 in support of that policy.

Equally opposed to the facts is the statement that ill will on Japan's part, because of the immigration question, has caused loss in our exports to Japan, the specific cases charged being slump in the lumber trade of the Pacific northwest in 1929, and drop in export of California canned goods due to Japan's "luxury tax."

For five years after passage of the exclusion act the Pacific northwest sold great quantities of lumber to Japan. If there was ill will it did not prevent Japan buying where she could buy to advantage. The slump in 1929, as conceded by lumbermen, was due to world conditions, to Japan's decreased buying power, to substitution of other building material for wood, to competition from Canada and Siberia, etc.

Japan's luxury tax of 100 per cent ad valorem was an economic measure imposed to restore Japan's trade balance by forcing the Japanese to cease using 123 imported articles of "luxury" or to accept the Japanese substitutes therefor. It hit British trade more severely than ours, as indicated by earnest protest from British chambers of commerce. Full details of this trade question appear in a report to the California joint immigration committee [Document 262] which will be mailed on request.

There is apparently an impression that Japan already has a quota for immigrants and that the present plan is simply to increase the number to her quota under the national origin plan. Japan's present quota of 100 is only for residents of Japan eligible to American citizenship who cannot conveniently enter under the quota of their own country. It will not admit any Japanese.

California, containing three-quarters of the entire Asiatic population of continental United States, feels that she is in better position than other states to consider intelligently the problems involved in admission of such immigration, but she asks only that other states avoid reaching a conclusion based on misrepresentation or lack of knowledge of the facts.

V. S. MCCLATCHY,
Executive Secretary.
JAMES K. FISK, Chairman.
California Joint Immigration Committee.

AWAY FROM THE BEACH.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—On Sunday, Aug. 23, at about noon, while swimming off the shore at the foot of Addison street, with the lake as peaceful as a bathtub, a Lincoln park policeman told my son and me to get out and stay out. Upon remarking that the courts had decided years ago that the lake belonged to the people, he politely and firmly stated that if he sees me again he will run me in; also to get on my way.

I am just over 50 and my son 21, and for fifteen years we have been swimming around the lake from spring to late in the year. Now what we want to know is what authority has that cop to talk to us that way and has the Lincoln park any ordinance to prevent taxpayers and residents from swimming in the lake except at specified beaches where the water is too crowded, a peril to health, and not deep enough for a swimmer to enjoy himself?

FELIX COUNE.

AN ANTI-DOLE LEAGUE.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—Why not inaugurate at once an anti dole league and seek to embrace therein the support of people throughout the entire United States? Unless a formidable opposition of this nature confronts congress the politicians therein may be successful in effecting the enactment of some dole measure. It must not pass, and America must be immediately awakened to the seriousness of this matter. H. VICTOR KEANE.

CRAIN CLEARED, BUT ALSO GETS MILD CENSURE

Charges Are Dismissed by Gov. Roosevelt.

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 31.—[Special.]—District Attorney Thomas C. T. Crain, Tammany Democrat, was mildly censured in a report to Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt [Dem.] today by Samuel Seabury, commissioner, but the "slap on the wrist" was tempered by a recommendation that Mr. Crain should not be removed from office. Gov. Roosevelt immediately dismissed the charges of general incompetency filed against the gray haired, good party man prosecutor last March by the City club and peace again reigned in Centre street.

THOMAS C. T. CRAIN.

The worst that Commissioner Seabury had to say against Mr. Crain after months of delving into his record was that the Tammany prosecutor had "busied himself ineffectively" and that particularly as regards the racketeering situation, the district attorney had failed to act "in a fitting and competent manner."

Seen as "Love Feast."

From a political standpoint the result of the Crain episode in New York City's muddled municipal affairs served as a sort of love feast. The dismissal of the charges, politicians agreed, would serve to partly heal the breach between the governor and Tammany and might go a long way toward bolstering Gov. Roosevelt's local presidential backing.

While a slightly soiled whitewash brush was being waved in the prosecutor's direction, the city investigators were hot on the trail of politicians reported seeking to discredit the Seabury inquiry into the magistrates' courts. The plot, as discovered by Irving Ben Cooper, assistant to Mr. Seabury, consisted of a $100,000 slush fund raised by the aforementioned politicians, to buy perjured testimony against the enterprising young Latin-American stool pigeon Chile Mapoocha Acuna.

Charge Witnesses Paid.

It was hoped, the investigators suspected, to strike at Mr. Seabury through his star witness. So far, it has been revealed that three witnesses against Acuna received $1,500 each. What became of the rest of the fund remains a secret. The plot against Acuna failed, however, for his testimony played havoc with the vice squad.

In concluding the lengthy report of his findings in the Crain case, Mr. Seabury intimated that the Tammany prosecutor was about as good as the city could expect under present conditions.

CHILDREN KEPT FROM SCHOOLS BY PARALYSIS

New York, Aug. 31.—[Special.]—The fall opening of the city's entire public school system, involving 1,150,000 children, will be delayed a week and a day because of the current outbreak of infantile paralysis, it was announced today by Health Commissioner Wynne. Instead of starting their sessions on Sept. 14, the Monday after Labor day, as is customary, the schools will first come together on Tuesday, Sept. 22.

The 246,000 children in the Catholic parochial schools also will have at least a week added to their vacations, the Rev. Matthew Delaney, superintendent of Catholic schools of the archdiocese of New York, announced.

REPUBLICANS WORK ON THEIR OWN PLAN FOR AID IN NEW YORK

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 31.—(AP)—Republican legislators tonight began the assembling of their own unemployment relief program, prepared to pass it and leave it on Gov. Roosevelt's desk if he refused to modify his own plan to compromise with that of the Republican majority.

The divergence of opinion between the Democratic governor and the Republican legislative majority arose primarily over the question of administration of the $20,000,000 relief fund the governor has recommended. The Republicans were cool to the governor's suggestion thta a commission of three members—a "governor's commission"—should handle the dispensation of the fund.

The majority party members, returning to Albany tonight to resume the extra session of the New York legislature, indicated it felt the administration of the fund could be best handled by an existing agency, such as the department of social welfare.

If the Democratic governor declined to agree in this, they indicated they would introduce and pass their own program of bills, place them on the governor's desk for his signature or veto and leave him with the responsibility of deciding whether there would be relief.

NEW WEST PARK COMMISSIONERS ARE INSTALLED

Edward F. Moore and Waldemar J. Roehler were installed as commissioners of the west parks at a meeting of the board in the administration building in Garfield park yesterday. Several hundred friends, politicians and labor leaders crowded the board chambers for the ceremony.

Commissioners Moore and Roehler were appointed by Gov. Emmerson last week to succeed James J. Cullen and John P. Garner, who resigned. Moore was deputy commissioner of public works under the former city administration. Roehler is a vice president of the Logan Square State and Savings bank.

Ald. Oscar Nelson, himself a leader in the old city hall organization, was the principal speaker. Short speeches were made also by Michael J. Kennedy, former commissioner of gas, oil and electricity; Patrick Sullivan, president of the Chicago Building Trades council; Attorney John F. Tyrell, and Jack Dempsey, Republican committeeman for the 38th ward.

NERVE SAVES ONE; COMPANION DIES IN CHIMNEY FALL

Finally Rescued from Slender Ledge.

Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 31.—(AP)—A breaking scaffolding at the top of a 150 foot chimney tumbled one steeplejack to his death today, but his aged companion escaped because he was able to face almost certain death for two hours without fear.

Gondolfo Di Primo, 40, and James Kemp, 63, had been working on the outside of the chimney of the Yawman & Erbe Manufacturing company's plant and today had pulled themselves on the frail board flooring of their scaffolding to the very top when the ropes slipped.

Di Primo cried out in alarm and the next moment was hurtling through the air. He was dead when picked up on the ground. Kemp, warned by his companion's cry, grasped a rope and instead of plunging outward from the chimney landed on a ten inch ledge eight feet from the chimney's top.

The fire department ladders fell far short of the spot where the man hugged the bricks. Planes were pressed into service and attempted to lower ropes to the prisoner, but a stiff breeze frustrated this plan. While police stood about the base of the chimney holding life nets the coast guard arrived and went into action with a rocket gun.

At last a slender line was tossed over the chimney's top and Kemp, who then had been balancing on his perilous wind-swept perch for two hours, cautiously reeled in the line and a heavier rope attached to it. A swing was sent up in the same way, and, seating himself in it, the old steeplejack was lowered to the ground.

The man who had been helping with the ropes at the base of the chimney fell unconscious from nervous strain.

"I knew better than to let the thing scare me," Kemp said. "I could have stayed up there a couple of hours more, if necessary."

THINK IT OVER

A well-known vocational counselor has said: "When the employment situation is bad the trained man is the one who has a steady job. It is those doing the more unskilled routine work who are laid off. The routine man's work can be done by anyone and therefore can be split up and divided among the others. Also, when business is bad there is less routine work to be done."
"Take as an example the work of the accountant in a large firm. Not even the routine bookkeepers are capable of handling it, because it requires technical training and knowledge and therefore cannot be divided among them. But accountants are difficult to get, because there are not enough of them to meet our present day business needs.

CHEVROLET TRUCKS

priced as low as $440*

CHEVROLET

If what you want in a light delivery unit is more speed, more power, larger capacity and greater reliability for every dollar you pay —go to your Chevrolet dealer and take a look at the Great American Truck Value. Chevrolet manufactures trucks of both ½-ton and 1½-ton capacities in three wheelbase lengths. A number of the popular ½-ton models are illustrated at the right.

Investigate these trucks from any angle and you will find them outstanding.

Take the question of first-cost—and you learn that the Chevrolet Six is one of the lowest priced trucks you can buy.

Look into the matter of economy—and you discover that many leading fleet owners report the Chevrolet Six to be more economical to operate than any truck they have ever used, regardless of the number of cylinders.

Investigate stamina, reliability and upkeep cost—and you find that Chevrolet owners frequently report such records as "20,000 miles without opening the engine" —"50,000 miles and still dependable"—"ten months with practically no expense for repairs."

As for speed and power, Chevrolet gives you a six-cylinder 50-horsepower engine—very fast, very flexible, and 25% more powerful than the engine of any other truck in the lowest price field.

And when you consider capacity, you find that Chevrolet's longer wheelbase, long sturdy frame, and 4 long semi-elliptic springs permit the mounting of extra-large bodies. These bodies are Chevrolet-built, stoutly reinforced and exceptionally smart and trim. Moreover, they are available in styles exactly suited to every business need.

Obviously, here is a line of trucks that deserves your attention, whether you plan to buy a fleet or a single unit. Before you buy a truck for any purpose, get all the facts about Chevrolet's complete line of six-cylinder haulage units—now available in twenty-five different models, three wheelbase lengths and half-ton and 1½-ton payload capacities. Your Chevrolet dealer will supply you with full information.

Thomas Rourke Writes a la Hemingway.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Thunder Below," by Thomas Rourke [Farrar & Rhinehart]. Published yesterday.

Of all the books which show the influence of Ernest Hemingway [and there have been many more than the casual reader suspects] a first novel called "Thunder Below" seems to me to be the best, both in its exemplification of the quality of writing which Ernest Hemingway put into American literature and in its own inherent veritibility as a work of art.

"Thunder Below" is written in the style Hemingway created—curt, unadorned sentences, describing facts, never fancies. Its hero is the Hemingway type—inarticulate, hard drinking, but with a certain groping sensitiveness that never quite becomes real to himself, but always disturbs him. This author has an even less delicate vocabulary than Hemingway, for there are times when Hemingway does write consciously beautiful prose like the description of the joys of fishing in "The Sun Also Rises," for instance.

Never once does Thomas Rourke write beautifully and for that his book is remarkable, for it is told in the first person and the supposed writer of the book is not the kind of person who thinks it beautiful prose. He does, however, manage to create great beauty, not directly to the eye of the reader, but through the eye of the observer. There are descriptions of days and nights in the jungle which, as their actual setting down is concerned are done in the same inarticulateness of the conversation of the hero, but which move the reader through the influence they had over the hero. There is something tremendously moving in the sight of a man's emotional response to beauty when that man is the sort of person who does not show his emotions. The struggle between his natural inarticulateness and a half understood, half feared feeling that great beauty may be penetrating hir hero's armor, Mr. Rourke pictures superbly. He the author, never intrudes himself.

There are no side lights on the way that the hero is taking things—the way he is reacting to beauty or tragedy of gayety.

You, the reader, however, know exactly how those things are affecting the hero from his own reactions to them not from any omniscient author's watching of his specimen. There is no psychological study of the hero. There is only the most accurate picture of his actions. The result is a novel of tremendous and moving power, one that shocks the reader at times, for all reality is shocking to a race, like ours, which has come to expect sentimentalization of its fiction. The character may be called cold-blooded, hard-boiled and all of the other adjectives denoting lack of sentiment, but they are authentic and actual people as the characters in most novels are not.

"Thunder Below" is a story of the tropics of Central America, a picture of a group of Americans, six men, all working for an oil prospecting company, and one woman, the wife of the boss of the group, and the natives with whom their lives must be lived.

It is a vivid, tense picture of native life in the village and in the jungle in which they go on two months' prospecting trips. It has an unforgettable back drop of lush, wild places, always seen through the eyes of the hero, who pretty much takes life and scenery as he finds them, but who, despite his lack of easy emotionalism, is moved by that background. Against that back drop is played a drama of intensity.

The one woman is very beautiful. Her husband is blind. She is in love with the chronicler of the tale. All of the other men are in love with her, and each one takes his own special way of persuading himself that something else is just as good. They drink constantly and, at most times, very thoroughly.

They drown love and too hot sun and too wet rain all in the same fiery lake. The one who tells the story, the hero, loves the woman, but he loves, too, in his inarticulate way, the man to whom she is married, and who, in spite of his blindness, is the most powerful man in the community, powerful in spirit as well as form. The hero tries to drown his love in the heady rum and the heady love making which the others indulge in, but he is never successful.

"Thunder Below" is really the story of a soul in torment through love, but because it is the soul of a man who is not accustomed to introspection, who, by his very vocation and the circumstances of his life cannot articulate his emotions, it is merely a chronicle, not an interpretation of the hero. And the method of Mr. Hemingway is the perfect method for such a chronicle.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

I would suggest to those who believe in keeping their money in circulation that they buy a ticket to the Palace this week. Because that young woman known as Miss Ina Claire is giving the sort of performance in "Rebound" that no real film fan should miss.

It's a smooth-as-velvet performance; a humorous, clever, richly understanding one; to be classed with the most brilliant and intuitive bits of acting that have appeared on the screen in the last decade. By it Miss Claire fortifies her established reputation as a comedienne, and proves that she can rise to heights of emotional expression with the best of the sisters who specialize in straight dramatic portrayals. Perhaps she would never be a great tragedienne, but, after seeing "Rebound," I don't know!

The title of this production means something. It refers to the manner in which the heroine [Miss Claire] wins the man she loves. She catches him on the rebound after he has been jilted by his fiancée. The catching's comparatively easy, but the keeping's a twenty-four hour a day job—which young Mrs.—whatever her last name is, I forget—handles with an astuteness which moves to admiration, laughter, and several gusts of hot tears.

While Miss Claire carriess off the main honors, there are no laggards in her supporting cast. Each rôle is keenly portrayed. Especially was I impressed by the work of Robert Williams, who plays a gallant, loyal, and lovably whimsical "other man."

The director deserves much credit for his smart manipulation of players and scenario. Dialogue is larded with laughs. Staging and costumes are luxurious and beautiful.

If Miss Claire keeps on as she's doing in this movie there's no telling what the girl will come to!

"THE LADY OF THE LAKE."

Produced by Gainsborough.
Directed by James A. Fitz Patrick.
Presented at the Cinema theater.

THE CAST.

Fitz James ..... Percy Marmont
Allen ..... Benita Hume
Roderick Dhu ..... Lawson Butt

This silent, forty minute picture was made several years ago by the travel film expert, James A. Fitz Patrick, amid the highland's and the lake's of bonnie Scotland, where the scenes of Sir Walter Scott's poem were laid.

It is a brief but charming pictorial reproduction of the famous poem and has a synchronized accompaniment of Scotch melodies. A male chorus sings delightfully. Many of the subtitles are quotations from the Scott masterpiece.

Nice to see Percy Marmont (remember him in "If Winter Comes"?) again! And Lawson Butt, who impressed most on the American stage in "The Garden Of Allah" (I interviewed him at that time and was I Thrilled!) is grand as the rebel chieftain. Benita Hume, an English screen favorite, is a clever actress.

You will find "The Lady Of The Lake" different and alluring.

Yankee Cooks Terrible, Says Miss Universe

Otherwise Belgian Girl Likes United States.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BRUSSELS, Aug. 31.—Miss Universe 1931, Galveston crowned Belgian Ziegfeld beauty, disapproves of American salads. In fact, of American cooking "in toto." Little shivers run down her perfect spine when she thinks of the things she had to eat in the United States.

Miss Universe is Mlle. Duchateau, chestnut haired, green eyed Venus of the Belgian town of Namur. She owes her victory over Miss United States and many other competitors at Galveston last spring as much to her winning smile as to her perfect proportions. To THE TRIBUNE reporter she seemed just a trifle slenderer after her return from Galveston via Ziegfeld-New York. Hence a discreet question as to a diet.

"O, no, but it's simply because of the awful things they serve you over there," Miss Universe candidly moaned, unaware she was talking to a reporter from "over there."

"How do you mean?"

"Well, the cooking. Heavens, that cooking! I heaved a great sigh of relief when I got on board the France, whose chef I appreciate quite as much as its captain."

"What did you mind most about that cooking?"

Miss Universe smaled, ever so sadly: "The salads, where pineapple and strawberries are put together with mayonnaise and lettuce! Gracious!"

Whereupon Miss Universe 1931 returned to her professional beaming and radiantly admitted: "Else everything is perfect. The men are so charming and correct in the United States—except when they get out of a speakeasy. . . . My 29 American beauty competitors were adorably nice to me—quite different from the European ones. I love them. Then—my Ziegfeld engagement—splendid. But thirty-six weeks of it was too much. I had to go home on a vacation. Nothing can compare with Europe. When I think of the American ham and sugar——" Another shiver down the perfect spine.

T. G. Taggart Is Elected Templars' State Leader

Thomas G. Taggart, 6420 Minerva avenue, of the Woodlawn commandery, was elected grand state commander of the Knights Templars yesterday at the seventy-fifth annual conclave in the La Salle hotel. More than 250 delegates from the eighty-four commanderies throughout the state attended the affair.

CLUB LEADER SAYS MRS. HOOVER FAVORS WAR RELIEF TACTICS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 31.—[Special.] — War time methods of peace time needs is the solution Mrs. Herbert Hoover would apply to the nation's economic crisis, according to an article published in the magazine, "Clubwoman," by Mrs. John F. Sippel, president of the General Federation of Women's clubs, and attributed, in part, to the wife of the President.

Mrs. Hoover never grants interviews, therefore she was not quoted directly.

The article, follows in part:

"Did the necessities of war quicken our minds and make us more keenly alert to needs of the people of our communities?

"I am wondering if we realize that, although there are the emergencies of war, there are also those of peace.

"In talking with Mrs. Hoover the other day on the economic condition throughout the world, the above thoughts came to our minds, and we wondered if it would not be possible to handle some of the matters which are now concerning us by much the same methods.

"The organized social groups of today are marshalling their forces to meet emergencies which may arise during the coming months in an effort to prevent want from lack of employment or from other causes, just as we met emergencies in the years of the war.

"It may even be possible in this great organization of ours to build up machinery of much the same type as we had during the war, to take on not only responsibility for the coming season of distress, but responsibility for relieving suffering year after year. In this way we could help largely to prevent the circumstances of having in our midst undernourished children; girls and boys who could not go to school for lack of clothing; old men and women in need."

Bishop Urges Day of Prayer for Help in World Depression

New York, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Bishop Francis J. McConnell, president of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, issued a call to the churches today urging that the Sunday preceding Labor day be set aside as a day of special prayer "for guidance in finding the way out of the present economic depression."

The annual labor Sunday message of the council, in connection with which the call was issued, describes the number of unemployed as "a serious indictment of our economic organization, both as to its efficiency and as to its moral character."

Pope Reaches Compact with Italian Nation

Catholic Club Property Being Restored.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Aug. 31.—The divergences between Fascism and the Holy See over the Catholic Action society, which led to a summer of disputes, have been definitely brought to a conclusion. The first acts in the execution of accord already have been accomplished. That was revealed today.

These accords were arrived at through an ecclesiastical commission headed by Padre Tacchi Venturi, a Jesuit father, on the one side, and a representative of the Fascist government on the other. The prefects throughout Italy during the last week have been restoring to ecclesiastic authorities the property of the Catholic Action society, consisting generally of meeting places of Catholic clubs and their archives which were sequestered by the Italian government as a climax of a controversy at the end of last May. At that time also all the youth clubs, depending on the Catholic Action society, were dissolved. An order to restore this property emanated directly from Premier Benito Mussolini last Saturday, a week ago.

The closing of these clubs and the sequestration of property, it is recalled, led to several violent incidents, and it is recalled that in some the church charged the Fascists broke into their meeting rooms, searched the archives and burned pictures of the pope.

It is understood that this restitution has been almost entirely completed in all dioceses throughout Italy, with the exception of Rome. In Rome restitution has not yet been made, but is awaiting the settlement of several details with the cardinal vicar of Rome. Several parish priests of Rome, who sought to have their club property restored, were advised by the ecclesiastic authorities to wait a while longer.

Yesterday Ambassador de Vecchi had an interview with Cardinal Secretary of State Pacelli and then they both conferred with the pope. Again today Father Tacchi Venturi paid two visits to the Vatican to confer with Secretary Pacelli.

It is understood that under the accord reached, and the announcement of which is expected within a few days, the Catholic Action society will be in substance decentralized and on this basis the youth clubs, which are dissolved, will be permitted to reopen, but only the bishops and priests, and no lay member of the Catholic Action society, being permitted to lecture or give instruction. Thus the Catholic Action society will be a diocesan organization, with only the pope himself as its head—the former central of control as under the accord as the former central diocesan junta was made up of a party of lay members—will be eliminated.

Federated Charities Session.

BEG YOUR PARDON

It was incorrectly stated in THE TRIBUNE yesterday that James Goodman, a professional bondsman and owner of a lot at 35th and Wallace streets, had been sentenced for perjury. Benjamin Goodman, a former bondsman and owner of the property, was found not guilty in a directed verdict last March when Judge Harry M. Fisher in the Criminal court held that false statements made under oaths administered by police officers could not be considered as perjured.

A STRAIN ON THE FAMILY TIE

THE STAGE

"PEARLY GATES."

A musical morality play based upon the Negro spirituals; written and directed by Frederick Hall. Given at the Apollo theater Aug. 31, 1931, with a cast including Mabel Hall, William Woods, Alfonso Edwards, J. N. Jones, Louis Hickman, Edgar Clark, Herman Bright, Juanita Perkins, Norion Evans, William Jones, Ben Dunals, John Jackson, Roxie Perry, Lou Ethel Brown, Rosalinde Williams and George Petty.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

A LINE from the text of "Pearly Gates," the song-festival or cantata which began an engagement at the Apollo theater last night on uncommonly short notice, deserves quotation, for it tells the story of this production with poetic brevity. It is:

"The simple children of the sun and soil."

Here they are, Negro students from the deep South supplemented by Chicago choristers, in a rich anthology of their spirituals and a naïve pageant of their religious imaginings. They chant their artless, noble songs about Moses and the River Jordan and the Promised Land and the sweet chariot that swings low, with the mellow magic that haunts the Negro voice. They depict, in pantomime, the ecstasies of the camp meeting and the transformation of them that have followed the faith into white robed angels wearing golden crowns in the heavenly choir.

It is a simplehearted show, belonging to the concert field rather than to the theater. Mr. Moore, the musician at the adjoining desk, should be the man to interpret the enchantment of its impressive singing. However, there is no new word to be said about the haunting loveliness and quaint charm of the Negro spirituals. They form a notable part of American folk music, and in "Pearly Gates" you may hear some thirty-one of these primitive hymns, including many that are new to the northern ear.

There also is nothing new to be said about the Negro voice. It is a special gift to a people whose way through history has been dark and hard. When it comes to singing the children of Ham arise and shine, and the world listens gladly.

The program is introduced by a schoolroom scene which cannot avoid comparison with the prologue to "The Green Pastures." However, its omission would improve the performance, for it merely postpones the important passages—a camp meeting jubilee in the first act, a scene at the vestibule of heaven in the second.

The last half of the program gives "Pearly Gates" its right to the label of "morality play." It represents a full stage of angels behind the portals of heaven singing accompaniments to the drama of salvation and damnation. In the orchestra pit, at the left of the stage, is the mouth of hell, from which a scarlet devil emerges to make his bid for the souls that come up to the outer defenses of Paradise. Here is a close parallel to the medieval moralities.

A slave boy comes up, and Ol' Man Debbil loses his game. A blind man approaches, but the temptations of the fiend fail. Then a sleek flapper, who has been too fond of the vanities of earth, arrives; the prophet at the portal says no, and the devil claims his own. Eight others were on their way to the same business when I departed, and I suspect that out of the lot the devil won the Rich Man, the Gambler, and the Hypocrite.

There is no special acting skill in "Pearly Gates," and its stage direction, although somewhat ambitious, is elementary. The show lacks theatrical values; but it has vocal splendor. It has, above everything else, the quality that its religious material demands, which is dignity.

JAN KIEPURA NEW TENOR FOR CHICAGO CIVIC OPERA STAFF

Jan Kiepura, a young Polish tenor, has been engaged for part of the coming season of the Chicago Civic Opera company, according to a cable from Herbert Witherspoon, now in Paris. Kiepura made his debut in Warsaw five years ago and is still in his middle twenties. He has been singing at La Scala in Milan, Covent Garden in London, the State Opera in Vienna, and the Colon in Buenos Aires, and is said to have made a sensational success. His voice classifies as lyric and according to advance notices has unusual beauty and great range. His training has been chiefly in the Italian and French repertoire, specializing in such rôles as des Grieux in "Manon," the duke in "Rigoletto," and Alfredo in "La Traviata."

The Ravinia Opera company closed its season last night with another rendition of Deems Taylor's "Peter Ibbetson." It was the sixth performance, and like the other five attracted a capacity house and a large group of standees. Lucrezia Bori and Edward Johnson took the leading parts.

Bogan to Train Teachers with Young Children

Calls Pre-School Age an Important Factor.

To give student teachers a broader view of their profession William J. Bogan, superintendent of schools, has obtained permission of the board of education to transfer the Franklin Nursery school to the Parker Practice school, an elementary training branch of the Chicago Normal college.

"I am convinced of the value of early diagnosis and guidance," Supt. Bogan said yesterday, "and in this manner I hope to extend the knowledge gained in nursery school work of preschool classes to all teachers in the city.

"Within the last decade there has been a remarkable change in public opinion with regard to the education of very young children. The preschool child has become the center of interest to the psychologist, psychiatrist, kindergartner, primary teacher, social worker, mothers' groups, public health and mental hygiene associations."

In this effort to promote a healthy mental growth among young children Chicago has not been backward, Superintendent Bogan pointed out. There will be four nursery schools in operation this year. One at the Lucy Flower Technical High school cares for a small group of children of the district and gives opportunity to the high school girls for training in child care.

The Sunbeam league conducts a nursery school for prekindergarten crippled children at the Spalding school. The fourth has been conducted since 1926 in the Franklin school by the Chicago Woman's club under the direction of Mrs. Alfred Alschuler of Winnetka.

The Chicago Dental society issued a bulletin yesterday advising general dental examination of children before school opens to head off development of more serious trouble. A survey, the bulletin said, revealed that between 75 and 85 per cent of Chicago's school children are suffering from defective teeth.

A report from the dental hygiene bureau of the Chicago department of public health disclosed that 88 per cent of a group of children examined in March of this year had defective teeth. This was cut down to 72 per cent by June, according to the report.

Examinations of 5,979 children in continuation and parochial schools showed that 87 per cent had defective teeth.

Chicago Boy Back from Arctic; Found No Hay Fever There

The arctic circle is a fine place in which to avoid hay fever. So Hartley de Gerald, 12 year old explorer, told his father when he returned to Chicago yesterday over a Chicago and North Western train, after a seven weeks' trip of 7,200 miles. He is the son of John de Gerald, 3115 West 54th street.

Hartley, who began exploring when he was 3 years old and was sent to Beaver Lake, Mich., to get rid of hay fever, didn't sneeze once while in the arctic region, but began as soon as he reached the loop. He left Chicago by plane in the afternoon to fly to Charlevoix, Mich. Thence he will go to Beaver Lake to join his mother.

The young traveler, who was equipped with only a camera, notebook, knapsack, and small satchel, ran into Col. Charles Lindbergh when he reached the northernmost point of his tour, Aklavik.

"He planned to be in Aklavik July 26, but the boats on which he was to travel don't pay much attention to routine and he reached there Aug. 6 instead. One of the 10 white men in the settlement told him Lindbergh was there," his father, who is vice president of the Peoples Stock Yards State bank, said last night.

"He said that none of the Eskimos made any fuss over Lindbergh. They don't take much interest in the white man, anyway. Hartley said that that pleased Lindbergh very much, and he seemed to like the Eskimos for it. Hartley met him and helped him to refuel his plane."

Playing With Fire

By WILLIAM MAC LEOD RAINE

SYNOPSIS.

Lee Reynolds is owner of a ranch which drought has almost ruined and starved the cattle. School friends from the east come as paying guests. Lee quarrels with her ranch foreman, Ranse Brennan, partly on account of a new hand, named Smith, she hired without his permission, and partly because she rejects his love suit. Brennan is discharged and swears revenge. Dunc Daggett, an old ranch helper, recognizes Smith as Jack Hadley, millionaire oil man of California, whose father was murdered by outlaws. Hadley tells Daggett that he is searching for the murderer of his father. Lee leases a Mexican ranch and moves the herd there. Mrs. Doris Silver, a flirtatious friend of Lee's, goes on ahead to the Mexican rancho. Brennan drops in on her, just before Jack Hadley, who has been sent on by Lee, arrives. Hadley drives to Palo Duro for supplies and takes Doris with him. Doris wanders off and is abducted and Hadley has to fight several natives to rescue her. A revolution breaks out. Mejarve, bogey man of the border, is head of it, with Brennan his right hand man.

INSTALLMENT XIV.

THE ENEMY'S ATTACK.

Outside, Brennan turned to Lee and indicated his men with a wave of his quirt. "Members of the patriot army," he said, jeering both at them and at her. "Detailed for special service. A picked squad."

Daggett took a squint at them. They were a nondescript lot, ragged and poorly clad, none of them in uniform, mounted on scrub stock and armed with such weapons as they had been able to find.

A shot sounded. They turned, all three of them. A hundred yards distant, in a little grove of live oaks, a small group of men were apparently practicing with rifles. Brennan knew them all, with the exception of two. There were Rusty, Jim Yell, Stan Ritter, Stumpy, and the one who called himself Jack Smith. The others were men picked up for the drive.

Brennan looked blackly at Lee. "Trying to pull something on me, are you?" he demanded.

"The boys got to makin' brags this mornin' about how good shots they are," Daggett explained. "I reckon maybe they're kinda demonstratin'."

"That's it, is it?" Brennan walked to his horse and mounted. He rode straight toward the live oaks. The other two followed.

Brennan pulled up within a few feet of the cowboys.

"I've come to take that man Smith to town," he said. "Get this right, boys. You're in Mexico now. I'm a colonel in the new army. You'll get yourselves into a hell of a lot of trouble if you interfere with me. Understand? I can bring a thousand men along with me just as well as I can a dozen."

"What do you want Smith for?" Ritter asked. "He ain't done anything he shouldn't."

"The law will decide that, Stan. You keep out of it."

Jim Yell tried suave argument. "Now see here, Ranse. You know us. We've bunked with you an' ridden the range alongside of you. We've eat Lazy R beef an' swapped lies over the camp fire. What's eatin' you? You know doggoned well we ain't huntin' trouble with you. Let's talk this thing over friendly."

"There's nothing to talk over. I want Smith. I'm going to take him. Are you going to disarm him and turn him over to me, missie? Or shall I have my men do it?"

"With my compliments to Col. Brennan."

"Have your men do it," he suggested coolly, "if they feel lucky this afternoon."

"You're figuring on these boys defending you, eh?" Brennan sneered. "If they do they'll be outa luck."

"Guess again, Brennan. These boys aren't in this. Miss Reynolds isn't it. This is between you and me."

"Meaning what?"

Hadley's eyes, ice-cold, looked into those of his enemy. "Meaning that u'll not take me to Palo Duro today alive or dead."

"How will you prevent it, fellow?"

About one hundred fifty yards away an ace of spades had been attached a tree as a target. Hadley raised his rifle, seemed scarcely to take aim, d fired.

"Get that card, Stumpy," he said.

Stumpy came back with the card. He offered it to Hadley, whose white eth showed in a sardonic smile as he declined it.

"With my compliments to Colonel Brennan," he said.

"You're threatening me, an officer of the patriotic army," Brennan flung back savagely. "Fire a shot at me or one of my men and you'll go to hell on a shutter right now."

"Yes, I expect you're quite a killer, when there's no danger in it," the young man drawled, his narrowed eyes on the horseman. "I wonder if I'd get to town alive if I surrendered. Probably not. Killed while attempting to escape."

Standing by Brennan's horse, her nerves tense, her slender body taut and straight, Lee knew a crisis was approaching. It was curious that just then a fugitive recollection, apparently totally irrelevant, flashed to her mind. It had to do with the horse of her former foreman. It came. It was gone.

"There was Jack Hadley, for instance." The searching eyes of the man who called himself Smith bored in like steel drills. "The man you betrayed and killed in the Sierras at the Isabella mine when you were one of Francisco's gang."

The bulbous eyes of Brennan seemed fairly to pop out. They stared at his accuser, as though fascinated. Who was this man? How did he know that secret out of a dead and buried past? Where had that familiar face . . . .

Recognition leaped at Brennan. It was the face of Jack Hadley himself, the murdered man come to life. But that wasn't possible. A firing squad had put an end to him. His son, of course. The little brat that had come to camp the day Hadley had given him his time.

A fire, compound of fear and hate, seared through Brennan. Now. Better do it now and be done with it. He dragged from its holster the revolver by his side and fired. Once, twice . . . .

His horse went into the air like a skyrocket, came down, whirled around and went up, landed humpbacked, all four feet stiff as piles. Totally unprepared, the rider shot sideways and struck the ground. His revolver went flying against a tree.

Hadley did not cover the man. He watched him, the rifle held loosely in his hands.

Brennan rose and faced the group, snarling. It was to Lee he spoke. "I saw you, missie. I won't forget it. One more I owe you."

Jack Hadley did not understand what he meant until Daggett flung his old hat to the ground joyously with a yelp and an explanation.

"Whoopee! She's the doggonedest girl I ever did see. Think of her remembering that Tequila always bucks when any one puts a hand unexpected on his nose."

Brennan straddled away, motioning his men to come forward.

"What are you going to do?" Lee asked Hadley breathlessly. She felt the life ebbing out of her heart. Did he mean to fight all these men, to let them kill him.

The smile on his brown face flashed, warm and reassuring. "Don't worry, muchacha. I won't start trouble for you. Adios—— till later. All of you."

He ran to the bunk house and slammed the door. Lee made as though to follow. Daggett seized her arm.

The muscles of the girl's throat tightened. "I can't stand it, Dunc. Don't let them kill him," she begged.

"They ain't a-going to kill him. Not none. There's a window in the back of the bunk house. A limber lad like Jack could go through it an' light a-runnin'. He'd find hisself in a li'l arroyo that don't show from here. If he hasn't hot-footed it up that draw to a horse waitin' saddled in the willows I'm plumb disapp'inted in that boy."

When the attackers could bring themselves to the point of storming the fortress they found their quarry gone. He had left a note on the table addressed to Ranse Brennan, Killer. It said:

"You'll have to wait to get me. An important engagement in the hills. Don't shoot from the saddle next time."

Brennan cursed fluently and fervently. He took an installment of his revenge out of Lee. Instead of cutting twenty-five steers from the herd he took fifty.

. . . . . .

Lee was writing letters when the foreman knocked at the door and came in at her invitation.

"He's waitin' out there at the corral now," Daggett said.

As Lee drew near the corral a long, lithe figure came out of the shadowy night to meet her, and at sight of it she knew joy.

"Your bad penny turned up again," the voice she loved best on earth called gayly.

Her two hands went out to his, then she steadied herself, to say quietly as her arms dropped, "I wish my penny wouldn't have so many adventures. I was worried about it this afternoon."

BEAUTY ANSWERS

G. N.: KEEP THE TEETH CLEAN and there will be less likelihood of decay or gum infection. Two toothbrushes for alternate use are a necessity—not a luxury. Each brush should be allowed to dry before being used again. My booklet on mouth hygiene may be had for a stamped, addressed envelope.

Is a Light Souffle of More Importance Than Healthy Child?

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

What sort of questionnaire do you put to a prospective maid? Do you ask—

Can you make a good souffle?

Can you do good plain cooking?

Do you know what soups to serve with croutons?

Do you make puff paste?

Can you make good pies and cakes?

Do you know how to make hot breads?

Do you understand correct table service?

Do you understand when the roast is carved on the table and when it is not carved on the table?

And so forth and so forth.

If you're particular about your household, you probably ask a dozen more questions, and expect the maid to pass a pretty good examination.

Are you as fussy about the girl or woman you engage to take care of your small son or daughter? Do you plan a line of questioning that will be as adequate for the physical welfare and companionship of your child as for the care of your home and the cooking of your food?

Do you not only get references but go personally to see the previous employers, find out what they are like, and what they have to say? Do you make some effort to find out the state of health of this person who is to have the intimate physical care of your child?

Nothing could be more important than to find the right nurse. There are fine, intelligent, kindly, conscientious girls and women to be found. It is no less than your duty to sift them out from the others.

"When I see some of the ignorant, indifferent, lazy girls there are tending the babies and lovely little children in the park I wonder what their mothers are thinking of," said a mother of two little boys to me the other day. "I feel that my children are not only entitled to have me care for them but to have the very best of me that I can give them."

Food Talk.

Have you ever been in the grip of a fussy hostess for several hours—the kind who never for a minute permits you to forget you are a guest? You sit in the best and fanciest chair, choke down quantities of sandwiches and rich, sticky cake that you don't want, and are generally watched, fussed over, and waited on until you are as thoroughly uncomfortable as any guest can be.

"Hostesses who go in for that sort of fussiness," says a famous etiquette authority, "could learn a thing or two from the English."

In England afternoon tea is a simple rite. It is an hour to be enjoyed to the full—an hour of social relaxation and amicable discussion of new books, new plays, new neighbors, or new politics. A guest feels no tension and there is no elaborate preparation of foods involved to cause a strain on the hostess.

All one needs in a correct English establishment is a tea service, a little milk, lemon, and sugar, and a plate of tea biscuits. The imported English tea biscuit is a somewhat expensive treat for American palates, though it is flaky and delicious. Our stores have now a good domestic substitute which closely resembles the imported biscuit both in taste and appearance.

Unless you are an over zealous hostess and insist on "dressy afternoon tea" I should suggest that you take a suggestion from our English friends and model this form of delightful entertaining after them.

Bright Sayings of the Children

Billy was taking a short trip with his aunt and uncle. They had just been on the road a short time when Billy became sleepy and asked if he had a nap would he have to have another one after lunch. His aunt told him that one would be all for the day. Some time after lunch he grew quite tired and said: "I'll have another nap now and that will be for tomorrow." R. S.

Lester's teacher held the famous picture of George Washington crossing the Delaware before her class, and asked Lester why the father of his country had performed that deed while standing up in the boat.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"What do you think of a husband who will invite his bosom pal in several evenings a week to spend the time with his wife, while he steps out with a girl?

"This was going on for three years until the pal couldn't stand it any longer, confessed his love for the wife, and squealed on the husband. Husband admits having the girl friend, but can't see why the wife should mind so long as she has the pal's company.

"The husband claims he loves his wife, won't give her up. Now that he knows his pal double-crossed him he is sore and jealous. There are two children to complicate matters."

"HEART BROKEN WIFE."

Who is to blame?

Every one involved, I should say—but the "Heart Broken Wife" chiefly. One of the maddening things about this sex of ours is the manner in which women can adopt the innocent victim rôle on no grounds whatever.

I claim that a wife who entertains a husband's pal three evenings a week—with husband away—and who doesn't discover before three years are up that there is a plot on is just too simple for ordinary belief.

I claim that the pal's company must have been rarely agreeable for the thing to go on one year, much less three. And that because said wife was having a good time herself she preferred to ignore her mate's absences.

A woman knows when a man is falling for her. The signs are very plainly written. It couldn't be a surprise to have the tri-weekly visitor suddenly announce his emotional state.

It's a dirty plot anyway you look at it. A regrettable one for the youngsters involved.

The last thing on earth she should try to sell her public is injured innocence. Innocense just doesn't grow up that way. It can't, and be old enough to be the mother of a couple of youngsters.

Correct Carriage Is Vital to Woman Who Wants to Look Chic

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

I listened to a talk the other day on posture by a figure-stylist. And I was more than ever persuaded about the tie-up of clothes and physical charm. Great stress was laid by the speaker on the futility of spending money to decorate a figure that hadn't the wit to hold itself up according to the rules of health, correctness—and smartness.

I can visualize the day when our smart dressmaking establishments will be running good posture departments, the better to exploit the beauty of their dresses.

All this reducing business that women have been actively engaged in, of recent years, has proved valuable in exploiting the greater effectiveness of dress. But that isn't getting far enough to suit our stylists. They want the figure not only kept within weight control, but held smartly at all times.

Now, how to get this smart silhouette for your best dress, your second best—and your house things? Just the simple trick of holding the chest high, flattening the abdomen and walking with a light spring on the balls of the feet.

We don't need to be told that there is a difference in the look of a frock when one wears it with an air and when one wears it with a slouch, do we? We only forget it, that's all.

And the new things, as the speaker of the other day pointed out, do call for a womanly outline, which means a developed chest or bust line and a light, feminine grace of carriage.

I've always contended that the lightness with which the body is carried is as vital as any other known thing. And it is on this point of lightness in motion that so many women fall down. So, this is offered here as the proverbial word to the wise.

Autumn to Call Society Home from Far Places

BY THALIA ——.

Although the first day of September apparently doesn't herald a large influx of society returning from summer travels, at least people are thinking about coming home and they'll be along in a week or two. On account of Labor day, being as late as it possibly can be this year, the return tide is later than usual.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Neilson will, however, arrive here tomorrow after a summer in Europe. They and Mrs. Neilson's son-in-law and daughter, the Julian Gardners of Vienna, are going on Sunday or Monday to the Neilson place at Green lake for several weeks. The Gardners have been visiting Mrs. Neilson's other daughter, Dr. Ruth Morris Bakwin, and her family on Cape Cod and are now at the Neilsons' Drexel avenue residence.

The Frank Hibbards' apartment in Astor street is in the process of being cleaned and decorated now, and they're expected from Watch Hill in a few weeks. Mrs. Philip Loring Reed and her youngsters are remaining on Cape Cod for a while longer, and Mr. Reed is going down to join them this week.

The Daniel Burnhams Jr. and Spencer Burnham are due back from Europe about the 10th of the month. Mrs. Burnham and her son went over early in the summer, and Mrs. Burnham joined them in mid-August.

The Joseph T. Bowens Jr. and their children will conclude their stay at Bar Harbor in a fortnight, and Mrs. Bowen senior will stay on till the end of the month.

The Joseph T. Ryerson family is expected back from Europe about the 15th. Mr. James C. Hutchins is back in Chicago, and Mrs. Hutchins will be at Camden, Me., whence they went when they returned from Europe a few weeks ago, until Sept. 27. Miss Barbara is going to school in the east and Channing will go straight to St. Marks'.

Lake Geneva Yacht Race Provides Enough Excitement.

The most exciting yacht race of the season at Lake Geneva was held Saturday afternoon. In the Sheridan regatta every single one of the six A boats entered in the race capsized either before the starting gun or some time during the race. Henry H. Porter, sailing the Viking III., was the last to capsize. He went over in the roughest part of the lake known as the "narrows." He righted the boat, however, without aid, and, reefing to the utmost on account of the heavy southwest gale, sailed his craft to victory, as he did last year. It's the first time in the 57 years' history of the Sheridan regatta that every entry capsized. The lake was covered with motor boats and yachts full of people watching the contest.

The Santa Barbara Old Spanish Days fiesta held last week was the season d'être for a pageant and numerous dances and parties. The John J. Mitchells and the Charles B. Mitchells had a dinner for 32 guests at El Paseo on Thursday evening. The party was on the balcony, with the guests seated at two long tables, one on either side of the patio. The James Warren Thornes had a dinner the same evening, and the Arthur Meekers entertained also. Lelia Withers and Miss Eli Armstrong had a large party of young people at the costume dance at the Montecito Country club on Saturday evening. The fiesta pageant is described as "gay with music and dancing and beautiful costumes." It took place on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday in the De la Guerra plaza. The setting was an old California hacienda with a replica of the Old Mission silhouetted on a hillside under an orange moon.

Autumn to Call Society Home from Far Places

BY THALIA ——.

Although the first day of September apparently doesn't herald a large influx of society returning from summer travels, at least people are thinking about coming home and they'll be along in a week or two. On account of Labor day being as late as it possibly can be this year, the return this is later than usual.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Neilson will, however, arrive here tomorrow after a summer in Europe. They and Mrs. Neilson's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. Julian Gardners of Vienna, are going on Sunday or Monday to the Neilson place at Green lake for several weeks. The Gardners have been visiting Mrs. Neilson's other daughter, Dr. Ruth Morris Bakwin, and her family on Cape Cod and are now at the Neilsons' Drexel avenue residence.

The Frank Hibbards' apartment in Astor street is in the process of being painted and decorated now, and they're expected from Watch Hill in a few weeks. Mrs. Philip Loring Reed and her youngsters are remaining on Cape Cod for a while longer, and Mr. Reed is going down to join them this week.

Mr. Daniel Burnham, Jr. and Spencer Burnham are due back from Europe about the 10th of the month. Mrs. Burnham and her son went over early in the summer, and Mrs. Burnham joined them in mid-August.

Mr. Joseph T. Bowens Jr. and their children will conclude their stay at Harbor in a fortnight, and Mrs. Bowens senior will stay on till the end of the month.

Mr. Joseph T. Ryerson family is expected back from Europe about the 15th. Mr. James C. Hutchins is back at his home in Chicago, and Mrs. Hutchins will join the Camden, Me., whence they went when they returned from Europe a couple of weeks ago, until Sept. 27. Miss Hutchins is going to school in the east, and Channing will go straight to St. Paul's.

Mr. Frederick T. Vauxes of the north shore arrived here on Friday from their annual summer visit in Europe.

Mackinac Yacht Race Provides Enough Excitement.

The most exciting yacht race of the season at Lake Geneva was held Saturday afternoon. In the Sheridan regatta every single one of the six A class boats entered in the race capsized, either before the starting gun or sometime during the race. Henry H. Porter, sailing the Viking III., was the first to capsize. He went over in the widest part of the lake known as the "narrows." He righted the boat, however, without aid, and, reefing to almost nothing on account of the heavy northwest gale, sailed his craft to victory, as he did last year. It's the first time in the 57 years' history of the Sheridan regatta that every entry finished. The lake was covered with power boats and yachts full of people watching the contest.

The Santa Barbara Old Spanish fiesta was held last week was the occasion for a pageant and numerous dances and parties. The John J. Mitchells and the Charles B. Mitchells gave a dinner for 32 guests at El Paseo on Thursday evening. The party was served on the balcony, with the guests seated at two long tables, one on either side of the patio. The James Ward Thomas had a dinner the same evening, and the Arthur Meekers entertained also. Lelia Withers and Miss Ida Armstrong had a large party of young people at the costume dance at the Montecito Country club on Saturday evening. The fiesta pageant is described as "gay with music and dancing and beautiful costumes." It took place on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday in the De la Guerra plaza. The setting was an old California mission with a replica of the Old Mission silhouetted on a hillside under a mango moon.

The junior auxiliary of the Children's Memorial hospital will have a benefit tea at the White Elephant tearooms sale on Friday.

MARRIAGES INCREASE IN U. S. IN DECADE, GOVERNMENT FINDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 31.—[Special.]—The popularity of the married state has increased during the past decade, or so it would seem from today's census report showing that the percentage of married persons in the population 15 years of age or older was 60.5 per cent in April, 1930, compared with 59.9 per cent in 1920.

The figures suggest, however, that the explanation for a portion of the increase is the unromantic one of the country's recent immigration policy which has halted the general alien influx, but has permitted wives and children of aliens already in this country to come in.

The figures demonstrate the trend. The percentage of increase of married males over 15 years of age increased from 67.6 in 1920 to 70.8 in 1930 among the foreign born white, but only from 56.7 to 57.9 among the native white. Among native white females there was an increase in percentage from 58.6 to 59.7, but among foreign born white females the increase was only from 69.7 to 70.0, that is, an increase of only 0.3 per cent, as against 3.2 per cent among foreign born white males.

Likewise, the excess of married males over married females declined from 530,333 in 1920 to 156,353 in 1930.

Of the 43,881,021 males of 15 years or over in the United States in April, 1930, 34.1 per cent were single, 60 per cent were married, 4.6 per cent were widowed, and 1.1 per cent were divorced.

The respective percentages for the 42,837,149 females were 26.4, 61.1, 11.1, and 1.3.

The percentage of married men in the rural farm population was 57.9 per cent, as compared with 61.1 per cent for rural nonfarm men, and 60.5 in the urban population. And it was shown that among the women the highest percentage married was 66.0 per cent among the rural farm population, as compared with 63.9 per cent in the rural nonfarm population, and only 58.5 per cent in the urban population.

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

WOMAN'S DRESS.

Here is an especially smart dress that may be worn now and through the fall season. There are many good points becoming to the larger woman about them the applied band at the front of the bodice, carried down to meet the hip band, giving a becoming slenderizing line. And the jabot that narrows the breadth through the shoulders. Crêpe marocain and crêpe satin are particularly good for this style dress.

The pattern, 3221, comes in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, and 48 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material with ⅝ yard of 35 inch contrasting and 4⅝ yards of 1½ inch wide banding.

Waltz Regains Public Favor, Teachers Say

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

The younger generation has adopted the waltz. This was declared by members of the Chicago Association of Dancing Masters, in convention in the Congress hotel this week.

It is not as fast as the old fashion waltz, but slow and dreamy, in keeping with the sweetly sentimental music which is in demand, it was said. Louis Stockman, dancing master of Indianapolis, who taught the teachers a waltz step yesterday afternoon, explained that city is ordinarily a hot bed of freak dances. Now, however, ballrooms have every other night as waltz night, and a surprisingly large number of dancers really waltz, he said.

Thomas Birchler, president of the association and publisher of the official journal of the Dancing Masters of America, said that while there were no new dances, only new arrangements, and the public usually kept on dancing the one step and the fox trot despite new arrangements, the trend to the waltz is significant.

"When I was in Los Angeles recently I found one large ballroom made a specialty of the old dances such as the quadrille and the Virginia reel. Perhaps Henry Ford's enthusiasm for old dance forms has had some influence," he said.

"The vanishing influence of jazz music and the accompanying dances and with the reviving vogue of soft, lilting music such as the popular German waltz, 'Two Hearts in Waltz Time,' may influence ballroom manners and customs," Mr. Birchler added.

"As a matter of fact, it may be a mistake for people to turn to the waltz in large numbers," Mr. Birchler declared. "It takes real grace to waltz properly, and when a man cannot even one-step, it seems rather sad that he should try to waltz."

FARM AND GARDEN BY PAUL POTTER

Three pests are attacking dahlia collections of Chicago gardeners this year, according to one of the city's most successful amateurs who lives on the north side of the city. He finds the red spider, the leaf hopper and a small sucking insect called "white flower" are in greater numbers this year than for many seasons.

One of the most successful preparations to combat all three of these pests, which otherwise would ruin plantings, consists mainly of a strong soap solution. Included in this spray material are a nicotine solution and some arsenate of lead.

Some commercial preparations based on the above ingredients, are said to be of such strength that they not only kill the insects, but also destroy the eggs. Because they are effective immediately they stop all further damage. The successful application seems to be to apply the spray every other day for about three times and then once a week until the growing season is ended.

Parisienne Cuffs Coat in Clever New Fashion

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Tramp, tramp, tramp the new coats are marching, out of Paris and all over the world. They step out to the tune of variety for every woman and for all occasions.

The most practical coats I've seen for fall are those that are Parisian in every line, and suitable for wear both in town and way out in the country. These coats are, nine times out of ten, made of heavy diagonal woolen, with a soft nap, which is ironclad, and looks casual but not sporty. They are streamline in silhouette, neither actually fitted nor at all bulky looking. A typical example is sketched today. This model comes from Germaine Lecomte and is made of diagonal wool in a new style color—"horizon blue, which was a great success during the Grande Semaine.

The collar and cuffs of this coat are made of black galliac fur, which is applied in a clever and smart way. The collar is made by folding the fur double and gathering it on to the neckline. Below this collar in front there is a tiny galliac fur yoke, which has two tab ends that close the coat.

The cuffs are tricky things, being made by first applying a straight fitted cuff of galliac almost to the elbow of the sleeves, and by adding to the middle and top of this cuff ruffles of galliac fur that stand out from the sleeves.

The body of the coat, which is made of the woolen material, is trimmed with a design in tiny tucks, as shown.

Sally's Movie Party, Last of Season, Is Few Days Away

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Our party at the Oriental theater Thursday is just a few days distant, boys and girls, and from reports of the show since it opened I am thoroughly convinced that we are going to enjoy the program a lot. The picture is terribly exciting, especially during the races, and it reaches the peak of excitement during the shots of the Kentucky Derby. The stage show will be just as interesting, for it's a brilliant affair with dancing, singing, an orchestra, and lots of comedy.

It's too bad that this must be our last party of the season, but I think the fact that it promises to be such a good one will compensate a lot.

George V. to Be Godfather for Canada Governor's Son

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 31.—(AP)—King George V. of England will be godfather of the infant son of the governor general of Canada and Lady Bessborough, who will be christened by the Bishop of Ottawa on Sept. 22.

The king, it was announced today, has expressed the wish that Sir Robert Borden, former prime minister of Canada, act as his proxy.

Other godparents will be Mrs. Arthur Games, Mrs. Neville Flower, and Lord Stanley, eldest son of the Earl of Derby and member of the British house of commons.

George St. Lawrence Neufilze is the name selected for the baby, who was born Aug. 14. The name commemorates the English king, the river which flows past the city of the child's nativity, and the family of his mother, who was formerly Roberts, daughter of the Baron de Neufilze of Paris.

IRENE DUNNE
of "Cimarron" Fame says:

"When I use Kleenex I have no fears . . .

I know it removes both creams and cosmetics safely!"

A REMARKABLE career! First opera . . . then musical comedy . . . then brilliant triumph in the screen play "Cimarron." Her stage and operatic training brought sure technique to her work in moving pictures.

Kleenex is best

"There's no doubt in my mind about the best way of removing cold cream. That's Kleenex. I am devoted to Kleenex because I am certain it protects against two grave beauty dangers—the danger of leaving particles of dirt and cold cream in the pores—and the danger of carrying germs to the skin through the use of unsanitary towels or cloths."

Kleenex is utterly unlike any tissue substance you have known. Amazingly soft. Downy of surface. Cloth-like of texture. And scientifically made to absorb with unique speed and efficiency.

Without this absorbency, cream and impurities remain stubbornly in the pores. Unseen, perhaps, but ultimately disastrous to complexion beauty.

Many important uses

Kleenex is invaluable in the nursery. It saves towels when manicuring. Motorists like to keep a package always in the automobile.

Kleenex packages are Cellophane-wrapped for perfect cleanliness, and are designed to permit removal of tissues easily with one hand. All drug, dry goods and department stores sell Kleenex.

IF YOU HAVE HAY FEVER ... use Kleenex instead of handkerchiefs! You use each tissue just once, and thus have a fresh, dry one every time—so essential to comfort. Kleenex actually costs less than laundering.

A Flirt ... with an Aching Heart

Gayest of the gay, she seemed. But when alone—the tears came! Lonely, unhappy, no lasting friendships—all because of "B.O."

"Fickle!" they said. "Never twice with the same man." But the bitter truth was . . .

PRIDE made her pretend. Smile though her heart was heavy. Laugh to keep back the tears. Flirt with each new admirer—to try to forget the ones she had lost!

But beneath her gay mask, how empty her life! Friendships that never lasted. Dreams that never came true. Many a night she sobbed herself to sleep like a hurt, bewildered child . . . Tragic that so lovely a girl should be so lonely. Tragic that she didn't realize how she was offending—or the untold harm that carelessness about "B.O." (body odor) can do!

A fatal barrier

If we want to make friends—and hold them—if we want to be popular, happy, successful—we dare not take chances with "B.O."

Merely thinking we're safe isn't enough. The fact that we're not aware of "B.O." in ourselves may simply mean that our sense of smell has become used to an ever-present odor. But others notice a hint of "B.O." instantly—and promptly avoid the offender.

Take no chances. Conquer "B.O." the right way. Don't try to cover it up with powders and lotions. Go straight to the cause. Pores are constantly giving off odor-causing waste—a quart daily. Keep pores clean—deodorized—by frequent bathing with Lifebuoy.

A delightful toilet soap—and more! Lifebuoy's creamy, refreshing, abundant lather penetrates and purifies—removes every trace of odor. Its pleasant, extra-clean scent—that vanishes as you rinse—tells you Lifebuoy is a real "B.O." safeguard.

An ideal complexion soap

Lifebuoy's bland, creamy, pore-purifying lather keeps complexions lovely. Massage it well into the skin nightly, then rinse. It will gently free pores of clogged impurities—quickly coax back fresh, healthy radiance to dull, cloudy skins. Adopt Lifebuoy today.

Try Lifebuoy Free

If you don't use Lifebuoy and want to try it, send a clipping of this offer with your name and address to Lever Brothers Co., Dept. L92, Cambridge, Mass. Two full-sized cakes will be sent you without cost.

Every New Fall Hat Is a Crown of Youth

Set your hat high on your head, pulled down over the right eye in the chic Second Empire manner. Paris has seen to it that these shallow hats are becoming frames for all faces. And you'll be amazed how so little hat can be so becoming—but the large soft waves of your hair show on the left side as sort of compromise for the little bit of hat.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Wesley Ferrell, the young ace of the Cleveland Indians pitching corps, seems to be looking into other branches of stardom, now that he has a no hit game in his record. Take yesterday's game with the White Sox, for instance. Wes' contribution to a 15 to 5 Cleveland victory was two home runs which drove in five runs; a single on which he later scored a run, and a sacrifice which advanced an eventual run.

In addition to these slugging attainments Mr. Ferrell did not lose sight of the fact that he was out for his 18th victory of the season. There is no telling what he could have done if pressed, but he was content to hold the Sox to five unearned runs.

Pat Caraway, the pleasant bridegroom, set out to pitch against Ferrell and succeeded in hanging up his first loss of the year without seeing a pretzel accomplished.

Pat is now only five defeats behind the modern major league record, which has stood since 1907.

Garland Gets Tryout.

After Caraway's precipitate demise, Manager Donie Bush devoted the day to rookie exercise, first using Lou Garland, who reported from Dallas yesterday morning. With the advent of Garland one is practically safe in calling any one "Lou" whom he meets around the Comiskey premises, there now being Treasurer Lou Comiskey, Road Secretary Lou Barbour, Lew Fonseca, Lu Blue, and Mr. Garland himself. If your name happens to be Lou, Lew, or Lu and you are out of work you might apply at the box office. But no aliases, understand.

There isn't any real reason why an author should perspire in the matter of setting down the details of a baseball spectacle in which one team made 15 earned runs and the other made 5 unearned runs, the same socking the run run team back in the cellar. But we'll sketch off a few highlights.

Indians File Across Plate.

Caraway started by walking Burnett. Hodapp singled to right and Burnett went to third. Averill doubled to right, scoring Burnett, Hodapp stopping at third. Pat went away and his 21st defeat seemed assured when Morgan welcomed Garland into the big show with a single to center which drove in Hodapp and Averill, both of

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Jack Westland, a local boy who plays a right steady game of golf around his home club of Sunset Ridge out in Winnetka as well as on other courses in this neighborhood, yesterday shot a 72, one over par, to lead the field at the end of the first day of qualifying play in the thirty-fifth annual United States amateur tournament at the Beverly Country club.

Westland finished the first qualifying round one stroke ahead of Gus Moreland, a youth of 20 from Dallas, Tex., who staged a fine recovery on his last nine to come home with a 73. Grouped at 74 is a quintet composed of Francis Ouimet of Boston, Mass., who won the amateur title in 1914; Johnny Goodman of Omaha, Neb., who made himself famous by defeating Bobby Jones in the 1929 tournament; Charley Seaver, the chunky blond football player from Stanford university; Arthur [Ducky] Yates of Rochester, N. Y., and Lester Bolstad of St. Paul, Minn.

The qualifying round will be concluded today with another 18 holes of medal play, the low 32 scorers for the 36 advancing to the match play. Two 18 hole matches will be played tomorrow, with the quarter finals on Thursday, the semi-finals Friday, and the title match Saturday, all at 36 holes.

Westland at His Best.

The fact that Westland is leading the field is no surprise to followers of his game in these parts. A few days ago he won the Chicago district amateur championship with the same type of game he displayed yesterday, and he has been walking off with one invitational tournament after another in the district all season.

Two years ago Westland went to England to compete in the British amateur, but the boat was late. He was consequently tardy at the starter's tee and tournament officials wouldn't accept his entry. So he hied himself across the channel to France, there to win the French amateur title.

Moreland is a stranger to national competition, this being his first trip outside of Texas. He holds the Texas state and Dallas city titles, and has won eight invitational tournaments thus far this season. He attended Texas Christian university last year, but withdrew and is now learning the cotton business in Dallas. He won the Houston invitational tournament by defeating Johnny Goodman, 2 up.

Westland is not the only Chicagoan who appears to have a good chance to reach the match play rounds. Russell Martin of Flossmoor and Doug Casey of Riverside each had 76's yesterday. Johnny Lehman of Olympia Fields and Rudy Knepper of Onwentsia 78's, Dick Martin of Briergate and Art Sweet of Ridgemoor 79's.

The narrow fairways of the Beverly course, with their heavily wooded borders, stopped a majority of the field and the big scoreboard near the home green was filled with strange figures opposite several important names, Harrison Johnston, who won the title

In the WAKE of the NEWS

AMATEUR GOLFERS.

FOR the first time since 1924 the national amateur golf championship is being decided at Beverly Country club this week without a "standout" favorite for the title. That is due primarily to the absence of one Robert T., or Bobby, Jones, and secondarily to the absence of George Von Elm, who has become a "business man golfer," which involves the acceptance of contaminating lucre when competing in open meets.

While a successor to Jones as champion will be determined, a successor to Jones in reputation will not. That is impossible in one year. Some think it will be impossible in any number of years. Still, from among this field of 134 eligibles may emerge a young man of whom we will be writing a half dozen years hence as we have written of Bobby. It would take at least that long a period of similar exploits and consistent success to place any one on a pedestal with the Georgian.

Bobby Jones won his first amateur title in 1925, although he had been runner-up to S. D. Herron in 1919 and medalist in 1920 and 1922. For seven years he was beaten only twice in national amateur title play and was medalist four times. George Von Elm beat Bobby in the finals of 1926 and Johnny Goodman of Nebraska eliminated him in the first round at 18 holes in 1929 on the tricky Del Monte (Cal.) course.

This brief recapitulation is merely that readers may understand what should be a strong feeling of relief on the part of other contestants that Jones is not among those playing. Five former champions are among the field seeking to qualify—Chick Evans, Harrison Johnston, Max Marston, Jesse Guilford, and Francis Ouimet. Of this five, only Johnston and Ouimet are placed among the ten "seeded" in the draw of U. S. G. A. officials.

MALONE LIKELY TO LEAD CUBS AGAINST SOX

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Having no business of their own to look after, several Cubs were unofficial observers during yesterday's White Sox game at Comiskey park. After playing twelve contests in eight days they naturally wanted to see somebody else at work. They also were in search of a few pointers which might be of assistance when they engage the Sox on the south side lot in the cause of charity Sept. 9.

Whether Rogers Hornsby, the Cub boss, secretly had designated any scouts to report back to him on all the little things baseball managers like to know about the opposition, isn't known. Probably not. But, anyway, when the Sox do get face to face with their old rivals from the north side they are going to look at one of the best Cub hurlers. There are those who insist that Hornsby doesn't own one, but he actually does.

Malone Groomed for Sept. 9.

With second place money at stake and a double header with the tough Cardinals two days before the debate for charity, there naturally must be some doubt as to what man Hornsby will have available. But his plan is to arrange things in such a way as to have Pat Malone ready. Pat, if everything goes as scheduled, will labor about next Saturday against the Reds and then replenish his bag of tricks for the charity assignment. Root and Bush will have to attend to taking care of the Cardinals here on Labor day.

The Cubs can have another session of sightseeing today, after which they must move down to Cincinnati for their final tour of the season.

Herman Makes Impression.

Hornsby, who by experience should know a second sacker when he sees one, was not at all displeased by the actions of Billy Herman, who on Sunday played his first big league game. The youngster has the ideal throw for second base work and has a leisurely way of handling grounders. His hitting is something that must be proven, but he at least showed in his first game that he can draw a fine line between strikes and pitches that are not over the plate.

Benny Frey Outpitches Brother; Reds Win, 7-3

Jackson, Mich., Aug. 31.—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds played an exhibition game here today in the home town of Benny Frey, pitcher, and Benny defeated a picked team from the Jackson Industrial league, 7 to 3. Benny's brother, Andy, started against him on the mound, but lasted only four innings, during which the Cincinnati team made six of its runs.

Sun Beau Champion of the Turf

BY FRENCH LANE.

If Sun Beau, the conqueror, could talk and was in a mood to call to mind some of his earliest recollections, he probably would tell you about a conversation he overheard late in the spring of 1925 down in the Shenandoah valley of Virginia.

"Did you ever see such an awkward, crooked legged, shambling colt?" he heard John Theis, a caretaker at Willis Sharpe Kilmer's Court Manor farm there in the valley of Virginia, ask.

"No, John, I don't believe I ever did," was Kilmer's answer.

Other young thoroughbreds were cantering about in the same paddock. One, later to be known as Reigh Count, became an American champion. Brothers, cousins, and distant relatives browsing beneath the Virginia sun in this little group were horses such as Sun Edwin, Sun Roman, and Sun Friar—familiar names to every racegoer.

Beautiful Lady Tries to Cheer Her Son.

Sun Beau was running at the side of his fashionable mother, Beautiful Lady. In the paddock not far away across the rolling grazing ground was his handsome and magnificent daddy, Sun Briar.

Beautiful Lady looked quickly down at the son by her side to see if he had been listening when the remark was made. She was certain that he had and she probably whinnied in his ear:

"Don't mind those humans, sonny. Beauty is only skin deep, and actions speak louder than words."

At least if she didn't make the remark she comforted him as all mothers have a way of doing. And a few minutes later the little awkward colt was scampering and playing around his paddock as carefree as ever.

He never dreamed that six years later he was to thrill all that part of the world wherein a well put up, courageous, and fleet horse is loved and gazed upon with delight—by rolling up a world's money winning record of nearly half a million dollars.

Strikes Up Friendship with Old Caretaker.

After hearing John Theis make this disparaging remark about him it was rather strange that the awkward colt, to be known as Sun Beau, should strike up a friendship with the soft spoken, thin faced, blue eyed little man. Hadn't Theis months ago apparently abandoned all hope of the misshapen colt ever becoming a good race horse?

But such a friendship did ripen. The time Sun Beau did not spend playing and galloping with his cousin, Reigh Count, was spent at the heels of John Theis, loitering with him and eating lumps of sugar and carrots from his hands.

Last year after fame had come his way and Sun Beau was rushing along toward a world's championship which even then seemed far away, John Theis died.

Maybe Sun Beau heard about it or maybe he doesn't know now that his old friend is dead. But if he did receive the sad message, folks on the Kilmer farm believe he must have mourned his passing and might even have remarked to some of his stablemates:

"John was the kindest man I've ever known. He thought more of some of us colts than he did of his family. It may sound boastful on my part, but I think he helped bring out more good horses than any man of his time. Reigh Count will agree with me in this, for John Theis did as many nice things for him, back in those days when we had just been taken away from our mothers, as he did for me. We two were always together when the sugar lumps, the carrots, and the friendly pats on the neck or the nose were passed out by this kind man."

Goes to Sun Briar Court for Early Training.

Sun Beau lingered in the Valley of Virginia until he was more than a year old. Then, along with Reigh Count and some 20 others of his age, he was shipped to Sun Briar Court on the banks of the Susquehanna near Binghamton, N. Y. Here he was soon to have a saddle strapped on his back, a steel bit placed in his mouth, a bridle adjusted over his head and ears and to get his first racing lessons.

Sun Beau was growing fast, so fast in fact that he was languid and didn't appear to have much ambition.

Late in the fall of 1926 he was asked to do his best in the yearling trials at Sun Briar court. Other youngsters, among them Reigh Count, Sun Roman

Fight Decisions

At Pittsburgh, Pa.—Tuffy Griffith, Chicago, knocked out Emmett Rocco, Elmwood City, Pa. [5]; Harold Scarney, Youngstown, O., beat Tom Williams, Chicago [8].

At Grand Rapids, Mich.—Charles Berlanger, Winnipeg, Can., and Mart Levandowski, Wayland, Mich., drew [10].

New York, Aug. 31.—[Special.]—Ernie Schaaf, Elizabeth, N. J., protege of Jack Sharkey, knocked out Victorio Campolo, South American giant, tonight in the seventh round of their scheduled twelve round battle at Ebbets field, Brooklyn, and put an end to the Argentine boxer's heavyweight championship dreams.

A crowd of about 7,000 saw the 225 pound Campolo go down under a short left hook to the jaw after 1 minute and 45 seconds of the seventh round, to take submissively the ten second count from Referee Gunboat Smith.

Campolo Just Used Up.

Campolo wasn't knocked out in the sense that he was unconscious. He was simply at the end of his tether. He could stand up no more under the punishment inflicted by Schaaf's flailing arms.

The left hook to the jaw which finished Campolo didn't travel more than a few inches and was no more powerful than any of the five or six smashing left hooks which Schaaf caromed off his rival's jaw in the fourth round.

Schaaf kept after Campolo in the seventh round, forcing him about the ring banging away at Campolo's body, until finally, in an exchange at close quarters near his own corner, Campolo sank to the floor.

GRIFFITH KNOCKS OUT ROCCO.

Harold Scarney, 186½, Youngstown, O., won an eight round decision over Long Tom Williams, 192¾, Chicago Negro.

BERLANGER HELD TO DRAW.

Beverly 11th Hardest Hole for Amateurs

The par 5 eleventh hole at Beverly is the toughest of the course, the players competing in the National amateur qualifying trials agreed yesterday. It is 590 yards and had to be negotiated against a strong head wind. Only two birdies were made on this hole, Paul Jackson of Kansas City and Harrison Johnston of St. Paul turning the trick.

The gallery was partial to the Chicago entries. Chick Evans of Edgewater, holder of the national amateur title in 1916 and 1920, playing with Johnny Goodman of Omaha, attracted the largest following. Five hundred trailed this pair around the 18 holes. Evans had a 40—39—79, which places him within shooting distance of a qualifying position today.

Dr. O. F. Willing continues to be the most methodical player in big league golf. His knickers are worn where he kneels to sight his putts. Players who have competed with him before say he is playing faster this year.

Cyril Tolley, one of those playing by invitation, was out in 39, but took 46 coming in. It seemed every one but Tolley was upset over it. Tolley has the laziest swing of the tournament, but the power is there.

Charles Becka, the Calumet junior star, is the youngest entrant. He is 15. Neither Capt. Carter nor Dr. Willing seemed interested in who was the oldest starter.

Francis Ouimet's iron play was a joy to behold. He was on the pin all the way around and had the wind gauged nearly to perfection.

Ira Couch went to the 17th hole needing two pars to break 80. He drove over the green, but played a delicate downhill chip shot of about 50 feet that almost dropped. After his par 3 there, he had no trouble in getting his par 5 at the 18th.

The number of deuces on the cards shows that iron play was of high caliber. Most of the better known golfers had one. Harold Weber, Inverness club, Toledo, was the only

WHEN AMATEUR STARS BEGAN DUEL WITH PAR AT BEVERLY

BATTLESHIP WINS MANOR PURSE AT LINCOLN FIELDS

Man o' War's Son Stages Thrilling Rally.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Battleship, son of Man o' War, fought his way through the most exciting stretch battle of the season at Lincoln Fields yesterday and won the Manor purse at a mile by a head in the final strides.

His drive, which started at the head of the stretch after he had been outrun in the early part of it, carried him past all the others in the small field of five and got him up just in time to conquer Uncommon Gold, which had been leading from the beginning.

Battleship Worries Backers.

At odds-on in the betting, Battleship gave his army of backers heart trouble while Uncommon Gold, Neille Custis, Calf Roper, and Prince Athelring were outrunning him in the early stages. And it gave them a second attack of heavy heart thumps when he put on his brilliant rally and drove toward the lead.

He made up more than six lengths in his drive down the stretch, and he stepped his mile in 1:37, the fastest mile that has been run at Lincoln Fields this year. As he made his winning run Jockey Charley Allen was riding him brilliantly, urging him on to greater deeds at every leap.

Runner-up Shows Class.

Uncommon Gold, making his first start here after running some good races at Thistledown, proved to be a hard nut to crack and didn't give up until Battleship showed his nose in front in the last second of the struggle.

In the betting Battleship paid $3.80 to win, $2.70 to place and $3.24 to show. Uncommon Gold's place price was $4.66 and he was at $2.88 to show. Calf Roper, with many backers, paid $3.66 to show.

There's nothing about the 2 year old Cathop which his big brother, old Mike Hall, should be ashamed of. In fact, little brother ran a race just like the races that made old Mike famous when he won the Roby purse from a band of stylish 3 year olds yesterday.

Cathop a Game One.

Old Mike never ran a gamer race in the stretch than Cathop did to conquer Newgro and win by a head with such a good colt as Marmion finishing third.

Cathop seems to have more early speed than old Mike did in his younger days and it helped him a lot in this encounter for Newgro. Unencumbered and Marmion were out in front making a terrific pace as they fought for the lead.

Turning into the stretch, Cathop moved alongside them and the race soon developed into a two horse affair between Newgro and Cathop. They fought like a couple of young vicious bulldogs from the head of the stretch home. Cathop looked like old Mike Hall as he hung on in such a game fashion. And he looked all the more like Mike when he spurted right at the finish line and stuck his nose in front.

Pays Faithful $7.38.

Far back of them in third place came Marmion with Unencumbered, Oh Dave and other challengers helpless behind in their lively trip down the stretch. Cathop ran his six furlongs in 1:13 1-5 and in the betting paid $7.38.

Trainer Taylor, who handles Cathop and who has also trained Mike Hall, is of the opinion Cathop may develop into a better horse than Mike.

Jockey Bryant Is Refused New License

Jockey Dave Bryant, who got into trouble during the Hawthorne meeting when he suddenly left town after he had reported he had been threatened with "a ride" for piloting the 2 year old Givanna to an unexpected victory, didn't fare well when his case came before the Illinois license committee yesterday.

Evidence was introduced to show that Bryant had told numerous persons to bet on another horse in the same race. He had been riding under a temporary permit, pending action on his application for a license. This application was denied at yesterday's meeting, which virtually rules Bryant off the turf until he can make his peace with the committee.

Jockey G. Depeso's suspension was continued for the remainder of the year. Action was taken against him at Arlington, when he refused to ride the horse Ironsides after the field had lined up at the barrier.

Jockey Willie Garner, under suspension since June 5, when he was set down for alleged grasping at the equipment of another jockey, was restored to good standing.

Everything that Tony Pelleteri of New Orleans touches continues to turn to gold. Last week at Saratoga he took the 2 year old Marlene out of a claiming race. Yesterday Marlene carried Pelleteri's silks for the first time and won the 2 year old maiden race which opened the program at Lincoln Fields.

The Illinois Thoroughbred Owners' association, of which Albert J. Sabath is president, is to be reorganized at a special meeting in the Lincoln Fields clubhouse at noon Thursday, Mr. Sabath announced yesterday.

Supreme Sweet showed all her old time speed in the second race yesterday, when she led from start to finish and beat all her rivals by a wide margin. Willa, which had shared the bulk of the backing with Supreme Sweet, wasn't able to finish in the money. Patricia Ann ran second and Nifty third.

Pick Chicago Cricket Team for Three Games

A picked team of eleven men was chosen yesterday by the Illinois Cricket association to represent Chicago in a quadrangular tournament in Detroit Sept. 5, 6 and 7. The Chicagoans will leave Friday for the Motor City and will meet the Windsor, Border Cities and Detroit teams.

MARLENE, never far back and on the outside much of the distance, worked her way up gradually after reaching the stretch and heading the leaders, drew out fast in the final stages. RAPID BIRDIE began slowly, remained far back until the final three-sixteenths, where she moved up strongly. PRECEDE raced forwardly and had no mishap. BOOBY BIRD had speed, neared the lead in the stretch, then weakened. BONNET, fractious at the post, was in close quarters in the stretch. WATER HEN met light interference. SUSU almost fell when crowded back at the far turn and was not persevered with thereafter, VOLCRY quit badly.

SUPREME SWEET, easily best and benefited by lack of early contention, quickly increased her advantage at the stretch turn and, maintaining good speed thereafter, won easily. PATRICIA ANN began fast, lost ground at the far turn and, shaking off NIFTY after a half mile, went evenly thereafter. Latter began fast, saved ground and faltered in the final strides, but outstayed WILLA. Latter lacked speed to keep up and closed fast after coming in the extreme outside in the stretch. CHICAGO GIRL broke slowly and failed to improve her position. BERNICE VAN quit.

CATHOP, lucky to keep up while in extremely close quarters the opening three-sixteenths, worked his way clear at the far turn, forced the pace rounding the turn under slight restraint and, closing gamely under a strong ride, won down NEWGRO. Latter began fast, had good speed and, holding on stubbornly, only gave way in the final sixteenth yards. MARMION, away around early and, holding on well in his every effort, outfinished UNENCUMBERED. Latter in hand opening half mile, failed to respond when put to a drive. OH DAVE had no mishap. BATTLESHIP, much the best, began well, but was taken back under strong restraint, bore out slightly at the three-quarters, was forced wide in the stretch. After beginning to move up entering the stretch and, closing strongly when clear, disposed of the leaders to win drawing out. UNCOMMON GOLD had his best speed, was rated along cleverly opening three-quarters, and held on well under pressure, but was no match for the winner. CALF ROPER saved ground throughout and weakened slightly after good effort, moving up in the stretch. PRINCE ATHELING was outrun. NELLIE CUSTIS had speed, but weakened after three-quarters and bore out when entering the stretch.

FIFTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse $1,300. Claiming. Three year olds. Net value to winner, $950; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50.

REVERBERATE, away last at the start, followed the early pacemakers under slight restraint, quickly drew into command after reaching final half mile, but had little left. ANNIE REE, a forward factor throughout, was forced wide in the stretch and, after entering the stretch and disposed of the latter, but did not threaten the winner. GREY KITTY, taken into the lead, had good speed, was weakly ridden rounding the second turn, and weakened after bearing out badly. PEACE PRINCESS had no mishap. TRUNWIN was never a formidable factor. OCCURRENCE was blocked by WEEDROOT at the start. Latter was unprepared for the break and caromed into OCCURRENCE.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse $1,300. Claiming. Four year olds and up. Net value to winner, $950; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50.

DABSTER, away slowly, was taken under restraint after moving up slightly rounding the stretch turn and, responding strongly in the final three-sixteenths, drew to the leaders to win easily. DELMONICO had speed, gradually wore down TIGER FLOWERS, and weakened in the final eighth, but outstayed WINNIE JO. Latter, under slight restraint for three-quarters, met slight interference in the stretch and, rallying well when clear, TIGER FLOWERS weakened in the final drive. BEARCRY had early speed. HOST was always far back.

WATERGAP, rated along under steadying restraint to the final quarter, responded well and, standing the drive gamely, got up in the final strides. ANNAN had good speed, saved ground throughout and, holding on stubbornly, just failed to last. KING PIN raced wide and held on creditably. NURSERY RHYMES, fractious at the post, closed strongly. MADCAP MARVIN, crowded back slightly at the first turn, lost some ground and lacked usual belated speed. ROYAL MANAGER was outrun throughout and went very wide at the stretch turn. BOY had no mishap and sulked.

Thompson to Risk Title Against Brouillard Oct. 23

Boston, Mass., Aug. 31.—(AP)—The Boston Garden today announced the signing of Young Jack Thompson, welterweight boxing champion, and Lou Brouillard of Worcester, for a championship match at the Garden Oct. 23. The bout will be 15 rounds. Brouillard beat Thompson in a non-title bout here several months ago.

Leiter Scores First Victory at Saratoga

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 31.—[Special.]—Joseph Leiter of Chicago gained his first success of the Saratoga meeting when his iron grey filly, Princess Camella, won the 29th running of the Kentucky claiming stakes here today. The filly ran under top weight of 119 pounds and won by a length and a half over Willis Sharpe Kilmer's Dark Seeker, which had been running in stake company previous to today.

Princess Camella ran coupled in the betting with Princess Aulip and the two were made favorite at 3 to 2 in a nine horse field. Eugene James was the winning rider and had to manage his mount skillfully in order to land the $3,775, which was the winner's share of the purse.

Drives Ahead In Stretch.

James held Princess Camella off the early pace, which was set by Mrs. Herbert Pulitzer's Emancipate and by Dark Seeker, and then came to the outside of both horses at the head of the stretch. He drove ahead outside the furlong pole with Princess Camella, making a great show of foot to get clear of Dark Seeker.

The dash was at five and one-half furlongs, and Leiter's color bearer finished the route in 1:06 3-5 over a fast track. Mea, a game winner previously at the meeting, closed strongly to land third, four lengths back of Princess Camella.

Big Beau Wins Final.

Princess Camella was one of the few favorites which won on a day that saw several thrilling finishes. One came in the last race when Hal Price Headley's colt, Big Beau, staged a finish that stamps him as one of the best juveniles at the meeting.

Champions Get to Moore in Seventh Inning.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 31.—[Special.]—Waite Hoyt, the pitcher who wasn't good enough to remain with the Tigers, turned in his second straight shutout for the Philadelphia athletics, blanking the Boston Red Sox, 3 to 0, with seven hits today.

Wiley Moore, on the mound for Boston, was equally effective until the seventh, when Cramer singled to drive in Hoyt, who had walked, and Bishop, who had doubled. Jimmy Foxx collected his 24th homer of the season. Score:

HEYNEN WINS RIVER FOREST GOLF WITH 78

W. W. Heynen shot a 78 to take low gross honors in the fourth annual golf tournament of the Bokum and Dingle company at River Forest yesterday. The low net prize was shared by Russell Nelson, 80—8—72; Gene Gregsen, 84—12—72, and Roger Bolivin, 84—12—72. Julius Friend won the putting prize with 31.

Blind Bogey victors in the tournament were George Clark, 93; Leverett Walker, 82, and Paul Dittman, 99. John H. Dingle had the best card for the par 3 holes, a 14. Walter Tarpy was the high gross scorer of the day with 104.

Old Teammates to Watch Stagg's Maroons vs. Yale

Six of the eleven players who, with Amos Alonzo Stagg, helped Yale win the 1888 intercollegiate football championship, will be present when Yale and Chicago meet on the Midway Oct. 17. Incidentally, that Yale team established a season's scoring record which has never been beaten, making no points to their opponents' none. The six have been extended a special invitation to attend the game by the Yale Club of Chicago.

The six who will be present are George W. Woodruff, right guard; W. W. (Pudge) Heffelfinger, left guard, one of the greatest guards of all times and who is at present living in Minneapolis; Charley Gill, left tackle, who scored 14 touchdowns; W. H. Corbin, the captain, whose cap, the signal to many a Yale signal, is still talked about by members of the "way back when" club; William C. Wurtemberg, quarter who scored 20 touchdowns, and Billy Graves, left half, later a professor in the Harvard medical school.

MOON MULLINS—THE OLD LOUD SPEAKER

Giants Take Double Bill from Braves

Boston, Mass., Aug. 31.—[Special.]—Fred Fitzsimmons and old Clarence Mitchell pitched the New York Giants to a double victory over the Braves here today, 3 to 2 and 4 to 3. The second game went ten innings before Mel Ott drove in Bill Terry with the deciding run.

Fitzsimmons was touched for only six hits, while the Giants were nicking Fred Frankhouse for eight. Frankhouse forced in the winning run with a pass to Eddie Marshall with the bases loaded in the ninth.

Three baseball fans who, Sunday, expressed their dislike for the Cubs by hurling an empty whisky bottle out of the upper deck of the grandstand, were placed under peace bonds of $1,000 each yesterday by Judge Thomas A. Their bottle struck Joseph Caruso, 3140 West Adams street.

player to score two deuces, but three 7s spoiled the card.

The 18th pin was a difficult one to get close to. There is a hollow in front of the green which slopes up from the fairway. Johnny Lehman played a fine niblick shot from the rough for his par 5.

Ray Schalk, Cubs coach and former White Sox catcher, took advantage of an open date in the schedule to watch the boys swing a golf club. Ray took a position at the 18th green and kept a close watch on the finishers.

Bobby Jones caused a ripple of excitement every time he emerged from the clubhouse where he maintained court. The present title holder, who is here in the capacity of a journalist, was attended by Frank Craven, the actor. The latter hasn't missed a major tournament in years.

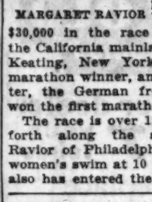
One of the busiest men on the grounds was Philip G. Lenz of Beverly, general chairman of the tournament. Everything movd along in orderly fashion, all twosomes starting off on scheduled time. Mr. Lenz saw to that.

Bernice Wall, star woman golfer, observed proceedings from the clubhouse porch.

All five officers of the U. S. G. A. were on hand for the opening day festivities. The committee consists of H. H. Ramsay, president; Robert M. Cutting, vice president; Rodman E. Griscom, vice president; Prescott S. Bush, secretary, and Charles H. Sabin, treasurer.

200 Practice for $15,000 Toronto Swim Tomorrow

TORONTO, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Headed by Marvin Nelson, Fort Dodge, Ia., swimmer, who won the Canadian national swim marathon last year, more than 200 of North America's professionals were practicing today for the 1931 event, to be contested Wednesday.



MARGARET RAVIOR

Included in the list who will enter Lake Ontario day after tomorrow in search of Nelson's laurels and the $15,000 in prizes are George Young, who won $30,000 in the race from Catlain to the California mainland in 1927; Eddie Keating, New York, 1929 Canadian marathon winner, and Ernst Vierkoetter, the German from Toronto who won the first marathon.

The race is over 15 miles, back and forth along the shore. Margaret Ravior of Philadelphia, who won the women's swim at 10 miles last Friday, also has entered the men's race.

Westland's 72 Leads National Amateur Golf

two years ago, and T. Philip Perkins, former British amateur champion who is one of the favorites in the Beverly meet, formed a twosome and each came up with an incredible 82. Cyril Tolley, another one time British titleholder, shot an 85.

Dr. O. F. Willing, Portland, Ore., dentist, went around in 80, while George Voigt of New York, who has received considerable mention as a title possibility, came in with a 78. Chick Evans, national champion in 1916 and 1920, had a 79, and Max Marston, who won in 1923, was around in 78.

Sinks 30 Foot Putt.

Westland's card included five birdies, four of them on the first nine, which is rated the difficult half of the Beverly course. He was out in 33, three strokes under par. He began his round by dropping his second shot in a trap on the first hole. But he blasted out nicely and holed a 12 foot putt for a 4. He was short of the green on the second, but pitched on and sank a 15 footer for his first birdie.

Westland failed to reach the third green also, but came out with a par 3. On the fourth he sliced his tee shot into the rough at the right, but his putter gave him another birdie, the ball rolling in from 20 feet out. He took a par 4 at the fifth in regulation style. His longest putt of the day, a 30 footer, gave him another under par hole at the sixth, but he was one over on the seventh, where he made a poor approach. He redeemed that with another birdie on the eighth, and finished the first nine with a par 4.

Westland matched par at the short tenth, but took 4 to get on the 11th green and had 6. He was over par on the 12th, played even on the 13th and 14th and was over on the 15th and 16th, missing the green each time. He found a trap at the seventeenth and took a four, one over par. He concluded the day with a birdie 4 on the home green.

Moreland Finishes Well.

Moreland didn't do as well as Westland on the first nine, finishing with a 39, but he came back with a rush on the inward stretch, turning it in 34. He caught himself a birdie on the first, but was over par on the second, sixth, eighth and ninth. He followed the card perfectly on the last nine except on the fourteenth and eighteenth, where he collected his second and third birdies of the round.

whom were chargeable to Caraway's account.

The Indians scored at least one run in every inning up till the seventh, and in the fifth and sixth they made four runs in each. In the fifth Seeds made a homer and Ferrell made his first one and in the next inning Wes knocked his second homer, good for three runs.

The first hit off Ferrell was a double with which Reynolds opened the fourth. But it took an error by Hodapp to get Carl home.

In the eighth a couple of walks, a couple of errors and a single by Blue gave the Sox four runs.

The same teams will play this afternoon and Bob Weiland is slated for a try at finding the plate. He will be opposed by Mel Harder.

Jacksnipe to Be Hunters' Chief Prey

BY BOB BECKER.

Although the government has found it necessary to cut down the open season on waterfowl this fall, the craftiest game bird of all is still on the "open schedule" and the marsh hunters have some good days ahead of them. The jacksnipe, the trick flyer of the lowlands, should provide plenty of sport this fall, even though the duck business will be in the doldrums.

The new hunting regulations state that the open season on jacks will run as usual, beginning on Oct. 1, the same day that the Illinois duck season begins. Inasmuch as we get practically no flight ducks in the state until late in October and we have just a few home grown ducks, about the only sport to be had in the marshes during the early part of the season will be jacksnipe hunting.

Drought Corners Birds.

Due to the drought there should be many jacksnipe in comparatively small areas of marshes this fall. In ordinary years these wading birds can spread out over considerable territory to feed in the soft muck. But this year many a bayou, slough or other feeding ground is so dry that the jacks will not be able to get a meal in them. Therefore, the hunter is quite likely to find flocks of the long billed birds concentrated in those parts of the lowlands which have managed to stay moist.

There are few small game birds which provide sportier shooting than the jacksnipe. Usually it's an awful job wallowing through the mud to flush the birds, but the labor is well worth the effort unless the mud is too deep. Perhaps this hard walking in hip boots is one reason why acres of good snipe marshes in the Illinois river country are never touched.

Mud Hampers Sport.

Last fall on Cuba island near Astoria we tried navigating in a wonderful stretch of soft mud where jacksnipe were abundant, but it couldn't be done. So we had only a few shots at the jacks, which twisted and sideslipped over the mud flats to their hearts' content.

Even with Jack, our spaniel retriever, it was impossible to get around and do much shooting at these acrobats. First we got stuck in the mud, and finally it looked as if the dog would have to be dragged out with a tractor.

200 MILLIONS GO TO LEGATEES OF PAYNE WHITNEY

New York, Aug. 31.—[Special.]—The estate of Payne Whitney, who died May 26 1927, increased in value $53,721,270.65 between the day of his death and its distribution among the legatees approximately two years later, an accounting filed today in the Surrogates' court reveals.

Mr. Whitney, one of the world's richest men, died leaving an estate valued at $186,579,746.39. During the next two years the executor realized $7,414,898.26 as profits on property sold, and the unsold securities which they retained during that bull market period increased in value by $45,306,-373.29; the total estate which they, as executors, finally distributed; therefore, amounted to $239,301,017.04.

The executors are Lewis Cass Ledyard, the United States Trust company and Lewis Cass Ledyard Jr. Their accounting shows that $17,364,012.89 was paid to the state of New York for inheritance, transfer and estate taxes; $4,350,013.32 to the United States government; $253,886.14 to the state of Maine; $26,376.45 to the state of Ohio, and $44,965.54 to other states, making a total of $23,179,274.31.

Other Claims Paid.

In addition $2,223,087.55 was paid for income taxes assessed against the decedent, $383,430.50 for amount due on pledges to charitable and educational institutions, and $13,542,076.21 for debts, funeral expenses and expenses of administration.

Those expenditures, added to those for inheritance, transfer and estate taxes, brought the total expenditures of the executors to $38,827,858.63, leaving a net estate of $200,973,154.41, from which they paid legacies as follows:

Katherine B. Barnes, a cousin, $150,000.

Frank S. Rollins and Elmer D. Gault, office associates, $50,000 each.

Others, including friends, relatives and associates, $738,641.07, making a total of $3,291,922.22, and leaving a residuary estate of $197,681,235.19.

Principal Securities Held.

Of this residuary estate, Mrs. Whitney received $63,102,816, and two children, Joan Whitney Payson and John Hay Whitney, equal amounts of $31,-551,408, paid to the trustees of their estates. Charles S. Payson, a son-in-law, received $3,286,605.

The accounts show that among the principal securities held by Mr. Whitney at the time of his death were the following:

$14,485,000 par value of United States Liberty, New York state, and New York City bonds, appraisal, $15,-689,806.45.

$7,500,000 par value of Northern Finance corporation 6s, appraisal, $7,531,250.00.

10,645 shares Ligget & Myers Tobacco Co. common B, appraisal, $1,-258,464.00.

141,600 shares Vanadium corporation, appraisal $6,513,600.

Stock Holdings Increase.

The increase in value was realized principally in a block of 44,363 shares of Northern Finance corporation, which was appraised at $111,436,190.38 when Mr. Whitney died and was delivered to the legatees at $160,705,-546.82.

The Northern Finance corporation was organized some years ago as a holding and investment company by Col. Oliver H. Payne, one of the founders of Standard Oil, and an uncle for whom Mr. Whitney was named.

FRED HAMMILL.

Mr. Hammill had been in failing health for more than a year. The immediate cause of death, however, was heart failure following an attack of pneumonia.

Five years ago he retired from the Rock Island position and had since devoted his activities to the national railroad board of wage adjustment of which he was a member.

Mr. Hammill was a member of the Union League club and also of the Masonic order. The Racine lodge of Masons will have charge of his burial in Racine tomorrow.

Mr. Hammill is survived by his widow, Mrs. Jennie G. Hammill, a daughter, Mrs. Arlene Haller of Chicago, and a granddaughter, Gladys Haller.

ANDY GUMP AND HIS FAMILY MAKE THEIR DEBUT ON THE RADIO

The Gumps, Sidney Smith's famous TRIBUNE cartoon family, took the air from W-G-N at 6:45 o'clock last night. The vicissitudes of the famed comic strip family will be presented from 6:45 to 7 every night except Sunday.

City Greeter George D. Gaw presented the keys of the city to Sidney Smith, who turned them over to Andy. In introducing Andy, Min and the rest of the family, Mr. Smith expressed the hope that radio listeners might have as much fun listening to the doings of the Gumps as he has had in depicting their doings for seventeen years.

More than 100 auditions were held before the ideal cast for the Gumps was found. The part of Andy is played by John J. Boyle, formerly of Milwaukee. Min's rôle is taken by Dorothy Denvir. A mother and son, Mrs. Charles Flynn and Charles Jr. are playing Tilda and Chester.

QUESTION FATHER OF BOY KILLED BY HIS MOTHER

Joseph Lynch, father of 4 year old Joseph Lynch Jr., who was chloroformed to death on Sunday in the Clayton hotel, 2026 North Clark street, by his mother, Mrs. Helen Lynch, who afterward tried to kill herself by leaping from the hotel window, was questioned at the inquest into the child's death yesterday at the county morgue.

The father was unable to supply a motive for the death and the attempted suicide. The inquest was continued to Sept. 30 in order to give the authorities further opportunity to question the mother, who is in the Bridewell hospital with a broken neck vertebra. Physicians say she is likely to die.

Police found empty whisky bottles in the room in the hotel occupied by Mrs. Lynch, but the woman's mother, Mrs. Annabelle Putnam, 2318 North 17th street, Milwaukee, who also was questioned at the inquest, said her daughter never drank.

Lynch, who was found at 1374 Greenleaf avenue, said he had not been in communication with his wife for several months. He intimated that she might have come to Chicago from Milwaukee to meet some other man. A hotel telephone operator testified that Mrs. Lynch attempted to reach her husband by telephone after she had registered.

BIG MAIL ORDER HOUSE MERGER DEAL IS OFF

Unable to Agree on Terms, Wood Says.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Nobody need worry or speculate any longer on a prospective merger of Sears, Roebuck & Co. and Montgomery Ward & Co. As far as the former is concerned, there will be no mail order octopus. The same reassurance goes to the patrons of these companies' chain stores. The stockholders of both companies need not fret about terms of exhange and, finally, New York bankers need not speculate on the pleasant emoluments that usually attend a big consolidation.

A. E. WOOD.
[Mallat Photo.]

In other words, the much rumored merger of Sears and Ward is all off, if ever had any chance of being on. It never did get much beyond informal discussions and suggestions of tentative terms which, however, were rather wide apart. Any way, President R. E. Wood on behalf of Sears-Roebuck yesterday officially announced that "discussions that have recently been going on between the directors of Sears, Roebuck & Co. and Montgomery Ward & Co. looking to the possibility of a merger of the two companies have been definitely terminated, as the parties have been unable to agree on terms."

Understanding on Terms.

It has been understood in La Salle street that the tentative conversations were originally based on an offer by the Sears-Roebuck group of one share of Sears for three shares of Ward, while the Montgomery Ward group wanted a one for two exchange. There has been considerable market speculation in New York in the shares of both companies, based on the theory that the conferees might go back to horse trading principles and "split the difference."

It was said yesterday that the Sears-Roebuck group was willing to make this concession, but that the Montgomery Ward group held to its original proposal.

SUSPEND BAHIA STOCK

Perhaps it requires considerable persuasion to sell new stocks to the public these days, but some kinds of "high pressure" salesmanship cannot be stomached by the recognized stock exchanges. So the New York and Chicago curb exchanges yesterday suspended trading in the shares of the Bahia corporation, which is engaged in the mining and marketing of carbon diamonds. It has a concession in Brazil.

While the exchange officials gave no reason for suspending Bahia stock, Arthur E. Bandler, president of the Bahia corporation, said it resulted from a western concern using certain methods in selling the stock which the exchanges could not approve. It was said elsewhere that this statement referred to Mathews & Co., a Chicago concern, which has been active in distributing Bahia stock. This firm has distributed stock of the May Radio and Television company, which also was suspended from the New York and Chicago curb exchanges.

The activities of Mathews & Co. have been under fire in various parts of the United States, with proceedings now pending before the Illinois securities department, requiring the company to show cause why its Illinois license should not be revoked.

Track Economy Is Talking Point for Electrification

BY SCRUTATOR.

What can be done to save the railroads is a question which is disturbing the minds of the nation's business leaders. The carriers now find themselves in a situation which has been described as being as perilous as that which put England on the brink of financial ruin.

Various causes are given for the plight of the roads—growth of new competitive forms of transportation such as trucks, pipe lines, buses, and airplanes; failure on the part of executives to move with the times, enforcement of seniority rules which prevents the injection of new blood into the managements, etc.

Sundry panaceas have been suggested. The roads themselves are seeking a fifteen per cent increase in freight rates and the wisdom of this is debated. Many authorities contend that the increase would drive away enough business to offset it. THE TRIBUNE has offered a consolidation plan designed to eliminate the huge waste due to unnecessary duplication of services.

Hope for the Future.

Herewith is a suggestion in which electrification, within certain limitations, is offered as presenting a real hope for the future for some of the roads:

It is hardly necessary to expound on the many advantages of electrification. The railroads say they cannot afford to undertake this improvement and it is true that their treasuries are depleted. Their business has been falling off and they must find ways to get it back. This can be accomplished through making their services more attractive and efficient.

The efficiency of the steam locomotive has been increased so greatly in the past ten years that the roads will not now find the great operating saving through the use of the electric locomotive such as would have been the case fifteen or twenty years ago. The true cost of running a train is not on a basis of per ton mile, but per hour operation.

The power of a steam locomotive is limited to the size of the boiler carried on the back of the engine. The power of an electric locomotive is limited to the capacity of boilers in a distant plant. And the electric locomotive has the ability to use for a short time a volume of power much greater than its normal capacity—a volume that would burn it out if applied very long

Best Able to Use Power.

It is the ability to use this vast reservoir of power that gives the electric locomotive the edge over the steam one. The power of a locomotive to overcome the inertia of a dead load to start a train in motion is one of the major items in its efficiency. Possession of the greater initial power, even if this force is only used momentarily, gives the electric locomotive the ability, generally speaking, to pull a longer train than the steam one since the former has the greater strength in putting a train in motion. Very likely the pulling efficiency of the two locomotives may be the same once the train is in motion.

Further, the electric locomotive, due to its ability to call on a huge reservoir of power, is more efficient when short grades are encountered than is its steam rival.

Now, it is not cars that block tracks and cause delays, but trains. And delays are costly, with crews paid on an hourly basis and equipment held out of service.

If thirty per cent is added to the capacity of a train, for example, thirty per cent is added to the capacity of the track. So with the track being used efficiently, with trains rolling regularly and with no delay, the saving in operating costs through reduced expenses for train crews will be considerable.

Involve Huge Outlays.

Installation of tracks and their maintenance involve huge outlays of capital. So roads having need of greater track capacity, as undoubtedly they will in the future if not now, would do well to study electrification as a means of saving in this direction. Electrification means economy of trackage.

While the bulk of the operating revenue of railroads is of course derived from the freight service, still the passenger services draw the attention of the public to the roads and in that way help to influence more profitable business in their direction. Lack of space forbids at this time further discussion of the merits of electrification, but the one phase of track economy is commended to the consideration of the roads.

EMPLOYMENT IS STEPPED UP IN RAILWAY SHOPS

At Aurora, the shops of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, which had been shut down for two weeks, reopened. The opening returned 700 men to employment.

Officials questioned about the reopening said that there was plenty of work for the 700 men. The work, they added, was sufficient to keep all departments busy indefinitely on a full schedule. A full schedule day is eight hours of work.

Coincident with the Burlington announcement officials of the New York Central railroad in New York asserted that the West Albany shops of the system in New York state would reopen on Sept. 8. This means that 1,700 men will go back to their jobs. The shops in West Albany have been virtually closed since Aug. 14. There is considerable locomotive repairing to be done, the announcement explained.

Southern Natural Gas Reports $1,749,887 Gross

Southern Natural Gas corporation reports that its gross revenues totaled $1,749,887 for the seven months ended July 31, 1931. Operating expenses, maintenance and taxes, other than federal income tax, amounted to $803,030, leaving income of $946,856 available for interest and other charges. This sum compares with seven months' interest requirements of $621,145 on the $17,747,000 principal amount of the corporation's first mortgage 6 per cent sinking fund gold bonds outstanding on July 31, 1931.

BANK CLEARINGS FOR WEEK SHOW 15.8 PCT. DECLINE

Bank clearings as reported to Bradstreet's show a somewhat severe decline from the preceding week, due mostly to a smaller business in the various stock exchanges. The reports to Bradstreet's also show the effect of the numerous bank failures reported recently.

The total bank clearings at forty-seven leading cities of the United States for the week ending Thursday, Aug. 27, according to Bradstreet's, amounted to $5,804,644,000, a decline of 15.8 per cent below the preceding week and 22.8 per cent from the like week a year ago. At New York City the decline from the previous week was 19.2 per cent and 24.1 per cent from a year ago. Outside of New York City the total clearings were $2,184,683,000, or 9.5 per cent below last week.

Report Russian Harvest Is Now Well Under Way

Commissioner Steere at Berlin reports to the United States department of agriculture that 65 per cent of the grain acreage of Russia was harvested on Aug. 10. Weather conditions were unfavorable during harvest with too much rain in northern territory during the early days and excessive rain in the southern Volga valley the second week in August. Indications are that a large share of the grain lay in the fields after cutting with considerable loss from weather and poor handling. "The crop is undoubtedly much below last year, and the present export offerings are made possible by good crops in the Ukraine district," says Mr. Steere.

BRAZIL ANNOUNCES MORATORIUM ON ITS SINKING FUND DEBTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 31.—A moratorium on sinking fund payments on all Brazilian government external bonds with the exception of the coffee loan of 1922 and the sterling funding loans of 1898 and 1914 has been declared by the government. This was announced today.

Contrary to first reports from Brazil, interest has not been suspended and bankers here have on hand the necessary funds for payments due Oct. 1 and 15, the only interest dates on Brazilian dollar loans until next January.

Sinking fund requirements will be deposited in milreis on Brazil pending relief of the pressure on foreign exchange.

Brazil's action brings to a total of four the numbers of South American countries whose debt service has been impaired in the last year. Bolivia, Peru and Chile have defaulted not only on sinking fund but also on interest payments.

Brazilian bonds outstanding here amount to approximately $152,800,000. Its British loans aggregate over £104,117,162 and French loans 331,700,000 gold francs.

The dollar loans include $33,796,000 8s of 1921, due 1941; $18,298,000 7s of 1922, due 1952, and $56,900,000 6½ of 1926, due 1957.

Two Rail Certificates Stricken from N. Y. List

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 31.—Certificates of deposit for preferred stock of Great Northern railway and for capital stock of Northern Pacific railway today were stricken from the list on the New York Stock exchange. In July last year the certificates and the stock were made good for delivery interchangeably on sales of the two securities. With the abandonment of the merger plan for the two Northerns the companies began the exchange of their shares for the certificates. Most of the certificates now have been turned in and in order to complete the return of the shares to shareholders it was decided to remove the certificates from the trading list.

Heavy Outgo, Lesser Income, Runs Up Treasury Deficit

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 31.—Disclosure today that the government probably will need all of the one billion one hundred million dollars to be derived from securities placed on the market yesterday to retire maturing obligations and finance treasury operations during the next quarter made it apparent that the deficit at the end of the year will far exceed that for the last twelve months.

In some quarters it is predicted that the deficit, taking into consideration the fact that there will be no war debt payments this year, will run above a billion and a quarter. The public debt during the course of the year, if no move is made to increase receipts, may be increased as much as a billion dollars. The current financing will boost the sixteen billion dollar mark.

Accounts for Shortage.

Continuing high expenditures coupled with dwindling income tax returns both from individuals and corporations is responsible for the government's shortage in cash to run the wheels of government. Expenditures, at the rate they are now going, will again run above the four billion dollar mark. While customs taxes may show some increases, income taxes are due to run perhaps as much as four hundred million below last year.

Treasury officials said today that early reports indicated that the bond and treasury certificate offering of yesterday will be oversubscribed.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon would not comment today on the question of whether the administration would or would not suggest a tax raise as a step toward balancing future budgets. He stated that the whole tax question had not been gone into thoroughly by his department.

While for several weeks it has been apparent that the administration opposed any tax increase which would affect taxes paid next March, there has been speculation regarding whether steps would be taken to provide additional revenues for the next year. Studies made by the treasury have indicated that only an exceptional business upturn would make it possible to balance the budget for years to come.

May Be Used for Argument.

All indications are that the big bond offering of yesterday will be seized upon by certain elements in congress as an argument for increasing taxes at the coming session of congress.

Treasury officials would think several times, however, before submitting any sort of a tax increase proposal to the congress which will convene in December. Both the house and senate will be so evenly divided that it would be impossible to predict the type of tax bill which finally would emerge after weeks of debate. Most administration officials have favored meeting the deficit by adding to the public debt.

The treasury today defended its action in offering long term bonds in the face of criticism that the government's financing could have been done more cheaply by the purchase of short term securities. It was pointed out that the government must maintain much of its securities in long term obligations, otherwise it might run into a period of high interest rates at a time when it had to sell securities.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York Aug. 31.—The stock market sagged of its own weight today and prices were depressed from one to four points. Trading was as uninteresting as any time this year, and there was little news to influence the trend. A few stocks attracted attention by moving a point or so in either direction on specific news or rumors, but the general run of issues was indolent and listless.

The biggest week-end financial development—the treasury's September financing—failed to produce a unanimous opinion in Wall street. Some financiers felt it was a step toward avoiding an increase in taxes, while others believed it was merely a case of postponing the inevitable. Realizing sales were blamed for the market's failure to carry on last week's recovery.

Mail Order Shares Ease.

A few stocks relieved the general monotony of today's share market. Montgomery Ward and Sears-Roebuck lost ground on what were said to be official statements that the off-again-on-again merger negotiations had been definitely abandoned. Alaska Juneau's gyrations, as the result of pool operations, ended with a net loss of 1⅜ points after the stock had pushed forward to 17. Purity Baking burst into the public gaze by dropping 3¼ points, reaching a point where its yield now stands at the suspiciously high notch of 14 per cent.

Beechnut Package and Endicott Johnson offered relief from the long list of minus signs. Each advanced one point and a fraction on a fair turnover.

Only a Few Show Activity.

Only about a dozen stocks showed any activity, and the rule among these was one of decline. United States Steel, American Can, American Telephone, General Electric, Consolidated Gas and other favorites declined one point or more, while volatile specialties, such as Case, Eastman Kodak and Worthington Pump suffered losses of two points or more.

Virtually no group was exempt, even the oils and coppers eased off fractionally, although pressure was

BANDITS ROB FAMILY OF FIVE

Two robbers held a family of five captive for five hours at 8 Prairie av. early yesterday and escaped with $2,500 in jewelry after a young man, sixth of the family, had retrned home and tried to subdue the pair.

The victims are Mrs. Emily 60; her daughter, Lillian, and her husband, John and their children, Edna, 16; and Eleanor, 14. The bandits sat down and calmly smoked while awaiting Edward son of Mrs. Emily When he returned at 3 a. m. from his cafe, they ordered him to throw up his hands. He grabbe one of the men's guns and threw him on the floor.

Today's robbers fear nothing!

The old-fashioned burglar prowled largely at night, avoided lighted houses and was easily frightened away. But today's robber is far more daring! He plies his trade at any hour and doesn't hesitate to enter an occupied home no matter how large the family.

You can't, of course, protect yourself from a visit by burglars, for they laugh at locks, dogs and alarms. But you can guard completely against loss of money by asking your agent or broker for Continental Residence Burglary Insurance. The peace of mind which comes from knowing that you will be immediately reimbursed for anything stolen is worth many, many times the small cost of the policy.

Producers of hogs reversed the trend of the market yesterday by holding supplies down to a minimum. Only 28,000 arrived at Chicago, the smallest for the last Monday in August since 1920. It was necessary to go back to December, 1928, to find another Monday total so small. Eleven leading markets handled 23 per cent fewer hogs than a week ago yesterday and more outside orders found their way here. Shippers bought 25 per cent of total arrivals, against 19 per cent a week ago, but are meeting with more competition from both large and small local houses.

Uneven gains of 10@30c were scored in comparing with the extreme close Saturday, but prices were no better than at the high point of last Friday's market. In spite of the smaller number of light lights and underweights in offerings, demand for anything weighing 170 lbs and lighter continues narrow. The extreme top at $6.80, paid for 190@220 lb averages stood only 10c under the high point of last week. The general average moved up 15c at $5.80, the highest in almost two weeks. The narrowing price range was a feature of the trade.

December Offers at $5.50.

It was possible to buy hogs averaging 210@260 lbs for next December delivery at $5.50 on the futures market yesterday, but $5.10 was the highest bid posted at the close. Butchers averaging 210@210 lbs, which are usually scarce during September, were bid $6.50 but no offers to sell were made. Lighter weights averaging 170@210 lbs, however, were offered at $7.50 for delivery during the last half of September.

Cattle feeders dumped 23,000 head on the market yesterday, the second largest supply of the year. The market, which had not recovered from the jolt it took late last week, weakened rapidly and buyers brought in all the pressure they could to cut initial costs before the country curtailed the movement.

Cattle feeders are being advised against heavy loading on a declining market and the trade hopes for a marked let up in offerings of choice grades of native beef steers. The movement of western range cattle has reached full swing and range stock makes up a bigger share of arrivals. Ten dollars was paid sparingly for best yearlings today, although one shipment of 998 lb averages topped the list at $10.15. Good sows and heifers were steady, while the larger share of "grassy" kinds from range territory changed hands slowly at weaker prices. Calves ruled weak to 25c lower. There was a good demand for stockers and feeders at steady prices.

Sheep Receipts Increase.

Receipts of both native and western range lambs increased yesterday, the aggregate supply at seven leading points showing a 30 per cent gain, compared with the previous Monday. Prices broke 25@50c under the pressure of the larger supply and closing sales showed even more loss, considering quality and heavier sorting.

Only a few selections to city butchers reached the $8.00 line, the bulk of "tops" going to larger interests at $7.50@7.75. Matured stock arrived in larger numbers and further demoralized the market for mutton stock. Yearlings slumped 25c in sympathy with the break in fat lambs. A big crowd of country buyers were on hand looking for desirable feeding stock and sales at $5.50@5.75 were made frequently throughout the day.

News and Gossip of Stock Marts

Rumor Starts Flurry.

Apparently it does not take much in the way of a rumor to cause a flurry in stocks having a vain market. This was the case with A. O. Smith, which ran up more than 12 points in a single session late last week, following rumors that the corporation might be acquired by U. S. Rad. The only basis for these rumors was a news dispatch which said that Myron C. Taylor, chairman of the steel corporation's finance committee, had been seen in Milwaukee with the head of the A. O. Smith company. In the absence of any offerings above the market, A. O. Smith scored a heavy advance on a turnover of less than 200 shares.

Holds Public Interest.

There has been only a minimum of public interest in Irving Air Chute for some time. Although the stock has generally reflected developments of a favorable nature to the airplane industry, it has of late been very much neglected. The company's statement for the six months ended June 30, 1931, showed net income of $115,898, equivalent to 54 cents a common share. The corporation earned 20 cents in the June quarter and 34 cents in the March quarter. Dividend requirements for the half year were covered by a slight margin. Current assets on June 30, last, were $739,000, including $413,000 in cash and $15,000 in marketable securities. Current liabilities were $73,000, leaving net working capital of $666,000.

Offers Good Resistance.

Envelope Upswing.

Standard Oil of Kentucky is changing hands around the best levels for the rallying movement. After a long period of absence from the tape, during which time the stock appeared on only rare occasions, it recently developed a decided upswing which attracted scattered outside demand. Sentiment has been favorably affected by the news that directors had just declared the regular quarterly dividend of 40 cents a share, payable Sept. 30, to stock of record Sept. 15.

Issue Equal Popularity.

Niagara Hudson Power and American Superpower are both selling for approximately the same amount of money, and both command about equal popularity in their price class.

NEARBY WHEAT DECLINES TO 45C ON LONG SELLING

Bullish Reports Received on European Crops.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Liquidation by scattered longs in September wheat who were evening up ahead of delivery day yesterday carried all futures off to a new low for the season. The nearby future dropped 1¾c to 45c, and equaled the inside figure at which the cash grain sold in October, 1852. December was 49c at the low, but buying against bids and on resting orders brought about a moderate rally toward the last and the finish was ⅝@1⅝c lower, with September 45⅝@45¾c; December, 49¾@49¾c, and May, 54⅝@54¼c.

The greater part of the business in wheat futures during the day was in changing and spreading operations, commission houses selling September and buying the deferred futures, while cash interests did the reverse, the latter changing over hedges. There was buying and selling here against spreading operations with Winnipeg, but the selling predominated, and that market closed ⅞@1¼c lower, with October at 53⅛c. Liverpool lost ⅞@1⅛d for the day, with October at 54¾c. Cables from Liverpool mentioned farm board offers of hard winter, and also claimed that the demand for all kinds of cash wheat was slow.

Await Further Developments.

There were further bullish crop comments on the European wheat yield, with a lowering in estimates on the French and German crops by the department of agriculture, and a cable to the latter from Commissioner Steere at Berlin indicated that much smaller crop would be much under last year. However, the reports did not have the slightest effect on the market, although serving to increase to some extent the belief that ultimately higher prices might be witnessed. According to those in close touch with the trade the bullish sentiment has not crystalized as yet, and the average operator is disposed to await further developments, indicating that this belief is correct before taking a decided stand on the buying side.

In the meantime there is a pronounced surplus of wheat available for European importers, and the American visible supply increased 3,579,000 bu the past week, raising the total to a new record of 234,907,000 bu compared with 187,505,000 bu last year. An official German estimate made the wheat crop 167,000,000 bu against 139,000,000 bu last year, and expressed the belief that Germany would be an exporter of grain within two years. On the other hand a Hamburg newspaper estimated there had been 10,000,000 bu lost as the result of the excessive rains and 7,000,000 bu more were unmerchantable. Export sales in all positions for the day were estimated at 300,000 bu, mainly Manitobas.

September Corn Erratic.

September corn fluctuated in an erratic manner within a range of 2⅛c, advancing early on short covering, only to weaken later, and then rally again toward the last and close ¼c lower for the day at 42⅜@42½c. Speculation as to how much grain would be delivered on September contracts the following day was the dominating influence, and estimates as to the amount likely to be put out ranged from 1,000,000 to 3,000,000 bu, although the figures were regarded as largely guess work, as the corn is owned largely by a local professional.

New crop corn months were affected to some extent by the action of the September, but held within a range of 1⅜@1¾c and closed ⅛c higher to ⅛c lower with December 39¼@39⅝c and May, 44c. Country offerings of old corn to arrive were larger, with purchases of 41,000 bu, while shipping sales were 53,000 bu. The basis in the sample market were generally ¼@¾c higher. An increase of 191,000 bu in the visible supply made the total 8,846,000 bu against 3,940,000 bu last year.

Cash interests bought September oats and sold the deferred deliveries and commission houses did the reverse. Final sales were ⅛@⅝c lower, with September, 21⅛@21¼c; December, 23⅝@23¾c, and May, 25¼c. Rye finished ⅝@¾c lower with scattered liquidation in the September. The latter closed at 33c, with December, 36¼ and May 40¼.

HEAVY SELLING OF LARD

Selling of a commission house line of 2,000,000 lbs of September lard shortly before the close carried prices down 35c. The lard went into the hands of packers. Distant months were not so weak, although October lost 30c and the more deferred deliveries lost 10@17½c, the latter on January. Liverpool lard was 6d lower to unchanged. Trade in bellies was small and prices unchanged.
